COURT PACKING BACKERS CALLED LAW VIOLATORS

Propaganda Spread with U. S. Funds.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 8.—[Special.]—A charge that high officials of the Roosevelt administration are violating a provision of the criminal code through dissemination of propaganda in support of the President's plan to pack the Supreme court was made on the senate floor today by Senator Bennett C. Clark [D., Mo.].

Senator Clark.

While Senator Clark mentioned no names, it was learned that he had reference to the activities of Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator; Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, the chief law enforcement officer of the United States; Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, and Postmaster General James A. Farley.

"Crack Down" on Bailey.

Hopkins and Cummings have been making radio speeches in support of the President's plan, and Ickes and Farley plan this week to invade North Carolina in an effort to "crack down" on Senator Josiah W. Bailey of that state, a vehement foe of the court packing scheme.

Senator Clark read from section 201 of the criminal code, which makes it a misdemeanor, punishable by a $500 fine and imprisonment for one year, for any officer or employé of the United States to use any part of any appropriation made by congress, directly, or indirectly, "to pay for any personal service, advertisment, telegram, telephone, letter, printed or written matter, or other device intended or designed to influence in any manner a member of congress to favor or oppose by vote or otherwise any legislation or appropriation."

Language Is Plain.

"In view of some of the propaganda which already has taken place on the part of high officials of the government, that section should be brought to their attention," Senator Clark declared. "The language is plainly all inclusive."

All radio speeches made by New Dealers in support of the President's program are mimeographed and distributed at government expense, in clear violation of the section of the criminal code as interpreted by Senator Clark.

Presumably the provisions of the statute also would apply to President Roosevelt's radio speeches, which are mimeographed and distributed by the White House with the facilities paid for out of the appropriation for the executive office.

Roosevelt to Go on Air.

Mr. Roosevelt will go on the air tomorrow night with another defense of his plan to add a maximum of six new members to the Supreme court.

An official White House announcement this evening said the President would discuss: "The need for legislation now, the difficulty of the constitutional amendment process, an independent judiciary, and the need for reinvigorating the federal courts from top to bottom to enforce the constitution as written and not write into it political and economic policies which are essentially legislative powers and not judicial."

While administration leaders marked time today awaiting Mr. Roosevelt's speech in the hope that it will elicit a more favorable public reaction to the scheme to pack the court, the senate opposition leaders planned a vigorous campaign in which they will go to the country and reply to the President.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler will lead off the opposition's reply with an address at Chicago Wednesday night. Saturday night Senators Edward R. Burke [Dem., Neb.], Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.], and David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.] will answer the President at a meeting in Carnegie hall, New York, while Senator Clark will address a massmeeting in Kansas City the same night.

Senator Clark, it is understood, will

HUDSON TIED UP IN NEW DRIVE BY C. I. O. UNION

Sole Bargaining Is Snag in Strike.

Detroit, Mich., March 8.—[Special.]—More than 70,000 workmen were thrown into idleness tonight by sudden strikes called by the United Automobile Workers of America which paralyzed the huge Chrysler Motor corporation, one of the automotive industry's "big three," and the Hudson Motor Car company.

B. E. Hutchinson.
Chairman of Chrysler finance committee.]

The unexpected strikes were called in all major units of the vast Chrysler company in Detroit this afternoon shortly after the company formally rejected the demand of the U. A. W. A., wheelhorse of John L. Lewis' mass unionization campaign, for recognition as the sole collective bargaining agency for all of the corporation's employés.

Within two hours of the rejection, union members had started their sitdown and halted production in most of the Chrysler, Dodge, Plymouth, and De Soto plants in the Detroit area, throwing about 50,000 of Chrysler's 67,000 employés out of work.

Closing Outside Detroit.

The strike spread tonight to the big Highland Park Chrysler plant, which employes 4,000 persons and houses the corporation's main office. The Chrysler plant at New Castle, Ind., where 4,500 work, was closed on orders of company officials because it is dependent on production in Detroit.

Other Chrysler plants located outside of Detroit were expected to be affected similarly. These are at Evansville, Ind., Marysville, Mich., Helena, Ark., Los Angeles, and Windsor, Ontario.

The company has nine plants located in the Detroit area, where approximately 59,000 of its total number of employés work. The only plant still operating in this area tonight was the Amplex [marine engine] division.

The effects of the strike quickly spread to other companies in the industry, but not affiliated with Chrysler.

Two Briggs Plants Down.

The Mack avenue plant and the part of the Meldrum avenue plant of the Briggs Manufacturing company, auto body makers, were shut down, throwing 4,500 men out of work.

The City Auto Stamping company at Todelo, O., laid off 1,300 workers tonight in departments that make stampings for Dodge trucks.

The sudden wave of strikes that flared during the day in the automotive industry included walkouts that were quickly settled at four Chevrolet plants and Fisher Body No. 1 plant in Flint, Mich. At Packard there was a "demonstration strike" that ended with threats of a real one if the company refused to confer with some 65 engineers in the body departments, who demand recognition and adherence to the wage scale of the Society of Designing Engineers.

Refuse Sole Bargaining.

B. E. Hutchinson, vice president and chairman of Chrysler's finance committee, said the real purpose of the demand for exclusive bargaining recognition is "actually to force all our employés to go with the union or go out of our employ."

He declared the corporation had bargained collectively with the U. A. W. A. ever since it was organized but said the management could not grant the union recognition to represent employés not among its members.

Many of the strikers remained in the plants and indicated their intention of retaining possession of the property until their union's demands are met. Strike leaders said the food

CALCUTTA GETS NEWS IN COLOR AND SOUND FROM ELECTRIC 'PAPER'

Washington, D. C., March 8.—[Special.]—A so-called "electric newspaper" which covers 64 by 13 feet, is worked by five electric motors, has a speed of 470,000 make and break contacts a minute, and can employ as many as 300 color combinations, just has been introduced at Calcutta, India, and is observed by more than 50,000 persons daily, the department of commerce reported today.

The advertising device is a sign, according to reports from American Trade Commissioner George C. Howard, which flashes news bulletins and accompanies its news program with radio and phonographic interpretations.

Its important feature was said to be its ability to combine light, color, and movement in an effective news presentation.

Talk Pay Boost for Phone and Packing Men

The large meat packing companies here and the Illinois Bell Telephone company were engaged yesterday in negotiations which are a prelude to wholesale wage increases affecting about 120,000 employés. All these conferences are being conducted with representatives of so-called company unions.

Telephone company officials announced that pay adjustments already approved will add more than $2,000,000 annually to the concern's 1936 pay roll of $35,653,944. These pay increases will benefit 20,000 of the company's 22,840 employés in the plant, trafic, accounting, and commercial divisions.

The officials said negotiations have been carried on since Jan. 1. All wage increases, they said, wil be in addition to regular salary progressions. With increases granted in August, 1936, when the company established a forty hour week, virtually all workers will be getting more than they did at the peak of the company's business in 1930.

Expect Packing Wage Boost.

News was less definite from the packing conferences. Officials of the packing companies—Armour, Swift, Wilson, and Cudahy—who are acting in concert although conducting separate negotiations, insisted that no decision on the pay demands has been reached.

It was reported, however, that the companies are preparing to announce wage boosts for all employés on an hourly or piece work basis within the next few days.

Stockyards gossip was that the big packers are preparing to increase wages at this time as a move to forestall any attempt by John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization to unionize the packing industry. It is said the packers have observed the C. I. O.'s operations in the automobile industry and prefer to make long range preparations.

No Move from C. I. O. Yet.

There has, as yet, been no active move to send C. I. O. organizers into the packing plants because the committee's energies have been absorbed in the automobile and steel industries. Definite glances have been cast in that direction, however.

The negotiations with the packers have been carried on for more than a month. The employé representatives were chosen by the "plant assembly plan" or the "plant conference boards" which are company organizations. Packing employés who are members of unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor also will benefit from any general increases.

The forthcoming wage boosts—if and when forthcoming—will represent the second substantial pay increase granted by the packers in the last four months. An increase of approximately 7 per cent in the pay of employés on hourly or piece work pay rolls was granted last Oct. 28.

Both the packing company and the telephone company negotiators denied emphatically that strike threats had been used by any of the employé representatives.

JAP BRIDE TO REVERSE CUSTOM; PLANS TO GIVE PEOPLE 1,500,000 FANS

KYOTO, Japan, March 8.—(AP)—Miss Yoshiko Tokudaiji reversed the usual custom of presents for the bride and planned today to distribute 1,500,000 classical Japanese fans as her wedding present to the people of Kyoto.

Printed on the fans will be a 17 syllable Japanese poem written by the bride-elect, who on April 19 will marry Count Kocho Otani, hereditary abbot of 13,000,000 Buddhists.

The young abbot will distribute 1,500,000 yen [$427,500] among the poor.

30 DAY DIVORCE LAW SOUGHT TO AID RENO TRADE

Carson City, Nev., March 8.—[Special.]—Assemblyman Julian Thurston of Las Vegas today introduced an amendment to the Nevada divorce statutes reducing the residence requirements to thirty days.

The bill is designed to meet threatened competition in divorce business from Idaho, which recently passed a six week divorce measure.

Conservative members of the bar are not strongly in favor of a thirty day residence measure. They feel that Nevada's divorce business is backed by dozens of Supreme court decisions on cases which have been attacked, and that eastern attorneys who are accustomed to sending cases to this state will continue to do so, in view of the fact they know just what they can expect from Nevada courts, while those of other states which have reduced residence requirements have not had any test cases.

Midwest Feels Rare Temblor; Center in Ohio

Chicago and scores of cities in the Great Lakes and Ohio valley states and in neighboring sections of Canada were shaken by an earthquake shortly before midnight last night. The disturbance was felt in all parts of Chicago from the far south side to Rogers Park and Evanston, and from near the loop to Austin on the west side.

Except for frazzled nerves and a few broken dishes there was no damage; an early survey showed nobody hurt. The shock first registered here at about 11:47. It lasted fully thirty seconds. Within a few minutes newspaper offices were swamped with telephone calls.

Building Sways; Picture Falls.

"The building I live in swayed for several seconds," said Paul Klein, 417 Barry avenue. "I was sitting in a heavy chair and it moved up and down like a rocker. One of our pictures fell from the wall."

Seven states—Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan, Kentucky, Ohio, and West Virginia—and the province of Ontario, Canada, felt last night's quake, the second in a week. On March 2 Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, West Virginia, and Kentucky were shaken, but not so severely. Last night's tremors originated in the same area as last week's, an old glacial region in northwest Ohio, according to the Rev. Joseph S. Joliet, S. J., head of the department of seismology at John Carroll university, Cleveland.

Shocks Last Eight Minutes.

"The tremors," said Father Joliet early today, "were of about the same magnitude as last week's, but perhaps a little greater in density. They lasted about eight minutes, as shown on the seismograph."

The Rev. Alphonse R. Schmitt, head of the physics department of Loyola university here, estimated the epicenter of the quake at about 75 miles from Chicago—nearer than last week's. Milton Swenson, junior meteorologist at the University of Chicago, said the seismograph there had also recorded the quake, but its direction had yet to be studied.

Ohio caught the full force of the disturbance, such as it was. Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Dayton, Toledo, and Lima were noticeably shaken. Large buildings in Cleveland and Columbus trembled as though with a strange ague.

"Two shocks and a distinct rumble" were reported at Dayton. At Ripley, O., the tremors almost "shook the city's switchboard down." Practically the entire population of Newark, O., was awakened. Chimneys fell at Anna.

Flood Ridden Louisville Hit.

Louisville, just over its flood tragedies, was roused and shaken by the tremors, particularly in the downtown district. Shocks were felt at Lexington and Frankfort.

From Indiana came general reports of the tremors. Buildings shook in Indianapolis, also in Marion, Fort Wayne, Evansville, and Lafayette. The tremors lasted 10 seconds in Indianapolis and 20 in Fort Wayne, the latter city reporting pictures shaken from walls and plaster cracking.

Michigan noticed the quake most in the Detroit area where large buildings "vibrated." Hundreds of persons were awakened. Ann Arbor and Adrian reported a general jarring. No property damage occurred.

Milwaukee Is Aroused.

Wisconsin and West Virginia both felt the shocks, but only lightly. Jolts were noticed in Milwaukee and scores of calls were made to police stations and newspaper offices. In Huntington, W. Va., the eastern extremity of the quake area, windows and furniture were jarred and desks quivered in the newsroom of the

No Mercy! Declares Determined Judge.

Joseph Schuster, a paroled gunman, who for six weeks has been the dramatic figure in a criminal prosecution for the murder of a policeman, because during all those six weeks he has repeatedly pleaded guilty, perhaps in a vague hope of escaping the electric chair, crashed into new and unexpected drama yesterday when he was summarily sentenced to death.

Schuster, in spite of swiftly approaching doom, seemed calm and even penitent. He faced Judge John J. Lupe quietly, and heard himself sentenced with as little interest as he had displayed when he shot down the father of four small children. Nobody was surprised by the sentence, not even Schuster. And when it was all over, he thanked the court.

Attempts 2d Murder; Fails.

The murder committed by Schuster was unusually wanton. On the night of Jan. 14 he shot and killed Policeman Arthur Sullivan on the steps of the Kedzie avenue station of the Douglas Park "L" line, after Sullivan had arrested him as a robber suspect on the complaint of a citizen. Schuster also tried to kill the citizen but his gun jammed. At the time of the shooting Schuster was a parole violator.

Arraigned in court after his arrest, Schuster tried to plead guilty, knowing that only the most careless jury would accord him leniency and that his best chance lay in a merciful judge.

Death sentences after pleas of guilty are not common in Chicago. Schuster pleaded guilty before Chief Justice M. L. McKinley who as a matter of routine refused to accept it until Schuster had received proper legal advice and sent the case to Judge Lupe. Again Schuster wanted to plead guilty. "I want to throw myself on the mercy of the court," he whined.

Warned of Death Penalty.

Judge Lupe warned him the death penalty might follow. Schuster persisted in the plea which, in the opinion of court observers, was the equivalent to asking for the chair in view of the judge's words.

Judge Lupe, who never before had imposed the death penalty, finally accepted the plea and heard evidence in the case. The hearing ended yesterday. Judge Lupe seemed worn. Strain showed in his face. The only testimony favorable to Schuster was that he was good to his mother. Schuster himself had sobbed he never had a chance.

At the conclusion of the testimony, Judge Lupe retired to his chambers to consider his judgment. As he stepped from the bench he sounded Schuster's doom.

"Not One Mitigating Fact."

Turning to the killer's lawyers, headed by Public Defender Ben Bachrach, the judge remarked in a tired voice:

"You have not given one mitigating circumstance to permit leniency."

Twenty minutes later Judge Lupe returned to the bench. He ordered Schuster brought out. Surrounded by deputies, Schuster was led into court from the bull pen. He cast a quick glance at his sister and stanchest friend, Mrs. Ruth Besserer, 2537 South Spaulding avenue, who had testified in his behalf. Then he stepped up to the bar. He looked at Judge Lupe; tears glistened in the judge's eyes. For a moment not a sound was heard in the courtroom.

"You have pleaded guilty," began Judge Lupe. "The court finds you guilty. Have you anything to say before sentence is pronounced?"

Prisoner Bows His Head.

"There's little to say—only that my trial has been just," replied Schuster quietly. He bowed his head slightly, his hands resting on the bar. Between the judge and the prisoner the latter seemed the less nervous.

"There is only one penalty to fit the crime you committed," said Judge Lupe slowly. "I have searched the record of this case for something on which to pin a bit of hope. You committed armed robberies before being sent to the penitentiary, and providence only prevented you from killing one or more of your victims. Then the state gave you a chance by paroling you a chance 5,000 other prisoners are begging for every day.

"You deliberately refused that chance. You went out with a gun again. You robbed while on parole, and then callously killed this policeman, who was but doing his duty—never giving him a chance."

"May God Have Mercy."

"This is not any easy duty for me to perform. But this court owes to society the stern performance of its duty. I must sentence you to death."

His face pale, Judge Lupe then read the formal death sentence, fixing the date of execution for April 16. He added the final line not always uttered—"and may God have mercy on your soul."

Not even this drama which wrote his doom shook the calm Schuster. He raised his head, attempted a nervous smile, and said: "Thank you, your honor." Then he walked steadily away between his guards while his sister wept softly.

Not until the prisoner had disappeared and the judge had left the bench was there a stir in the courtroom. Then a number of men and women gathered around one who had suffered much because of the murder, Mrs. Katherine Sullivan, widow of the slain policeman. The judgment was just, she said, and satisfactory to her.

Tells His Life Story.

The last hours of the hearing preceding the sentence were devoted to the testimony of Schuster and his sister and the pleas of the prosecution and the defense. Schuster told his life history. He was born in Poland, and brought here in infancy. He had two years of high school. He is now 30 years of age, and began his crime career at 20. In 1927 he went to Pontiac on four charges of robbery. In one of those robberies he had shot and wounded Policeman Frank R. Donahue, now retired. Donahue testified at yesterday's hearing. In 1934 Schuster was paroled to S. C. Moser, 2876 Cermak road.

"I didn't even know Moser," admitted Schuster. "My brother got him to sponsor me. I never worked for him, but he issued pay roll checks to make the parole board believe I did. Right after my parole, I tried hard to find work, but couldn't. For nearly three years I turned in false reports to the parole board."

Parole Story Amazes Judge.

Amazed at this testimony, Judge Lupe ordered that steps be taken to halt "such flagrant abuses of the parole system."

Schuster's sister, Mrs. Besserer, tried to picture him as a good boy at heart. Schuster, she said, "was always good to mother. He cooked meals and did all kinds of domestic work to help out." She admitted he had to leave home when another sister accused him of stealing $450 from the house—an accusation which Schuster denied.

The testimony ended, the lawyers made their final pleas. Assistant State's Attorney John Boyle called Schuster a "mad dog, armed with a gun, who thought it legitimate to kill a policeman in cold blood." Attorney Bachrach, asking for mercy, asserted that Schuster "never had a chance."

Sentence Gratifies Prosecution.

Judge Lupe's judgment in the case was well received in the prosecutor's office, where it was recalled that relatively few murderers have been given death sentences on guilty pleas.

The best remembered instance is that of Nathan Leopold and the late Richard Loeb, who were sent to prison in 1924 for the admitted slaying of Bobby Franks. Among the recent exceptions was the case of "Iggy" Varecha, sentenced to the electric chair in 1933 by Judge John Prystalski. Granted a new trial by the Illinois Supreme court, he pleaded guilty again, this time receiving a 100 year sentence from Judge Benjamin P. Epstein.

Another recent exception was in the case of Charles Rocco and John Popescue, who died in the chair in 1931 on the sentence of Judge Philip J. Finnegan. The late Judge Harry B. Miller once sentenced two youths to death, and the late Judge Jacob Hopkins sentenced a Negro—all of these on guilty pleas.

CAB STRIKE SETS STAGE FOR LABOR CIVIL WAR HERE

A. F. L. Union Head Hits at 'Wildcat Walkout.'

There were indications last night that the strike of drivers of the Chicago Yellow Cab company and the Checker Taxi company may touch off another conflict between the American Federation of Labor and John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization.

The fourth day of the strike passed without any violence although six striking Checker drivers were arrested for pursuing a Yellow driver who was operating his cab. Several hundred Yellow cabs were in service in the downtown area and neighborhood business districts in contrast to the few cabs seen on Saturday and Sunday. There were few Checker cabs to be seen, however.

Battle Lines Drawn.

The battle lines for a clash between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. were being drawn as the strikers continued to organize in the newly formed Midwest Taxicab Drivers' union and appealed to the C. I. O. for support.

Last night Edward Reilly, president of local 727 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, to which 700 Checker drivers belong, declared that the new taxicab union is an "outlaw union." The teamster group is affiliated with the A. F. of L.

"The strike is a wildcat strike," Reilly said. "The Midwest drivers have no organization backing; they have no charter. If they expect to get anywhere, it can only be with the support of the American Federation of Labor."

Deny Sympathy Strike Plan.

Reilly told the Checker drivers they should negotiate any disputes with their employés through the teamsters' brotherhood. He will meet with representatives of the strikers again today. He denied reports that drivers of the Public Taxi service, which operates a fleet of fifty cabs on the north side, plan a sympathy strike. The Public drivers belong to the brotherhood.

Joseph M. Jacobs, who represents the striking drivers, was indignant last night over Reilly's designation of the Midwest union as an outlaw organization. Jacobs has denied that he is connected with unions affiliated with the C. I. O., but says he acts as attorney for any union that engages him.

"Some of the Checker drivers may belong to an A. F. of L. union," he said, "but they have the right under the law to select their bargaining agency. We have made no plans for national affiliation as yet, although some of the strike officials have contacted the C. I. O."

Waits Company Move.

After a meeting of the strike committees in the new union headquarters at 304 South Halsted street last night Jacobs declared there would be no further effort to resume negotiations with company officials. Jacobs said he was satisfied the new union has shown its strength, and the next move must come from the company. According to Jacobs, 4,700 of the 5,500 drivers of the two principal companies have signed up in the union.

These figures were denied by company officials, who are also playing a waiting game. Thomas B. Hogan, president of the Yellow Cab company, said more than 600 of the company's 2,800 drivers have returned to work "and groups of 20 or 30 more are coming back every hour." Michael M. Sokol, Checker president, said a few of his 2,700 drivers are working and more are expected back.

Police Detail Asked.

Sokol would not say whether his company plans to operate extensively today. Police, however, were asked to send a special detail to the Checker headquarters at 1401 Jackson boulevard, presumably to guard against violence if the Checker sends out a fleet of cabs.

Hogan said he is dealing with individual drivers and will not conduct collective bargaining with "outsiders." He said the men returning to work did so on their old commission basis and received no concessions. The demands of the new union are for increased commissions, furnishing of gasoline, oil, and servicing by the companies, and a closed shop.

Hogan indicated there could be no raise in commissions for drivers unless there is an increase in taxicab rates, and he said "the public won't stand for that." Hogan and other company officials apparently believed the drivers will have difficulty in organizing an effective union and that the strike will dissipate within a few days as the men realize they are losing money.

Strikers Cheer Jacobs.

This was not the attitude of more than 2,000 of the drivers, who attended an overflow pep meeting at Atlas hall, 1440 Cortez street, during the afternoon. They cheered Jacobs. Another large massmeeting has been called for 8 o'clock tomorrow evening at the Ashland auditorium, Ashland boulevard and Van Buren street.

Jacobs sent identical telegrams to Gov. Horner at Springfield and Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, at Washington, asking unemployment relief for needy strikers. The usual procedure for obtaining relief is by application through county and city agencies.

Jacobs also sent a telegram to Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin at Washington charging that strikers have been "slugged by hired sluggers, strike breakers and so-called company guards." The attorney asked a hearing before the La Follette congressional committee on civil rights.

Plans Appeal for Food.

A radio broadcast for food and other supplies for needy strikers will be made today or tomorrow and distribution will be made through a central commissary, Jacobs said.

Fourteen Chicago unions, referred to by Jacobs as the "progressive group" of the Chicago Federation of Labor pledged support to the striking drivers at a meeting at 180 West Washington street during the afternoon. Among the unions which promised to raise funds for the strikers were the Typographical union, the United Rubber Workers, the International Ladies Garment Workers and the Amalgamated Clothing Workers.

In some of the Yellow cabs operating yesterday, company guards rode with the drivers to protect them against any violence. In other cabs, ternational Ladies' Garment Workers, however, the drivers traveled alone. Eleven extra police squads patroled tthe downtown and adjacent districts to forestall any violence.

Six Are Arrested.

One of these squads arrested the six Checker strikers as they were pursuing the Yellow cab in Lake Shore drive near Division street.

The men held are Herbert Gillis, Benjamin Asher, Dave Daniels, Edward Shepherd, Joseph Montgomery, and Bernard Milstein. Twelve other drivers arrested over the week-end on disorderly conduct charges were arraigned yesterday before Judge Charles S. Dougherty in State street court. The cases were continued to March 20. The drivers are free on bonds. One of them, Fred Johnson, claims he was slugged.

Judge Thomas A. Green of the Municipal court announced last evening that he will call officials of the cab companies and representatives of the strikers before him this morning in an attempt to settle their differences.

QUAKE SHAKES CHICAGO AND ALL CENTRAL WEST

City Aroused by Rare Earth Temblor.

Herald-Dispatch. London and St. Thomas, Ont., Canada, reported minor tremors.

Several Illinois cities in addition to Chicago felt the quake. Among them was Hoopeston. Quakes are novelties in Chicago, the reason being that this city is built upon geologically old land which is settled and not subject to bad geological disturbances.

Windows and Lamps Shake.

"Everything vibrated in our house," said P. Raymond St. Clair, 1434 Jarvis avenue. "The windows rattled and the chandelier shook."

"The shock awakened our entire family," said M. E. Robinson Jr., 1638 West 107th street. "For a moment it was as though we were in a boat. The handles on the dresser rattled."

"Chairs moved and the lamp shades trembled," said Richard Dougherty, 5503 Flournoy street. "The windows in the house rattled."

SAN FRANCISCO ROCKED

San Francisco, Cal., March 8.—[Special.]—A sharp earthquake jarred San Francisco and numerous bay communities early today, causing minor damage, but great apprehension over its possible effect on two huge bay bridges.

Thousands of people on both sides of the bay were disturbed by the shocks which occurred over a period of four hours. The first was recorded on the University of California seismograph at Berkeley at 2:31 a. m., with three milder shocks being registered at periods up to 6:56 a. m.

Although no injuries were reported, chimneys were toppled, windows broken, and store goods tumbled from shelves in several east bay communities, including Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, Albany, and Richmond.

AMERICANS INJURED ON ITALIAN SHIP IN STORM RECOVERING

GENOA, Italy, March 8.—(AP)—The Italian line tonight officially announced the death of one member of the crew of the liner Rex in a storm near the Azores, during which two American passengers were seriously injured.

The statement placed at twenty the number of injured among passengers and crew when the vessel was struck by an enormous wave last Thursday.

[Other sources placed the number of injured at 70, and said fifteen other Americans were less seriously injured.]

The Italian line's statement made no mention of the death of a passenger, generally reported by tourists aboard the luxury liner and in maritime circles. All the injured Americans are recovering.

Storms Delay Arrivals.

New York, March 8.—(AP)—Seven trans-Atlantic liners inbound from Europe today were reported delayed for hours as a result of storms on the European side of the Atlantic. Included were the Queen Mary, the Samaria, the Ascania, the Ile de France, the Roma, the American Farmer and the American Importer.

MYRTLE TELLS 2 SECRETS ABOUT THAT FARO GAME

Myrtle Tanner Blacklidge told two secrets yesterday of the famous faro game in which Edward R. Litsinger's $50,000 was lost at Springfield in 1931: [1] She had gone there to put in the "fix" for a gambling casino the swindlers who got the money had told her they would help her open. [2] Litsinger wasn't the only fellow willing to lend her the $50,000; another Chicagoan first tried to get the money for her but the bank wouldn't let him have it in time.

Mrs. Blacklidge, who was United States collector of internal revenue at the time, made her revelations at the detective bureau when she identified Roy Browder, alias Burgess, as one of the men who played in the famous faro contest. It was believed, however, that Browder would be released, as no one showed any disposition to prosecute.

Mrs. Blacklidge said when she saw him: "That's the baby."

Judge Allegretti's Brother Beaten and Robbed of $350

John B. Allegretti, 48 years old, a brother of Judge Francis B. Allegretti of Superior court, was beaten on the head with a gun and robbed of $350 yesterday in his drug store at 3624 West Division street. The druggist was alone when a bandit came in, forced him into a washroom and robbed the till. Allegretti broke out, but was forced back into the room again. When he broke out a second time the bandit clubbed him and fled.

If people realized how delicate the mucous membranes of nasal passages really are there would be far less blowing—far less trying to drive accumulated mucus out by brute force.

There is a much gentler and more effective way to do this. If your nostrils are stopped up with mucus, just insert a little Mentholatum in them.

You'll be surprised at the gentle and quick way in which Mentholatum breaks up the accumulated mucus. You'll be delighted, too, as you notice how the stuffiness is relieved and you can breathe more freely again.

MODEL MAKERS TO SHOW TINIEST MOTORED PLANE

14 Ounce Gas Engine Ship in Week-End Exhibit.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

The smallest airplane in the world that flies on the power of an internal combustion motor, a dainty machine weighing only 14 ounces with enough fuel aboard for a 40 minute flight, will be displayed on Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the exhibition hall, Hotel Sherman. The ship is to be the feature of the show which the Central Gas Modelplane society will hold there on those days.

Motor Weighs 4 Ounces.

Daniel Calkins of Portland, O., built both the plane and its engine in his home workshop. The motor weighs only four ounces and is a single cylinder two-cycle type. It has a tiny spark plug, a float type carburetor, half an inch bore, stroke of 19 thirty-seconds of an inch, three piston rings, and two main bearings. It develops one thirty-second of a horse power at 3,500 revolutions, and flies 40 minutes on half an ounce of aviation gasoline.

Another of the 50 or more model airplanes on exhibit during the show will be a sister ship to a midget plane which on last Sept. 20 set a new world's record of one hour, 47 minutes continuous flight. The old record for gasoline engined models was 64 minutes. The record breaking ship, designed and owned by Reginald Denny, screen actor, crashed at the end of its flight near the Los Angeles airport.

United By a Hobby.

The model plane society is an unsponsored organization of more than 50 enthusiasts of all ages. In its ranks are airline pilots, doctors, lawyers, a jeweler, several carpenters, a number of university students, a meteorologist employed by an air transport line, and a dozen boys and girls of high school age. According to Pat Sweeney, president, the society is giving the show in order to acquaint the public with its activities.

The show will open with a parade of ten cars through the loop. Atop each car will be fastened a model plane with its miniature engine running. The parade will end at the hotel. There will be no admission charge for the show.

INCOME TAX HERE FLOWS IN FLOOD; 1936 IS DOUBLED

Income taxes are continuing to flow into the government till for this area at a rate nearly double that of last year, Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, reported yesterday. From Jan. 1 to last Saturday, inclusive, 60,480 taxpayers had paid in a total of $20,756,478 on their 1936 incomes. In the same period a year ago 59,600 individuals and corporations paid in only $10,865,933. Next Monday is the deadline for filing returns and for the first quarterly payment of 1936 income taxes.

Dentist Is Indicted in Killing of Schoolgirl, 18

Charlottesville, Va., March 8.—(AP)—Commonwealth's Attorney W. O. Fife announced this afternoon that an Albemarle county grand jury had indicted Dr. R. G. Miller, Charlottesville dentist, for the chloroform murder of Cleo Sprouse, 18 year old high school girl. Dr. Miller has been held in Henrico county jail, Richmond, on a warrant charging murder since his arrest last Wednesday, following the finding of the girl's body Tuesday.

Young Woman Weighs 498 Pounds; Unable to Move

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, March 8.—Pereyra Rosell, 20 year old hospital patient, has reached the phenomenal weight of 498 pounds. She is unable to move and the doctors are puzzled.

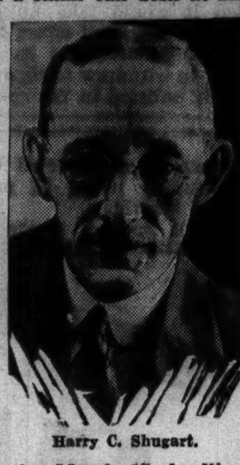
A TAX SOLOMON! HE KNOWS ALL THE ANSWERS

Deputy Collector Shugart's Phone Is Kept Hot.

BY MARCIA WINN.



Harry C. Shugart.

Harry C. Shugart, who cradles a telephone at a small oak desk at 111 West Jackson boulevard, is in the midst of what he calls a "drive." For Mr. Shugart, deputy collector of internal revenue, seems to be the only man in Chicago who knows all the answers to income tax questions.

With the approach of the March 15 deadline for filing income tax returns, Mr. Shugart, who is 63 years old, wiry and gray, with thinning hair and a toothbrush mustache, has become one of Chicago's busiest men. After 20 years of being a deputy collector, he sees all men and women merely as "taxpayers," and all children as "allowance deductions."

You Can't Outgrow It.

"What's the age limit for paying income tax?" some one asked him. "From one day old to the grave," he responded happily. And he can prove, to any one's satisfaction, how a child born on Dec. 31, 1936, might have to file [through a guardian] an income tax return for the year 1936.

Mr. Shugart's fans [and they are legion] would not dare question his statement. They would know he could prove it. For, as principal human encyclopedia of the Chicago office, he can solve any tax intricacy—and support it with a legal ruling.

An interview with this alert man must be sandwiched in between telephone calls. And Mr. Shugart, working without recourse to law book, tabular calculations, or tax service [case reports] disposes of each question.

A Doubting Thomas on the Line.

"Hello," he said, speaking into the telephone as a reporter approached. "Yes, sir, you have to file that green slip [the duplicate return]. If you don't, we make it up and send you a bill for $5. . . . Yes, sir, I know what I'm talking about. It's right in the law. Yes, sir, congress passed it. Yes, sir, I HAVE read it myself. You know what the Bible says, sir. If it were not so I would not tell you. . . .Yes, sir, I never give out anything I can't show you."

"Yes," he recalled, turning to the reporter. "I started out as a toolmaker and machinist. That's when I was 14, when I moved to Chicago from Pittsburgh.

"Hello," into the telephone again. "O, no, sir. You can't deduct for alimony. That's a penalty for agreeing to disagree!

Twenty Years of Study.

"And then in 1917," again to the reporter, "after I had been a cashier and bookkeeper for some time, I got an appointment as deputy collector and began studying the income tax law.

"Hello!" again into the telephone. "All right, how many shares did you get in the first place? Ten? Then they gave you 75? And now you have 85? Divide that into the cost of the original to get the cost of one share. How many years did you own those 10 shares? Eleven? Then you only report 30 per cent of the profit.

"And I've kept on studying for 20 years," he resumed, "and I'm still a deputy collector. All I do is give out information and teach the new deputies when they come in.

An Heir Is a Bit Worried.

"Hello?" again to the telephone. "All right. A large one or small one? Are you receiving that under the will? All right, what did the will say, were you to have it out of the income or out of the estate? Umm, the estate, and then the executor sold the estate and now the people are paying for it monthly. Well, the only taxable income would be if he sold it at a profit.

"I study practically every tax there is," resuming the interview, "and I've got all the rulings on the income tax law. I buy them myself. They cost me $37.50 a year. I've got a copy of every income tax law that's ever been published.

"Hello," again, "yes, sir, you have to file a partnership return whether you make or lose."

What the People Ask.

The largest income Mr. Shugart has had to deal with, over the telephone, was $300,000. The principal information seekers are secretaries, calling for their employers. The usual problem is the matter of earned income credit. The most difficult problem is one dealing with a trust or estate, as it requires the consultation of applicable rulings.

Few people, he said, try to evade income tax payment, but many try to avoid payment.

"You can avoid paying taxes lawfully," he explained, "but that isn't evasion. Avoiding taxes is the use of every point of the law which allows you a deduction. Smart people avoid, dishonest ones evade."

Right now, with the "drive" on, Mr. Shugart is pretty busy. He works from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. and then goes home to 4316 West 21st place and keeps on working—over the telephone. Many Chicagoans call him from year to year and year 'round.

Two-thirds of the queries, he said, could be answered by reading the instructions on the return blank.

NEW PROPELLER

An airplane with a propeller which has only one blade was flown to Curtiss-Reynolds airport yesterday by Lieut. Arthur Seger Pierce of the Taylor Aircraft company, Bradford, Pa. The new propeller is being given a service test flight of 2,200 miles by easy stages to the aircraft show in Los Angeles scheduled for March 13 to 21.

The new propeller, invented by W. W. Everts of Baltimore, has a counterbalance at the hub to offset vibration. The advantages of the single bladed propeller are many according to its inventor, who says it always moves in undisturbed air and improves takeoff, climb, and the all-around speed of a ship.

Acording to Pierce the top speed of the Cub monoplane he is flying is increased 25 per cent by the new propeller, the climb by 30 per cent, and the takeoff run by 50 per cent.

Prosecutor Believed Shot by 'Amateur' Gunman.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 8.—(AP)—A crude warning to "keep your eyes on the road to liberty," mailed to District Attorney Buron Fitts two hours before the prosecutor was shot and wounded from ambush, came to light today as investigators spurred a search for his "amateur" assailant.

From his hospital bed Fitts directed the investigation into the mysterious attack. He is under treatment for a flesh wound in his left forearm, suffered as he sat at the wheel of his automobile near his Duarte home last night.

Fitts said one of three or four men in a black sedan shot him from the right window of the automobile as it drew alongside his car.

Two Bullet Holes Left.

Two shots were fired, he said. There was a bullet hole in Fitts' windshield above his steering wheel and another in the top of his car on the right side.

Both Sherif Eugene Biscailuz and Chief Investigator Clyde Plummer of the district attorney's office expressed belief an amateur gunman did the shooting.

To the prosecutor's office came a letter today admonishing him to "keep your eyes on the road to liberty." The letter was printed with purple crayon and was postmarked in Los Angeles at 6 p. m. yesterday, two hours and 10 minutes before Fitts was shot. Tests of the letter did not reveal any fingerprints or other possible clews to identity of the writer.

Tells of Hearing Threat.

Officers sought a man who they said threatened recently to "get" Fitts. Plummer said a news vender told him one of three men talking in a café declared a few days ago, "I'll get Fitts if it is the last thing I do on this earth."

Chief of Police Charles Dice of Santa Monica reported he had warned Fitts to be careful because of a telephoned threat he [Dice] received yesterday in connection with the Douglas Aircraft factory strike.

Dice said the caller, a man, told him "it would be much better for you to lay off the Douglas plant strikers," and that he then telephoned Fitts of the call, because, he said, "many of the strikers blamed him personally for their indictments and arrests."

Rollnick Loses Freedom Fight in Highest Court

The United States Supreme court in Washington refused yesterday to review the affirmation by the Circuit Court of Appeals of the 3½ year prison sentence imposed by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley a year ago upon Leonard Rollnick, a Chicago broker. Rollnick was one of three defendants sentenced for using the mails in a scheme to defraud investors through the operation of bucket shops.

SHIP WITH WAR CARGO FROM U. S. SUNK OFF SPAIN

Set Afire by Shelling of Rebel Warship.

LONDON, March 8.—(AP)—The Spanish steamer Mar Cantabrico, loaded with planes and other war materials from the United States and Mexico, was bombarded and sunk in the Bay of Biscay off the northern coast of Spain today, the British admiralty was informed tonight.

The 6,632 ton freighter was shelled by the Spanish Fascist insurgent cruiser Canarias. Shells hit the Mar Cantabrico's port side midsection above the water line, wrecking the engines and setting the ship afire. The vessel sank slowly, bow first. The Canarias picked up Capt. Santa Maria, the crew of 40, and 22 passengers.

The report was transmitted by the destroyer Echo, which was one of four British warships sent to the aid of the stricken vessel when first reports were received by Lloyd's in London that an unidentified ship was "bombarded, burning, and sinking."

Call Sent by British Ship.

The first S O S was relayed by the British steamer Aba, in the African service of the Elder, Dempster Line, which led to fears that the Aba was the vessel in distress and caused the admiralty to order the destroyers Echo, Eclipse, Encounter, and Escapade from the station at St. Jean de Luz, France, to the scene of the attack, 90 miles north of Bilbao.

French fishing boats and tugs from Arcachon, near Bordeaux, also rushed to the scene. France sent a destroyer from Rochefort. Fishermen reported the burning vessel was camouflaged and its identity was hidden.

It was known insurgent warships were especially alert to intercept the Mar Cantabrico. She had been hanging off the Spanish coast for days looking for a chance to sneak past the insurgent warships.

Evaded Neutrality Law.

New York, March 8.—(AP)—The squat freighter Mar Cantabrico sped from the New York harbor Jan. 6 with a war cargo that all the might of the American government had been unable to keep on this side of the water.

She sailed with a $2,700,000 consignment of airplanes and other war material in the face of the expressed displeasure of President Roosevelt and while congress was desperately trying to amend neutrality statutes in time to keep her from taking out her cargo. Hardly an hour after she cleared Sandy Hook the house ratified senate embargo action, but it was too late to head off the Mar Cantabrico.

Robert Cuse, a New Jersey arms broker, was the owner of her cargo, which was so hurriedly loaded that not one of the eight planes she carried had been lashed down as she pushed out to sea. Cuse had been given reluctant permission by the state department to ship the stuff. The department explained it had not other alternative at that time.

Loading Second Ship.

MEXICO CITY, March 8.—(AP)—Despite the sinking of the Spanish munitions ship Mar Cantabrico today, another such vessel, the Motomar, was loading at Vera Cruz for an attempt to run the insurgent blockade.

The Mar Cantabrico carried 1,500 tons of cargo when she sailed from Vera Cruz Feb. 19, including an estimated 800 tons of war materials and the rest foodstuffs.

FASCISTS DRIVE ON MADRID FROM NEW DIRECTION

Battle for Guadalajara Road in Northeast.

MADRID, March 8.—(AP)—Gen. Francisco Franco hurled Fascist insurgent troops at upper Guadalajara defenses today in what was believed to be the opening phase of intense fighting for possession of Madrid.

After lengthy artillery preparation, tanks and infantry surged time and again against the line stretching from La Toba, west of the Guadalajara-Saragossa highway northeast of Madrid, to Abanades, farther east from that road. Government officers declared the attacks were repulsed with heavy losses.

The spearhead of the rebel offensive was directed at Almadrones, 65 miles northeast of Madrid and just west of the Saragossa highway. Insurgent airplanes aided the attacks by bombing trenches and machine gunning supply trains.

Menace to Capital.

The object of the attack in Almadrones apparenly was to drive southward through the town to the highway which traverses Guadalajara province; then strike at the city of Guadalajara, about 32 miles northeast of Madrid.

Should such a strategy succeed, the insurgents would move closer around Madrid on its northeast side than they have been at any time during the civil war.

The Guadalajara road potentially is a most vital outlet for Madrid, virtually its last link with the outside world if the insurgents cut the Valencia road southeast from the capital through the Jarama valley.

Defense commander Gen. José Miaja said the Almadrones attacks smacked of deception and proceeded to bolster his defenses closer to Madrid. Sharp eyes peered over parapets in the El Pardo and Jarama sectors looking for the main insurgent offensive. Reports persisted that the insurgents had brought up thousands of fresh troops which might be thrown into the fray at any moment.

El Pardo, ten miles northwest of the capital, commands an approach to the highway connecting Madrid with the Guadarrama mountain front and to pipe lines supplying Madrid with water.

Use Tanks Near Morata.

Government forces hurled a tank charge at insurgent lines near Morata de Tajuna, on the Jarama front, to silence a heavy cannonading in that sector. A dozen tanks, reports to the war office said, reached the insurgent front lines and their guns killed at least 200 insurgent troops.

Dispatches from Andujar in southern Spain near Cordoba, said insurgent and government forces clashed at a cross road near Pozo Blanco, where a stalemate existed after hours of fighting.

The reports said the government troops, operating in the enemy's rear, blew up a bridge on the Cordoba-Pennarroya railroad and forced the insurgents to rely entirely on trucks for bringing up supplies in the southern area.

Britain Seeks Rebel Trade.

LONDON, March 8.—(AP)—Representatives of the British Board of Trade, a government agency, now are in Burgos, Spanish insurgent capital of Spain, holding "informal discussions" on trade matters, including British investments in Spain, it was disclosed today in authorized circles.

New Rebel Troops Arrive.

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

GIBRALTAR, March 8.—Further Spanish insurgent reinforcements from Morocco arrived at Algeciras over the week-end. A large unknown steamer was reported to have arrived at Cadiz Saturday and to have landed a large Italian contingent. The insurgent gunboat Antonio Canovas del Castillo has taken into Ceuta a large cargo steamer eastward bound, believed to be Russian.

ARRANGE DETAILS OF SPANISH SEA PATROL TO START SATURDAY

LONDON, March 8.—(AP)—Creation of an international patrol to isolate the Spanish civil war moved a step nearer reality tonight when 27 nations adopted a detailed plan of land and sea control.

The four-power naval patrol by Britain, France, Italy, and Germany will start March 13, but committee agents to board ships and watch the Spanish frontier cannot be recruited for at least a fortnight. The problem of how Germany will pay its share of the cost and selection of three administrators for the scheme still were unsolved questions.

The nonintervention committee decided it would take up at a later date the projected effort to halt the flow of financial aid to Spain and moves to withdraw foreign volunteers already enlisted in the conflict.

Two Seized for Looting Homes During Funerals

Steve Wynne, 17 years old, 4853 Champlain avenue, and Bernard Thomas, 15 years old, 5257 Prairie avenue, both colored, were arrested yesterday after neighbors saw them leave the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Bainsback, 7412 Wabash avenue, while she was attending the funeral of her husband, William. The youths were carrying jewelry and clothing worth $2,800. They admitted robbing three other homes in the Woodlawn district during funerals. A newspaper clipping listing death notices was in their possession.

Here's Why:

Thousands have found, like Mrs. Reid, that REM is a real family necessity when there are coughs around. REM is equally good for young and old. It is more effective, for coughs resulting from colds, because it works two ways . . . in the throat and also systemically. REM is much more than just a "tickle stopper".

THIS BIG DICTATOR IS

ACTUAL PHOTOGRAPH

LOW 1937 PRICES MADE LOWER BY AMAZING NEW ECONOMY!

WE'RE making no exceptions . . . we're putting no face-saving qualifications into this sweeping Studebaker challenge.

The big, beautifully styled 1937 Studebaker Dictator six is taking them all on . . . every last one of the nine other 6-cylinder cars. The Dictator is even going above its price class . . . fearlessly bucking up against the higher priced sixes—and showing them up!

Styled inside and outside by Helen Dryden, with a steel-reinforced-by-steel body gleaming in a paint finish twelve coats deep, the great 1937 Studebaker Dictator is not merely down close to the lowest in price. Its Fram oil cleaner and gas-saving automatic overdrive enable it to equal and often beat lowest priced cars in operating economy.

It's the world's first six to offer the automatic hill holder with feather-touch hydraulic brakes . . . the world's only six with doors that close lightly, tightly and silently on revolutionary new rattle-proof rotary latches. But see it . . . drive it . . . price it . . . and then try to interest yourself in any other six. You'll agree we're speaking truth when we call it America's greatest 6-cylinder car.

'JEWEL MYSTERY' IRKS WALLY, SO SHE CLEARS IT UP

Says Simply: "I Didn't Get Crown Gems."

LONDON, March 8.—(AP)—Reports Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson had left Cannes today created a stir of speculation here concerning her plans to marry Edward, the duke of Windsor.

One evening newspaper splashed the news in a scare head across its front page.

Friends of Mrs. Simpson, however, said they were sure she had no intention of altering her plans to be married soon after her divorce is scheduled to become absolute on April 27.

One reason offered for her departure from the Riviera, where she had been since before Edward renounced his throne and followed her in exile, was said to be her increasing difficulty in avoiding public curiosity. Friends said Mrs. Simpson was oppressed by her lack of privacy and the gossip which cropped up whenever she appeared in public.

Calls Gambler "Acquaintance."

One story here, for instance, is that Mrs. Simpson has a new admirer in Nicolas Zographos, Greek "baccarat king" of Riviera casinos. She has told her English friends that Zographos was introduced to her and that he had been the guest twice of her host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Rogers, but that he was no more than an acquaintance.

Mrs. Simpson has told friends here there is no basis for "the mystery of the English crown jewels," a story which had gained such widespread attention Mrs. Simpson's friends informed her about it. She declared it had no grain of truth.

"I have never had any jewels of any kind that belonged either to Queen Victoria or Queen Alexandra," she was quoted as saying. "I never have returned any jewels of any kind to London or to any one representing the British government.

"Moreover, I never have been requested to return any such jewels."

Jewel Story Big Mystery.

The jewel story has been the biggest mystery since Edward's abdication. When Theodore Goddard, Mrs. Simpson's attorney, flew to see her at Cannes during the abdication crisis, reports said he was sent as a government envoy to bring back to London some crown jewels Edward had bestowed on Mrs. Simpson.

The latest version of the "crown jewels mystery" was published in the Pariser Tageszeitung, a German language newspaper in Paris. When the time came to assemble the jewels for Queen Elizabeth's crown, the newspaper said, it was discovered Edward had given some of them to Mrs. Simpson.

She had insured part of them for the equivalent of a half million dollars, the newspaper declared, but the others were so valuable that she could not get them insured.

It said Mrs. Simpson readily surrendered them to Goddard when he went to Cannes and told her they belonged to the British crown.

WALLY LEAVES RIVIERA HAVEN AMID SECRECY

Ex-King's Fiancee Heads for Tours in Auto.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 8.—With the furtive secrecy that marked her wild flight across France in the early days of December and with elaborate precautions to throw newspaper men and photographers off her trail, Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson, American born woman for love of whom King Edward VIII. abdicated the British throne, left the Villa Lou Viei at Cannes at 11:30 o'clock this morning, presumably for good.

Speeds Across France.

This afternoon her now famous American made automobile was speeding over the highways of southern and eastern France headed in the general direction of the province of Touraine. According to reliable information she is to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bedaux of New York City and Cleveland, O., in their Renaissance château named Candé at the village of Monts in the department of Indre-et-Loire. The village is located about 19 miles from the city of Tours.

[Bedaux, an industrial engineer, said at New York last night that Mrs. Simpson and her host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Livingston Rogers of New York, will arrive at the Bedaux villa today for a stay of several weeks.]

The departure was skilfully arranged by Police Inspector Jean Roure, who has charge of the protection of royalty and other celebrities during their stays in France.

Hence the getaway was made silently, despite the fact that Mrs. Simpson's flight looked like a nomad migration, comprising three automobiles.

The first to leave the villa of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers was a huge red moving van. It was piled high with fifteen trunks loaded not only with the wardrobe Mrs. Simpson had sent to the Riviera from England, but with extensive purchases she had been making at Cannes.

Takes Property with Her.

Apparently all the property she had at Lou Viei was moved with her, quashing one rumor at Cannes that she would be gone only a few weeks.

Second in the caravan was Mrs. Simpson's car, driven by a French chauffeur. In it sat Mrs. Simpson and Mrs. Rogers. Closing the march was a speedy French roadster. It was driven by a newly arrived member of Scotland Yard. Its passengers were Police Inspectors Roure and Jean Baldy who has been acting as Mrs. Simpson's bodyguard.

When last seen the automobiles were speeding toward Lyons. It was reported that Mrs. Simpson would spend the night at a hotel at Avignon. The police there were notified to take precautions to assure her safety.

Reason for Flight Mystery.

The reason for Mrs. Simpson's departure is mysterious, but fairly reliable gossip at Cannes says it has nothing to do with Edward, who is in self-imposed exile at Castle Enzesfeld, near Vienna.

The simple truth, wise ones along the Riviera assert, is that the ex-king's fiancée outstayed her welcome at Villa Lou Viei. Mr. and Mrs. Rogers as far back as December were irked at the floodlight of publicity suddenly turned on their somnolent retreat and the situation had not improved since. They were reported to have admitted openly they would not be sorry to have Mrs. Simpson leave before the beginning of the new ballyhoo of publicity expected when her divorce decree is made final about April 27 and she is free to marry Edward.

GERMAN PAPER LAUDS RACIAL PHILOSOPHY OF BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

BERLIN, March 8.—(AP)—Minister of Propaganda Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbel's paper, Der Angriff, turned today from caustic criticism of Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, New York, and the United States in general to praise for what it said was the racial philosophy of Benjamin Franklin.

Der Angriff said Franklin once "warned" America that unless Jewish immigration was banned by the constitution, "our descendants in less than 200 years will be laboring in the fields to support the Jews while the Jews will be in the counting rooms, joyfully rubbing their hands."

The official German news agency distributed the quotation attributed to Franklin over the nation and said the word were "prophetic."

refute the President's contention that the Supreme court prohibits the federal government from dealing with floods and the "dust bowl" of the west. He will show that the President has failed to include in his budget requests for money to carry out the 600 million dollar flood control program already authorized by congress.

The senate judiciary committee will begin hearings on the President's bill Wednesday, with the proponents leading off with Attorney General Cummings and Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson. The opposition will begin the presentation of its case next Monday, and a tentative list of witnesses was agreed upon today.

On Tuesday the opposition will present L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange, and Fred Brenckman, Washington representative of that nonpartisan organization of farmers. Representative William Lemke of North Dakota, an extreme radical who ran for President on a third party ticket last fall, also will appear in opposition to the bill Tuesday.

Hutchins with Opposition.

On Wednesday the opposition will present Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, and he will be followed by Raymond Moley, President Roosevelt's original No. 1 brain truster, who vehemently opposes the scheme to pack the court.

Also, it was learned, the opposition plans to present ranking bishops of the Episcopal and Methodist-Episcopal churches, Archbishop Curley of the Catholic church, a leader of the Baptist church, and a prominent rabbi, to show that religious leaders of all creeds are united in opposition to the court packing project.

Two groups of farm and labor representatives called at the White House today and after conferences with President Roosevelt asserted that agriculture and the working man were in accord with the court packing program.

SUPREME COURT GIVES TEACHERS PENSION REVIEW

Chicago teachers who retired before an amendment of the Miller act two years ago reduced the maximum retirement pension from $1,500 to $500 annually were granted a United States Supreme court review of their case yesterday. The teachers, in their state suit, contended it was unconstitutional for the state to cut pensions after they had accrued. School board attorneys held the pensions were not based on a vested contractual right, but were a gratuity granted by the legislature. The school lawyers were upheld by the Superior court and by the Illinois Supreme court.

Washington, D. C., March 8.—[Special.]—A decision by the Supreme court on the constitutionality of the Wagner labor relations act, which will be an important factor in the controversy over President Roosevelt's plan to pack the court with six New Dealers, was deferred for at least another week today when the justices handed down no formal opinions.

Five cases involving the Wagner act, which makes collective bargaining compulsory and seeks to outlaw company unions, and another case involving the companion statute for railway labor relations, were argued and submitted to the court during the week of Feb. 8. It is possible that opinions in some of these cases will be announced next Monday, but if they are not forthcoming then, another two weeks must elapse during the court's regular recess.

Session Is Brief.

Today's session was unusually brief, consisting only of the brief oral announcement of orders by Chief Justice Hughes and the admission of young attorneys to the bar.

The court today agreed to review a case involving the validity of the Alabama unemployment insurance law, and this may have been the reason for postponing a decision as to whether the New York unemployment insurance case will be reheard. A special three judge court held that the Alabama act violated both the federal and state constitutions through arbitrary discrimination.

The New York and Alabama acts differ in the sense that the former was passed in contemplation of the federal social security act, while the latter was passed after that act's adoption, with the approval of the social security board. The social security act provides for a 3 per cent tax on employers' pay rolls for unemployment insurance, but 90 per cent of unemployment insurance taxes paid into state funds are permitted to be offset.

Liquor Violators Lose.

Rulings announced by the court today included refusal to review judgments against eleven Peoria, Ill., men convicted of liquor revenue law violations. Five of them were sentenced to serve two years and pay $10,000 fines and six to serve a year and a day and pay $5,000 fines for possession and transportation of liquor upon which federal taxes had not been paid.

Halsted L. Ritter, impeached Florida federal judge, lost his appeal attacking validity of the senate's action.

A request by the state of Texas for determination of the legal residence of the late Edward H. R. Green also was denied. Four states are claiming Col. Green was a resident within their borders for the purpose of collecting huge taxes on his estate.

YALE GROUP BANDS TO CROWN ROOSEVELT AND "STUFF" COURT

New Haven, Conn., March 8.—[Special.]—Yale undergraduates banded together in an organization to make President Roosevelt king of the United States and Emperor of Wake Island, to rename Washington, Roosevelt, D. C., and to stuff the Supreme court so that it may be placed in the Smithsonian Institution "for the edification and amazement of posterity."

Staid Eli was all agog tonight at the surprise move of four students who are rallying adherents around them with the battle cry, "Crown America First."

One Winnetka, Ill., boy, Samuel Adams Lynde II., said: "As long as the President has all the powers of a king, why not let him have the glory?"

In a "royal proclamation" of the founders, satirical and obviously aimed at the President's proposal to enlarge the Supreme court, the "uneconomic royalists" say that Roosevelt has "already provided a succession of heirs unto the third generation, rich in mind, health and right royal dignity."

The "royalists" ask that the press be abolished and the "people informed only of what is good for them through fireside chats by his imperial majesty.

FIRE DESTROYS INDIANA SCHOOL.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 8.—[Special.]—The Consolidated school building at Riley, south of here, was destroyed by fire today with a loss estimated at $250,000.

WOMEN LEADERS OF U. S. HEAD FOR CONGRESS HERE

Colorful Tribune Forum Opens Tomorrow Noon.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Women leaders in all parts of the United States are setting out for Chicago today by train, plane, and motor. They are coming to attend the fourth annual Woman Congress, a nonpartisan forum for the discussion of current affairs, under the sponsorship of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Opening at 12 o'clock noon tomorrow in the Palmer house the sessions will continue through Thursday evening.

Approximately 5,000 women will hear the discussions in the Palmer house while millions more will hear them by radio. Again yesterday in the congress headquarters in Tribune Tower it was pointed out that admission will be by ticket only. Different tickets have been issued for each session with the session number printed boldly on the ticket stub. The color of the ticket denotes location on the fourth floor of the Palmer house.

Colorful Opening Planned.

The opening of the congress tomorrow will be one of the most colorful features of the two day sessions. After the gavel falls the audience will rise in the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner." Then the Rev. John C. Evans, church editor of THE TRIBUNE, will pronounce the invocation against a background of soft organ music.

Col. Robert R. McCormick will extend greetings on behalf of THE TRIBUNE, and then the scene will switch to London, England, where Ishbel MacDonald, daughter of the former prime minister, will speak directly to the forum through a special radio hookup of the Mutual Broadcasting company.

After Miss MacDonald's speech on "Women and the State," Mrs. Roberta ampbell Lawson, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, will be heard. The hour session will wind up with the keynote address delivered by Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, dean of Stoneleigh college, Rye, N. H. Mrs. Poole will take for her subject the general theme of the congress, "America in a Changing World."

Out of Town Guests.

Among the out of town guests arriving tomorrow morning will be Mrs. M. S. McDuffee of Norfolk, Neb., president of the Upper Mississippi Valley conference of the General Federation, and Mrs. W. C. Taylor, president of the North Dakota Federation of Women's Clubs. The Upper Mississipp Valley conference is to have a luncheon at 1:15 tomorrow in the Palmer house between the keynote and afternoon sessions.

To list all of the distinguished guests coming from far and near would be to draw up a feminine who's who. Mrs. W. E. Chapman, president of the Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. R. I. C. Prout of Wakefield will be among the Michigan leaders.

Mrs. George Gellhorn, high in rank in the National League of Women Voters, will come from St. Louis and so will Mrs. L. L. Muchall, president of the Missouri federation.

Since a large part of the congress program is to be heard over the networks of the Mutual and National Broadcasting companies and through WAAF, all the speeches and entertainment will be heard on strict schedule. It is urged that guests be in their places at least fifteen minutes preceding a session. During these periods before the opening of a session Porter Heaps will be heard in recitals on the Hammond organ.

SUE HUSBANDS

Mrs. Margery Railton charged her husband, John R. Railton, president of wholesale grocery company, slapped her in a restaurant. She sued for divorce.

Mrs. Dorothy Patterson Lehmann withdrew her separate maintenance suit against Edward J. Lehmann Jr., member of the merchant family, and reinstated her original suit for divorce.

Mrs. Edythe Vroonon Trask, fashion model, wore a tight bathing suit and didn't wear a suit of long underwear. When she caught cold her husband refused to pay the doctor bill. She was awarded temporary alimony.

(Story in adjoining column.)

DIVORCE COURTS HEAR OF SCOTCH, UNDIES AND FISTS

John R. Railton, Grocer, Is One of 3 Defendants.

Three Chicago wives were in the divorce courts yesterday. One accused her wealthy husband of striking her; a fashion model said her husband found fault with the clothes, or lack of them, necessary in her business; a roadhouse proprietress decided to change her suit for separate maintenance back to one for divorce.

Charging she had been knocked unconscious by a blow from her husband's fist, Mrs. Margery Railton, 25 years old, filed suit in the Superior court for divorce from John R. Railton, 35 years old, president of the B. A. Railton company, wholesale grocers.

Alleges Threats Against Life.

Mrs. Railton gave her address as 1209 Astor street. She said they were married on Jan. 9, 1932, in Waukegan and separated last Feb. 23, the day after the exhibition of fisticuffs in their apartment. On Feb. 1, in a restaurant, the bill set forth, Railton slapped her, and on several occasions he threatened her life.

Through her attorney, William F. Waugh, Mrs. Railton asked an injunction restraining the grocery executive from molesting her or disposing of a $100,000 life insurance policy or stocks and cash in four loop banks. She said his income is $75,000 a year. Railton on Aug. 21, 1931, was divorced by Mrs. Ruth Gibbons Railton on a charge of drunkenness.

Mrs. Edythe Vroonon Trask and her attorney, Harry X. Cole, recounted the marital troubles of a fashion model to Judge John C. Lewe in the Superior court. Last summer, as part of her work, she wore a very tight bathing suit. Her husband, she said, objected violently. He is Allen Trask, 932 Buena Park terrace, chief engineer for the Mills Novelty company. In December he bought her a suit of long, although not red, underwear. She would not wear it. Then when she caught cold, the model testified, Mr. Trask refused to pay the doctor's bill.

Mrs. Trask, who is 31 years old and lives at 126½ Washington boulevard, Oak Park, was awarded $22.50 a week temporary alimony. She is suing for separate maintenance.

Case of Edward J. Lehmann Jr.

Mrs. Dorothy Patterson Lehmann, appearing with her attorney, Norman Becker, before Judge Philip J. Finnegan in the Circuit court, withdrew her separate maintenance suit against Edward J. Lehmann Jr., member of the merchant family, and reinstated her original suit for divorce.

Attorney Becker said Mr. Lehmann is arranging a financial settlement, agreeing to an uncontested divorce. Mrs. Lehmann feels, her attorney said, that it would be unladylike to present her husband with a bar bill, a plan she had in mind last month. Then she accused Lehmann of drinking 700 bottles of Scotch whisky in the Sky Rocket, swank roadhouse west of Glencoe which Mrs. Lehmann operates with her brother, Johnny Patterson.

The Lehmanns were married June 20, 1935. Mrs. Lehmann's bill charges cruelty.

CHRYSLER SHUT IN NEW STRIKE BY C. I. O. UNION

HudsonParalyzed;70,000 Out of Work.

problem would be temporarily solved by having night shift employés toss their lunch pails over the fences to the men within.

Strikers were in control of the gates at the Plymouth plant, where they claimed 85 per cent union membership. Nonunion employés were ushered out of the Dodge Truck division where the union claimed 90 per cent membership.

Police at the gates of other plants permitted employés to leave but prevented any one from entering. No disorder had been reported at any of the strike-bound plants.

Organizer "Regrets" It.

Richard T. Frankensteen, U.A.W.A. organizational director, who claims 59,000 Chrysler employés are members of the union, "regretted" the situation and said "we thought the Chrysler management would be more liberal in its viewpoint."

"This strike and the one at the Hudson Motor Car company," Frankensteen said, "are the results of the management's stubborn resistance and unreasonable position concerning the will of a clear majority of employés in plants affected."

Vice President Hutchinson said it appeared "the conferences into which we entered with good faith last Wednesday had only one purpose, namely, to put this union in complete control over all our employés, regardless of individual wishes."

"We have offered not only to continue to recognize the U. A. W. A.," Hutchinson said, "as the bargaining agent for its members in our plants—as we have done in the past—but also to work out with them shop rules which would enable the union officers and stewards to function effectively for the employés whom they may represent. The union rejected this."

Nonunion Men Threatened.

Hutchinson asserted that nonunion men had been subjected to "threats, intimidation and coercion from union representatives," both in the Chrysler plants and in their homes.

The strike at the Hudson company was called when union representatives charged officials of the concern are stalling in negotiations on working conditions.

About 3 p. m. some 4,000 of Hudson's 10,000 workers left the plant and staged a demonstration. Forming two moving picket lines they marched two abreast over a two block area to place a living wall before entrances to the administration building and factory. About 1,000 others who remained in the plant let down ropes from windows to hoist food and supplies.

The trouble at Flint moved quickly from the time the strike was called this morning in four Chevrolet plants until that matter was settled and the new strikes had broken out late today in the Fisher plant.

The settlements, which union leaders described as only tentative, sent 7,000 men back to work in the Flint plants pending the outcome of negotiations. The company agreed to one of the grievances, the reinstatement of a worker.

Gov. Murphy to Hurry Home.

Palm Beach, Fla., March 8.—(AP)—Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan planned tonight to cut short a vacation here and hurry back to Lansing because of fresh strikes in his state. He said he would fly north tomorrow morning or tomorrow night.

Lost Child Found

Wilhelmina Strahammer, 10, with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Strahammer, after she had been found asleep in an auto.

Wilhelmina Strahammer, 10 years old, of 3243 Lakewood avenue [Herndon street], missing since Friday afternoon, was found early yesterday by the police in the back of an automobile in a used car lot at North Kedzie and Barry avenues.

She had been walking about the streets and spending the nights in hallways ever since she failed to return from St. Alphonsus parochial school, the girl said when her father, Joseph, called for her at the Town Hall police station. Until the police found her she had had nothing to eat but an apple and an orange. During her wanderings she was admitted to two motion picture theaters, she said, and on Sunday morning she attended religious services.

"I ran away," she said, "because whenever father was gone mother would punish me for every little thing."

LEWIS REFUSES TO RUN PICKETS TO MAKE SPEECH

Washington, D. C., March 8.—[Special.]—John L. Lewis, head of the Committee for Industrial Organization, refused tonight to go through a picket line of striking waiters, waitresses, cooks, and bus boys at the Willard hotel to address a meeting of labor's Nonpartisan league in the hotel's ballroom.

When the time came for the meeting to convene, Maj. George L. Berry, president of the league, called it to order and explained that his organization had a contract with the hotel covering the sessions and that they would continue.

Lewis, who was to have been the principal speaker, heard about the strike and stopped a block away at the Washington hotel to confer with Miguel Garriga, representative of local 781 of the International Alliance of Hotel and Restaurant Workers, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. Lewis then said he approved of the strike and would not cross the picket lines.

C. I. O. CAMPAIGNS BOLSTER LEWIS' POWER AS RULER

Outlaw Unions Gain on Green's A. F. of L.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

The progress made by John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization in signing new members in mass production industries in recent months has strengthened, numerically, the position of the unions comprising the C. I. O. in comparison with the American Federation of Labor.

When the break between the Lewis group and the federation became final last September with the suspension of ten C. I. O. unions from the A. F. of L., it was estimated that less than one-third of the total federation membership fell under the ban. The suspension followed nearly a year of bitter controversy between Lewis and William Green, federation president, over the Lewis plan for organization of industrial unions.

C. I. O. Claims 1,500,000.

The strength of the C. I. O. unions was placed at about one million members last summer. How much the membership of these unions has grown since the break is largely a matter of guesswork. Definitly, however, with new members in steel, automobile, glass and other industries, membership has increased. C. I. O. officials claim it is now in excess of a million and a half.

The C. I. O. officials claim that more than 40 per cent of the workers in the steel and auto industries are now members of their unions. They claim upwards of 200,000 of the 550,000 steel workers and at least as many of the half million auto workers.

Steel and auto producers deny these claims. Privately, the industry leaders admit the C. I. O. may have 20 per cent of the workers, or approximately 100,000 in each field. An in-between estimate would give the C. I. O. unions 150,000 in each industry. Smaller gains have been made in other fields, including radio, rubber, textile, and glass industries.

How Factions Compare.

The gross membership of the C. I. O. unions at the time of the break was probably half as great as that of the unions behind Green. Now it is probably 60 per cent as large. Such a proportion would give Lewis close to 1,500,000 in his unions and Green about 2,500,000 in his. Lewis derives his strength from fifteen unions, ten of which are under A. F. of L. suspension, while Green's comes from approximately 100 unions. Five new unions have joined Lewis' recently, three of which are A. F. of L. affiliates.

Based on the official report of the A. F. of L., the ten unions which were suspended because of their C. I. O. activities had memberships of approximately 1,000,000 of the total 1936 membership of 3,422,398 reported by the federation. These figures are based on reported paid-up memberships.

It is probable that on the paid-up mebership basis the Lewis following has not expanded as widely as recent activities might indicate. In some membership drives the C. I. O. has suspended initiation fees and dues.

No Fee for Steel Workers.

This is true in the steel campaign. Steel workers joining the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel, and Tin Workers, the C. I. O. union, are not charged dues or initiation fees. They are simply asked to sign a membership card specifying the union as their bargaining representative.

This is a temporary arrangement during the drive. Under its contract with the Amalgamated the C. I. O. may charge dues of $1 a month and use the dues for organizing expenses. The present "no dues" arrangement is to end April 1. Union leaders are waiting to see what effect the imposition of dues will have on membership rolls.

Lewis' own union, the United Mine Workers of America, has been the chief contributor to the expenses of the C. I. O. The miners' union put nearly half a million dollars into the C. I. O. treasury when the "rebel" organization was formed. It was an outright gift.

Mine Union Income Assured.

The miners' union is one of the wealthiest in the country. A per capita tax of 50 cents a month on nearly half a million members brings in well over 2 million dollars annually. The income is assured under the "check-off" system which requires the employer to deduct the dues from the workers' pay.

This money is under the control of the miners' executive board and it is no secret that Lewis is a dictator in his own union. Hence, the funds are there for distribution as he sees fit. The latest available published figures showed well over $2,000,000 in the miners' treasury.

The income of the miners' union is approximately double that of the A. F. of L. The annual report of the treasurer of the federation for the year ended Aug. 31, 1936, showed income for the twelve months of $974,390, of which $453,817 came from a per capita tax on members. The per capita tax on affiliated international unions is one cent a member a month, with other rates for directly affiliated groups. Neither organization has to make public accounting of its funds and is not required to have the accounts audited by independent outside auditors.

HE GOES OUT TO SEE A SITDOWN; BACK AT HOTEL HE FINDS ONE

Detroit, Mich., March 8.—(AP)—Detective Edward Powers of Chicago, here on police business, asked two Detroit policemen to show him a sitdown strike today, so he would have "something to tell the boys" back home.

Powers was taken to several plants where strikes had been reported, but all had been settled. He returned, disappointed, to his room on the fifteenth floor of the Barlum hotel. His luggage packed, he called for a porter.

"You'll have to carry your bag yourself," was the reply. "There's a sitdown strike."

LAKE COUNTY BOARD SET FOR CLASH OVER FANSTEEL STRIKE BILL

A brisk clash is anticipated at the meeting of the Lake county board of supervisors of 34 members today when bills arising from the nine day sitdown strike at the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation plant in North Chicago are presented for approval.

Drawn by Sherif Lawrence A. Doolittle, the bills will total between $12,000 and $15,000 to cover salaries of special deputies and guards and the cost of tear and nauseating gas used in two battles to evict the strikers.

Supervisor Harry W. Washo [Lake Zurich] said last night he will oppose payment and suggest the company bear the cost. "I read statements by Fansteel officials that they have a $1,500,000 plant," said Washo, "yet the assessed valuation for 1936 was $80,595, indicating a real value of four times that, or $322,380."

WARRING LABOR CHIEFS MAP OUT FINISH BATTLE

Green and Lewis Call In Union Aids.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 8.—[Special.]—Battle lines were full drawn today between the two warring labor leaders, President William Green of the American Federation of Labor and John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization, whose activities have caused a national split in the ranks of organized labor.

Green conferred with fifty of his expert organizers while Lewis also discussed with his lieutenants further moves in his campaign to unionize workers in mass production industries. There was every indication that the battle between the two can now end only with the complete defeat of one and the dominancy of the other.

Green Plans Union Drive.

Green was reticent about his organizers' meeting but it was reported that plans would be completed for a vigorous organizing drive and a battle to protect A. F. of L. jurisdictional rights in industries where Lewis has obtained contracts. Green then announced a plan to open an organization drive in the structural steel industry.

So bitter has the rivalry become that A. F. of L. leaders hinted that they might use a boycott against Lewis. If adopted, members of the federation's craft unions would refuse to work with goods produced by members of Lewis' industrial unions.

John Frey, president of the federation's metal trades unit and prosecutor at the trial which ended in suspension of ten Lewis led unions, will head a drive, it was announced, to enlist shipyard workers in the A. F. of L. Lewis claims the establishment of an industrial union in this industry.

Make 2d Plea to Green.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 8.—[Special.]—A second appeal for help in fighting John L. Lewis' steel union was made to the American Federation of Labor today by the employé representative group of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation.

The independent group's new call for help followed a prediction by Philip Murray, chief of Lewis' steel drive, that every subsidiary of the giant United States Steel corporation would sign contracts with his forces within the next ten days. Carnegie-Illinois, largest of U. S. Steel's subsidiaries, already has recognized Lewis' union but only as representative of its own members.

Murray postponed until next Monday a collective bargaining conference originally scheduled for Wednesday with Carnegie-Illinois officials and prepared to meet Lewis in Washington tomorrow on plans to spread their unionism into all mass industries.

SMASH WINDOWS AT PLANT AFTER THREAT OF BLAST

Bricks were hurled through the windows of the Union Bed company, 1001 South Kostner avenue, last night as a police detail from the Fillmore station was on its way to stand guard over the plant.

The police guard was ordered by Lieut. Louis Klatcko after he received reports of anonymous threats to blow up the boiler in the factory at 7 a. m. today. The identity or motive of the window smashers was a mystery.

Arthur Wesley, vice president, told police there had been no hint of labor trouble. About 200 men are employed on day and night shifts.

LADY SITS AND LEWIS CHOKES ON OWN PILLS

He Buys Home, but She Refuses to Leave.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Alexandria, Va., March 8.—[Special.]—John L. Lewis, the sitdown king, is a victim of his own pet institution—the sitdown strike. A lone woman is doing the sitting.

Lewis has a yen for historic homes. He is at present occupying the onetime residence of Dr. Brown, surgeon general under Washington in the continental army, but the house is far too small for the entertaining he has undertaken. So recently he took up his option on one of the old Lee houses, a very much larger establishment, at a consideration of between $25,000 and $35,000.

She and Dog Sit Down.

To his dismay, Mrs. Avra M. Warren, wife of a state department official, sits alone with her great Newfoundland dog and refuses to move out until her lease expires next fall. Lewis pleads, fusses, fumes and annoys Mrs. Warren continually, urging that she move out immediately. She refuses to budge, stating that she cannot move until her husband returns from South America and, furthermore, what would she do with her dog, who enjoys the romping space of a large yard?

The Lewises thought Alexandria would be just the place to live—a small quiet city only fifteen minutes by motor car [the Lewises possess two General Motors products] from his downtown Washington office seven miles across the Potomac. It was also near enough to the capital to have Washingtonians drop in for afternoon tea parties and dinners. Such Washington liberals as Senator Hugo L. Black, Madam Secretary Perkins, Rexford Tugwell, and countless others have been recent guests.

Something to Talk About.

Lewis has given this historic colonial city a lot to talk about. The very fact that he took up his residence here excited quite a ripple of comment.

Last month the owner of a large old mansion declared that she would not exhibit her home in the annual historic homes display if John L. Lewis opened his. That created a tidal wave of conversation.

Chicago Lloyds addresses this message to careful drivers only

"Mary, I just ran across that old automobile policy of mine. Why, think of it, I was paying about a fourth more for insurance on my car than I am now with Chicago Lloyds."

"Yes, Jim, too bad you didn't realize sooner that you really are a careful driver so you could get the Chicago Lloyds' saving on your insurance."

If you can Qualify as a

CAREFUL DRIVER

you, too, can save from 20% to 28% in your automobile insurance cost

Chicago's full of Jims and Marys. We've insured the cars of thousands of them. They're careful, sensible drivers, but they know they must have full insurance protection because every driver on the streets isn't as careful and sensible. But they like to save where they can, and with Chicago Lloyds they save around a fourth of what they formerly paid for automobile insurance. Our organization insures only careful, cautious drivers—those who take driving seriously and respect the rights of other drivers. This class of drivers cause fewer losses, and fewer losses mean that we can offer them the best in automobile insurance protection at savings ranging from 20% to 28% in cost. We want to insure careful drivers, but no other kind! The other kind of drivers would make our savings in cost impossible.

And the other advantages?—You're insured with a financially strong company . . . you're paid the full-insured amount if your car's a total loss from fire or theft . . . you can get every protection . . . full-valued fire and theft, collision and protection against liability for bodily injury and property damage, and other hazards . . . claims anywhere in the United States or Canada will be investigated and paid promptly. You have a non-assessable policy . . . and for $2 additional you can get the principal motor club advantages, including towing and road service . . . every advantage—at 20% to 28% savings in cost!

Moving Forward

PIE

By CALEB

"WE never have pie," mournfully said the gentleman guest of a lady we know. He lingered over the perfect pie before him, savoring to the last morsel the fresh fruit flavor and the fine short crust. Occasionally he repeated mournfully, "We never have pie at home," and looked reproachfully at his wife.

This occurred several times in the course of a few months.

Finally the reproached wife got her hostess aside. "I think I shall learn to make pie. My cook simply can't do it. Can O——— teach me?"

O———, reputedly one of the greatest of southern cooks, tried, but she was less articulate than skillful, and less scientific in demonstrating than intuitive in baking. And besides she said, "Mizz X caint make her hands do right."

Mrs. X, however, was one of those persons who never let go. She had hold of the pie-baking idea and she would bake pies—good pies.

So she went for a while to a domestic science school, where—if the pies were not so superbly excellent—the instruction was more lucid. And then to learn something more of getting that homemade effect, she went for help to a small home bakery which made pies to sell.

Persistently she kept at it—until her hands did do right. Today the old master O——— has a piemaking rival.

Today Mrs. X is studying French from a phonograph record and textbook course she obtained from us. Soon Mrs. X will be able to speak French fluently and to translate it freely and on sight.

The person who learns to make pies and that done, begins to give French or astronomy or bookbinding or amateur photography or gardening or something else an intelligent whirl, not only finds much interest in life regardless of his or her age, but at the same time helps make life interesting for other people.

Tongues get tired issuing the same words day after day—and ears grow tired of hearing the same old things. Minds become stagnant with no new interests to freshen and cultivate them. We like best the hobbies and avocations which bring you into our store. But whether you adopt such hobbies or interests or not, it is good for the ventilation of your mind to adopt some.

SEEK SURE STOP TO DIVERSION OF TAX ON GASOLINE

Groups Launch Campaign to Amend Constitution.

BY HAL FOUST.

The Chicago Motor club and a dozen civic organizations united yesterday in a move to amend the Illinois constitution to prohibit further diversion of automobile taxes from street and highway uses. A campaign for the amendment was inaugurated at a luncheon meeting in the Palmer House.

The American Petroleum Industries committee estimates that $80,000,000 of Illinois gasoline tax revenue has been taken from the road funds for the relief, school, and general funds. The figure on diversion for the nation is a half billion dollars.

48 Millions Obligated.

Of Illinois' 80 million, according to the petroleum committee, 32 million has come from gasoline tax collections of former years and 48 million has been obligated to come from future collections. The big diversion was the $50,000,000 in relief bonds that will cost the motorists $71,000,000, including the interest, before they are retired in 1950.

In 1934 and 1935 the state school fund was given $6,654,256 of gasoline money. Chicago is alloting half of its 1 cent share of the motor fuel excise to the board of education, about $2,500,000 a year.

"Diversion is a polite term," said Joseph H. Braun, general counsel for the motor club, in addressing the meeting. "In private business such a transfer of money collected for one purpose to a fund for another purpose is called embezzlement.

"The license fees and gasoline tax are special taxes on motorists for which they are entitled to special benefits.

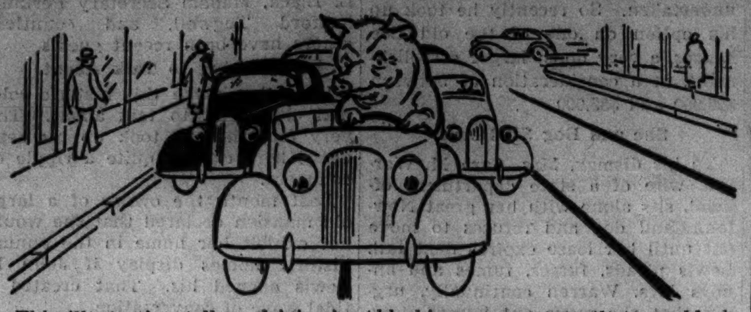
Needs for Fighting Massacre.

"The money that is being diverted from the road funds is needed to build safety into our highways.

"We need elevated highways, grade separations, and divided multiple lane rural roads if we are going to make a real reduction in the trafic toll."

Petitions are to be circulated calling upon the legislature to pass such a referendum bill. Attending the meeting and indorsing the mose were: George J. Eckhoff, Northwest Real Estate board; Thomas M. Files, Cicero Chamber of Commerce; A. F. Jensen, Triangle Lions club; Milton K. Joseph, Uptown Clark Street Business association; Roy F. Healy, Chicago Association of Business and Professional Men; W. C. Calvert, North Central association; Herman Ordas, Morgan Park Improvement association; Bernard S. Molay, Portage Park Chamber of Commerce; Roy F. Nix, River Forest Chamber of Commerce; John H. Kerr, Norwood Park Citizens' association; C. H. Bullen, Franklin Park Kiwanis club, and Frank Trojanowski, Belmont Park Improvement association.

THE LESSON OF THE ROADHOG



This illustration tells a driving lesson without a comment. It is from a text distributed by the Chicago Motor club for teaching trafic safety in high schools.

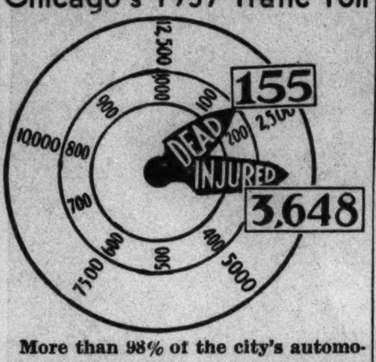
This roadhog is most common on Chicago's boulevards on Sundays. He isn't going anywhere so he is not in a hurry. And he is inattentive or selfishly indifferent to the other users of the roadway.

The painted lanes on the pavement are ignored by this roadhog. He is blocking pavement that could be used by a double column of automobiles. Motorists behind him, some of them anxious to get to a destination, are stymied unless they can swing to the left of the center line of the pavement, which is often a dangerous maneuver.

If the dallying driver cannot increase his pace so as not to impede reasonable travel on the streets, the least he can do is to keep to the right so that he will be less difficult to pass.

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1937 Trafic Toll



More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

FOUR MOTORISTS GET JAIL TERMS, ONE FOR 2D TIME

Four motorists were sentenced to jail yesterday, three by Judge George B. Weiss in Safety court and one by Judge J. M. Braude in Boys' court.

Harry Bell, 44 years old, 246 Washington boulevard, Oak Park, was sentenced to ten days for driving while intoxicated at Madison street and Austin avenue last Saturday when his automobile struck a parked car. Eugene Riemensperger, 23 years old, 1463 West 73d place, arrested on Friday while driving erratically at 79th street and Lake Shore drive, was given seven days on a similar charge.

Olden Goodlet, colored, 41 years old, 3218 Prairie avenue, whose car struck a parked machine at 47th street and Wentworth avenue on Saturday, was given a five day sentence for reckless driving.

Edmond Gurak, 20 years old, 2629 Hirsch street, who recently finished a 20 day Bridewell sentence for reckless driving, was sentenced by Judge Braude to serve 30 days more for leaving the scene of the accident. Gurak's car struck and injured three pedestrians at Augusta boulevard and Ashland avenue last month. Judge Braude indicated that he will vacate the new sentence if Gurak makes restitution of $300 his victims paid in medical fees.

BOY RUNS INTO TRUCK AT PLAY; DIES IN HOSPITAL

Carl Bertil Johnson Jr., 8 years old, 3140 Addison street, died in Belmont hospital yesterday of injuries incurred on Saturday when he ran against the side of a moving truck while playing with other boys at Kedzie avenue and Addison street. August Kriesemint, 40 years old, 3213 Osgood street, driver of the truck, was not held.

Mrs. Otto Erckfietz, 63 years old, who lived on a farm near Harvard in McHenry county, died in Harvard Community hospital yesterday of injuries incurred on Saturday when the car in which she was riding skidded and hit a tree.

Robert Speers, 27 years old, 1460 Argyle street, was seriously injured yesterday when his car went out of control in Lake Shore drive near Center street and struck a pole.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 195 persons had been killed by motor vehicles in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to the coroner's office. The Chicago toll for the same period was 155 deaths and 3,648 injuries.

2 BILLS ADOPTED AT NIGHT SESSION IN ILLINOIS HOUSE

Extra Meeting Added to Spur Legislative Work.

BY STANLEY ARMSTRONG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 8.—[Special.]—Two bills were adopted and others were advanced on the calendar tonight by the Illinois house when its members met in the first Monday night session since the general assembly convened Jan. 6.

The house, like the senate, has been meeting only two days a week—Tuesdays and Wednesdays. Last week the representatives decided to add Monday nights to their working schedule. On one roll call there were 106 votes, four more than the number needed for emergency enactment of bills but 43 less than the present membership, which has been cut down by two deaths.

Seek to Lighten Business.

One reason for inaugurating the Monday night sessions, Speaker Louie Louis indicated tonight, was to lighten the load of Tuesday's business so that more time would be available tomorrow for consideration by committees of bills that have been piling up.

On the other side of the state house the senate has shown no indication that it will vary from its practice of convening at 4 p. m. on Tuesdays, the members of that branch contending their calendar does not require their presence in Springfield earlier than that hour.

The two bills adopted would exempt from the state vehicle tax tractors, threshing machines, and trailers that are used primarily in the agricultural pursuits of the owner and permit non-high school districts outside Cook county to issue bonds after approval at a referendum to pay unpaid tuition claims.

Utility Control Bill Offered.

Among the new bills introduced was one by Representative Frank Ryan [D., Chicago] to place all municipally owned utilities under the Illinois commerce commission as private utilities are now. Its effect in Chicago would be that the commerce commission instead of the city would fix the water rates.

The house then adjourned until tomorrow with the adoption of a resolution of condolence on the death of Thomas J. O'Grady of Chicago, former representative and alderman, leaving until tomorrow consideration of Gov. Horner's bill to reimpose a state sales tax on public utilities of 3 per cent and the 9 million dollar peg levy of the Chicago park district.

LOVELY PRIMA DONNA OF METROPOLITAN OPERA SAYS:

"A season of opera and concert means my voice and throat must be consistently in perfect condition. Therefore, although most of my smoking is done while I am on vacation, it is all important to me that I be careful in choosing my cigarette. I smoke Luckies because I enjoy their taste and because I feel it is wiser for me to choose a light smoke for my voice."

Helen Jepson

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Jepson verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.

LOTS SELL AT $19 UNDER RARE TAX COLLECTION PLAN

Seldom Used Method Is Tried in Park Ridge.

Home sites in Park Ridge sold for as low as $19 yesterday as the county began auctioning off 5,252 subdivision lots on which county officials have foreclosed for being delinquent in taxes since 1913.

The foreclosure system, seldom used for collecting taxes in this county, differs from the old tax selling plan, under which tax buyers bought title to the property but never actually gained ownership. The tax title constituted merely a lien, and the tax buyer paid only the delinquent taxes. He made a profit when the property owner was eventually forced to pay him the amount of the taxes plus a commission to regain clear title.

Owner Has Two Years.

But those who buy the properties as was being done yesterday actually get the properties unless the owner redeems them within two years.

Thirty of the lots, on which $37,072 taxes were due for the years from 1913 to 1931, were sold yesterday. As they brought but $1,362, the county will lose money on the system unless the rest of the lots bring higher prices, according to Horace G. Lindheimer, county treasurer.

Lindheimer explained, however, that few understood the terms of the sale, and that he believes news of the bargains offered will bring buyers who wish to build homes.

Bargains—Even With Taxes.

The foreclosures were all for the 1913-'31 period, and total $281,473 on all the properties involved. Buyers must pay the taxes from 1932 to 1935 inclusive to take title, in addition to the purchase price. Even then the lots will be bargains, according to the auctioneer, George Hagenauer, chief auditor for the treasurer.

The only purchasers yesterday were Miss Margaret Dagobert of 1729 Farwell avenue, and M. J. Rudnich of 5454 Higgins avenue. The auction will be resumed at 11 a. m. today in the Clark street side of the county building lobby.

Woman Fatally Injured When Hit by Street Car

Mrs. Rose Plinsky, 54 years old, 807 Buckingham place, a clerk employed by the WPA, was fatally injured last night when she was hit by a Wells street car at Huron street.

SITDOWN AUTOIST

Frank Peterlin of Joliet in his mired auto in which he has started sitdown "strike" in protest against condition of street near his home.

Frank Peterlin went on a sitdown strike at 9 a. m. yesterday, vowing to hold out until the city of Joliet promises to pave a street. He sat in his car which was mired to the axles a half block from his home at 226 South May street.

"I'm going to stay here until I get action from Sam Shepley, the street commissioner," said Peterlin, above the tune of a snappy fox trot coming from his automobile radio. "We folks have been petitioning the city for years but it hasn't done any good, so I'll try this."

He said he had spent $62 in the last seven years to have his car towed out of the mud on May street and would spend no more. Neighbors shouted their encouragement from the solid sidewalks.

Divinity Student Put on Probation; Twin to Cell

CRIMINAL COURT.

Patrick Whalen and Vincent Janes, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary by Judge Peter H. Schwaba.

Because Wilfred Goddard, 20 years old, 7255 Greenleaf avenue, a former divinity student, was given another chance yesterday, prison doors will separate him and his twin brother, Winfred. The twins, charged with neighborhood burglaries, were found guilty last month. Winfred was sentenced by Judge John Prystalski in the Criminal court on Feb. 23 to one to ten years in prison. Yesterday the judge lectured Wilfred and placed him on two years' probation.

Joliet Fugitive Caught in Indiana from Poster

State prison authorties at Joliet yesterday sent guards to Columbus, Ind., to get Milton Sprawls, 27 years old, who escaped from the prison honor farm May 13, 1935. Sprawls, who was sentenced in 1932 to serve one to twenty years for robbery in Cook county, was arrested when a resident of Columbus recognized him from a poster.

THREE FREEPORT FACTORIES ARE CLOSED BY FLOOD

Freeport, Ill., March 8.—[Special.]—Lowland residents were driven from their homes and three factories here closed today by week-end floods along the Pecatonica river, the second in two weeks. Fifty families fled from homes on the east side of the city as the rain swollen stream went over its banks.

High water forced the Stover Engine company, the Lena Casket concern and the Inter-City Paper Box company to move machinery and supplies. The rise of the water was accentuated by the dynamiting of ice jams on the Pecatonica's Wisconsin tributaries.

Considerable damage was caused to roads and bridges in northern Illinois. Fifty feet of pavement was washed out at a bridge approach on route 82, north of Geneseo. Among other roads closed were U. S. route 20 east and west of Freeport, route 2 between Oregon and Dixon, and the road from Shirland to Harrison.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S ASSUMPTIONS.

Freed of its rhetoric, the President's address at the Victory dinner at Washington presents the following argument in defense of his plan to add six justices to the Supreme court:

> I cannot wait for a constitutional amendment. Unrest is abroad in the world. The Supreme court as now constituted will probably invalidate every measure I propose to promote the welfare of the least fortunate third of the population. The court must not be allowed to invalidate my program for agriculture and industry because there is every reason to expect a revolution in this country and only these laws can certainly avert it. To save democracy in America and at the same time to save the country from flood and soil erosion I must be permitted to appoint six judges who can be relied upon to indorse all I wish to do.

The conclusion may be a fair one if the assumptions on which it is based are fair. Let us examine them.

Let us start with the natural disasters of which the President spoke, the floods and the dust storms. What is stopping the President today from attacking these problems as thoroughly as he wishes? Certainly not the Supreme court. He can build all the control works on all the navigable rivers he wants to. He can spend all he wants for the construction of dams and reservoirs in the headwaters. He can employ CCC boys and WPA workers at the task. Congress can appropriate for these purposes directly or can offer inducements to states and localities to join. And the same is true, of course, of anything he may wish to do to prevent destructive dust storms. No one is appealing to the court against the present soil conservation scheme and there is no particular reason to expect that if such an appeal were made it would succeed.

Mr. Roosevelt does not need his six handpicked judges to save the nation from destructive flood and wind. The six new judges can add little if anything to the present powers of the federal government to deal with these problems.

Mr. Roosevelt says there is also an emergency calling for instant action for the relief of farmers. On the day he spoke wheat for delivery in May was selling at better than $1.33 a bushel and cotton at more than 13½ cents a pound. Corn was bringing $1.06. Restrictions on plantings have been abandoned, if we read Mr. Wallace's utterances aright, because there is no longer any accumulation of surpluses to depress the markets. The so-called parity prices have been reached.

Many citizens believe that federal regulation of agricultural production is desirable and even necessary, but certainly there is at the moment no agricultural crisis calling for a revolutionary change in the form of our government without referring the question to the people. It took only nine months to ratify the prohibition repeal amendment.

Nor is there any such crisis facing industry and its workers. With only nine judges on the bench, the trend of wages is clearly upward. More men and women are working full time. Pay rolls are up. Living costs are also rising, unfortunately, but there is plenty of reason for thinking that the policies of the administration itself, with which the court did not and will not interfere, must bear a large share of the responsibility for the falling value of the dollar. There is much industrial unrest, to which Mr. Roosevelt referred, but here, again, he cannot avoid all responsibility for the events which disturb him; he could allay unrest by doing less to encourage it. In any event there is no evidence to support and plenty to disprove the assertion that the employed workmen of this country are in a revolutionary mood.

The President is on somewhat firmer ground when he pleads for a betterment of the conditions of life of the least prosperous third of the nation's population, but these people—most of them in the rural south—do not present a revolutionary menace. A great deal should, and indeed must, be done for these people, not only in their own interest but in the interest of all the rest of the population, but it is nonsense to pretend that this work of rehabilitation can be accomplished in less than decades. Education must attack their abysmal ignorance. New occupations and new places of residence will have to be found for hundreds of thousands of families. The productivity of the nation's industries must be increased far beyond its present capacity to provide goods before a decent standard of living will be obtained for such as the share croppers.

No one today knows how to meet the problem of these really forgotten men and women; to date the administration by its enforced acreage reductions has succeeded only in throwing something like a million tenant farmers and share croppers' families on relief.

No plan for relieving these unfortunates has been presented to the Supreme court, much less turned down. The only agency of government which has sought to help them is the Resettlement administration and it has not been balked at any point by the Supreme court. The failure must be explained on other grounds. Mr. Roosevelt talks as if the court had prevented him from promoting the welfare of the people in backward rural areas; the truth is, he has no matured plan for relieving these unfortunates. He is not to be blamed for lacking one. The problem is a tremendous one, but until a solution has been put forward it is idle to pretend that the court is blocking it.

Mr. Roosevelt mentioned, also, his desire to improve the housing of those now dwelling in urban slums. The objective is above criticism, but the Supreme court is not acting as a bar to its realization. There is scarcely a large city in the land which has not one or more of the government's large scale housing developments under construction. There are two or three of them in Chicago nearing completion. Obviously it is not imperative that six new judges be appointed at once to enable the government to construct houses if it wants to. It is constructing them now.

That leaves little of Mr. Roosevelt's argument except his observation that the world is moving toward dictatorship and that to preserve democracy we must remove the sources of unrest. That may be true, but it is a strange logic, indeed, which would prevent the coming of a dictatorship by creating one. The essence of dictatorship in Germany, Russia, Italy, or anywhere else is the intrusting of all the powers of government—legislative, executive, and judicial—to one man. That is what Mr. Roosevelt's plan for six more judges is intended to accomplish.

GERMANY'S BOOTSTRAP FINANCES.

The German government filed a registration statement with the securities and exchange commission last September, covering a new issue of bonds designed for American investors.

The purpose of such a statement is to inform investors of the purpose of the issue and the financial condition of the borrower. An important part of any such statement, whether filed by a government or an individual, is the borrower's existing debt. The German statement listed governmental floating and funded debts exceeding fourteen and a half billion reichsmarks.

The SEC officials asked the German agents if they hadn't forgotten something. The agents said they hadn't. The SEC officials produced a statement by a semi-official German bureau listing what appeared to be additional obligations aggregating five billion reichsmarks. These obligations consisted of short term paper issued to anticipate taxes or to finance interest and reëmployment subsidies, highway construction and rearmament.

The agents hastened to explain that these were not debts, but "future short term obligations." They weren't debts, they insisted, because they aren't due yet. They refused to include them in the registration statement.

The SEC decided that, whether the German government considered them debts or not, American investors should be told about them, so the commission told them at some length, the other day. It added a warning that the five billion total of "future short term obligations" was as of June 30, 1935, and that there is reason to believe that the total has increased substantially since then.

There could be little better illustration of the tremendous internal strain which Hitler's program has placed on Germany's financial structure, and the tortuous financial logic which that strain has forced on the Germans, than this argument that debts are not debts because they are not yet due. The purpose for which the bonds are issued is equally illustrative of what that program has done to Germany's external credit.

The German government is barred by the Johnson act from selling new securities to the American public, because it is in default on debts to the United States government. The present issue is not to be sold. It will be offered to American holders of German provincial, municipal and corporate bonds which have defaulted on interest payments. They defaulted because the German government seized the payments. The new bonds, offered in exchange for the defaulted interest coupons, will pay nothing before 1946.

The Germans fail to pay their debts. They then seek to cure the default with a new debt. That debt will be paid after nine years, if Germany reforms the practices which destroyed her credit and ability to pay in the first place, and if the country doesn't go to war in the meantime.

The SEC points out that it doesn't pass on the value of issues registered with it, but only undertakes to see that investors know what they are getting. It adds, in effect, that it approved the registration statement only because the bonds appear to be the only thing of any value which American investors can get for their defaulted coupons.

A nation cannot lift itself by its bootstraps any more than an individual can, although the illusion of ascent may persist longer with the nation than with the individual. It is hard to see how a financial system so badly cracked by mere preparation for war can stand the vastly greater strain of war itself. But that consideration does not seem to stop Germany's preparations. Foreign wars have always been the last resort of dictators whose domestic policies fail.

Editorial of the Day

REVOLT OF THE WALL-EYED.

[Washington Post.]

A department store, advertising a batch of incidental crockery, extols some Mexican bowls and jugs for their "pleasant peasant irregularities." The phrase is provocative.

A premium is here placed on deviation from the norm. It is nothing like the bulge put on tall pillars to create an illusion of straightness that perspective would otherwise destroy. Nor is it the sort of irregularity that distinguishes an oil from a photograph. No, it is simply an unevenness of line, probably lamented by the peon potter who made it. Yet the managers of a department store, which contains a floor full of perfectly molded dishes and pitchers, place a luxury price on these faulty pieces.

The store managers are no fools. They know their public. They detect the common yerning for a respite from perfection. The world today is too finely tooled. Never a curve, never a line that has not been planed to micrometer measure. Roads must run straight, office buildings must be symmetrical, everything must be streamlined. Even a Jefferson memorial must be set squarely on an axis. That may mean ripping up Washington, but what of it?

Enough is too much. The straight edge and protractor have begun to chafe; too much precision is worse than none. Thus, battered antiques; thus, shorts, and slacks, and camping trips; thus, Sunday mornings with the paper littered about the floor; thus, Mexican jugs, worth a few centavos, at a dollar.

SIR: The h. c. of l. is a nightmare. Only the other night I dreamed that although I wore my new shoes only a couple of days the lether heels wore down. And it wasn't much comfort to wake up and reflect that the dream had to be a phony, as my shoes have rubber heels. Ynot.

THIS STRANGE geoid of ours is becoming topsier and turvier, turn after turn. To prove it W. T. M. forwards a headline from the St. Louis Post-Dispatch asserting, "American Loco Shows First Profit in 7 Yrs." All you have to do to perfect this is to insert a semi-colon after the second word.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

Byron Cain, of O. P. Curran Jr., Inc., a few weeks ago became a father again. Having partially recuperated he is leaving shortly for Hot Springs to complete the job.

TURNING INTO the drive the other evening, we noted the soft gray smoke that thin-threaded upward from our gas fueled heating system. We less practical ones called it lovely, but Father, who signs the checks, said sadly: "Yes, pennies to heaven." L. H. C.

The peg-top trousers came and went as quickly as you please,
And pinch-back coats but lasted for a spell,
The old red flannel underwear that used to itch like fleas
Went down into its grave without a knell;
Pajamas have usurped the place that nightgowns used to hold
And shorts may crowd out B. V. D.'s, perchance,
But though the world gets wiser every day as it grows old
The babies still are wearing three-point pants.

The story of the bustle sounds like a fictitious tale,
And women laugh when reading of it now;
Like the departed mustache-cup and bootjack of the male
Long sleeves have disappeared from gowns—and how!
The puffs, the rats, and switches that our grandmas used to wear
In the old days of fable and romance
Are gone, but it is still the style for every latest heir
To dress up in the old three-corner pants.

SLAP AT SUBURBIA.

Turn, sir, your vagrant thoughts to my problem. I am striving to find a suburb to settle in; one in which the people are reasonably friendly, average in their respect for law and not more goofy in their habits than Chicagoans. You needn't mention Winnetka, where they have the strange notion that their kids are smarter than those in—for example—Cicero, and give them a strange hodge-podge of bookless learning that augments the content of snobbishness their parents endowed them with. Nor Evanston and Wilmette (I lived on the border line), where the hands go up in horror at the thought of a tavern and everybody has a cellar full of bum gin. Nor any other N. S. suburb, because a cash customer in the stores has to pay much too much for everything so the merchant can fritter away 15 per cent in bad accounts. Lay off Oak Park, where the local Cabots won't speak even to the Lowells—and I have my doubts about God. And don't mention Melrose Park, where you'll get shot for anything or nothing. Isn't there, anywhere in Cook county, an accessible city or village as pleasant to live in as (let us say) Oskaloosa or Herrin? The First Tulip.

L. B. C. must have been using mental telepathy. How could he have known that my grand party last night was to end in a riot, with the guests all going home mad over how to pronounce hors d'œuvres? And I had a lovely prize for the one who could do it best. . . . But, one thing, they all voted unanimously that the delectable tidbits I made were marvelous (served with pride and a pony). Read and judge if they were, as L. B. C. intimates, horrors: One tiny gherkin, one deviled egg, one hunk salami and one stuffed olive, impaled on a wood pin and stuck in a nice big grapefruit. . . . Does that sound hard to swallow? But everybody choked on that devil of a word, and here's how it sounded: "Hell divers, horse overs, horned toads, horse dusters, and horse deferrers." Please tell us how you pronounce hors d'œuvres, and the one who was closest will get the prize.

THE STARRY THRONG.

When gleams of distant yellow lamps make blobs
Like amber, glowing; when a soft wind sobs
And sounds among the tree-tops, and like white
Nuns hidden by a shadowy veil, the stars
Move on in silence and may not be seen.
The moon, their splendid temple, lies serene
Beyond the burning beauty of red Mars
And brilliant Jupiter. While hidden by
Earth's misty blanket splendors pass, to fall
Or rise, unseen and beautiful; yet all
My vision holds is clouded, rain-filled sky
And near, a bowl of tulips—while the long

FRACTURE PRECAUTIONS.

(Part I.)

EVERY now and then some one will lament the fact that bones are so brittle, so likely to break. "If they could only have been made of steel how much trouble we would have been spared," is heard from time to time. But would we? At the outset we would be obliged to substitute the blacksmith shop for the hospital and no metallic alloy could withstand the "weathering" required of the bony skeleton. The analogy could be carried much further. No system of rubber tubes could possibly approach in efficiency the blood vessels and what a mess some designer would get into in an attempt to fabricate a smoothly functioning liver.

All things considered we may well be content with the Lord's plan for—after all—the human body represents a remarkable piece of engineering. Movements are subject to delicate control. The hand, for example, can execute maneuvers so accurately and precisely as to baffle the eye—even the understanding. But what formless, jellylike masses we would be were it not for our firm, rigid, stonelike supports with their careful adjustments for stresses and strains.

Just as muscles may be torn, so bones will break, and when such an event occurs it behooves us to guard the injury against further damage by proper protecting devices called splints.

Why are precautions necessary? In the first place breaks are rarely clean. If a twisting force has been applied the ends of the fragments are jagged and are quite likely to tear nerves, blood vessels, or muscles if movements are permitted. This is the reason why every one with a suspected bone injury should be handled gently. Sometimes it is wise to curb one's first impulse to pick up an injured person and carry him to safety. In so doing a fragment of bone may be forced through the skin, thus adding a serious complication—bacterial infection.

Before we learned how to manage these "compound" fractures with sterile technique deaths were common. Even today skilled care is required in every seemingly minor break.

It is desirable always to summon a skilled physician and his responsibility begins with arrival. But much that is helpful can be accomplished before he appears upon the scene. Every one, therefore, should understand the cardinal principles of accident management. The rules are simple and thousands of lives will be saved each year if first aid can be applied intelligently. The following points may be kept in mind:

1. Do not pick up a disabled person and bundle him hurriedly into a conveyance. An unimportant injury may thus be converted into one of serious character. This rule should be observed more strictly if the victim is unconscious. The gentlest handling is demanded.
2. Do not apply chemical antiseptics to cut or broken areas. Clean the parts with soap and water only. Warm, boiled water with almost any type of soap may be used.
3. Allow the air free access to torn tissues. The areas may be covered with clean gauze but not with adhesive tape or any substance that will "seal in" bacteria.
4. If a stimulant is needed and the patient can swallow, hot coffee is better than brandy.
5. Keep the patient warm.
6. If a fracture is suspected a cane, a ruler, or any rigid object may be bound to the limb. Clothing need not be removed. The objective is to immobilize the part.
7. Transport the victim to the nearest hospital.

A week or so ago I paused at the scene of an accident. Two cars had collided and one of the passengers was cut badly about the head. Another had suffered what appeared to be a fracture of the right leg. I was delighted to observe that a lad of about 15—a Boy Scout—had borrowed a cane from one of the bystanders and had fastened this improvised splint securely—with handkerchiefs for tie material. A necktie was holding a clean handkerchief in place on the head wounds and hemorrhage—at first profuse—had stopped. When the physician who had been summoned arrived both patients were ready to be taken to a hospital.

Tomorrow another complication of wounds and broken bones will be discussed.

MYASTHENIA GRAVIS.

Miss M. P. writes: I have had myasthenia gravis since I was 13. I am now 30. As a child the only manifestation of the disease was a crippled right arm and leg which did not bother me much as I acquired many makeshifts of action to help myself get around. As nearly as I can remember, by the time I was 21 it had spread to the left side. When I was almost 23 I entered high school and worked my way through. The strain of working and studying was too much for me and greatly accelerated the progress of the disease.

Up to this time I did not know what was wrong and when I did get a diagnosis it was too late for recovery. In the past two years I have grown worse. I had to make such superhuman efforts if I walked more than a block that I finally had to hold on to some one and drag myself along. I took ephedrine for six months but it did not help. For the past two months I have been taking a pound a month of glycocoll and I am much improved. I have lost the stiffness and aching across the hips, I can use my feet and legs better, and I feel stronger in general.

REPLY.

You have made a heroic fight. Glycocoll is exceedingly helpful, but a considerable quantity must be taken in order to get beneficial results. The Mayo clinic has employed this drug with much success. More recently good effects have followed the use of prostigmin, as mentioned in my last article on myasthenia gravis. This must be prescribed by your physician.

KNEES CRACK.

A. C. R. writes: I am 42 years old and in exceptionally good health. However, on climbing stairs my knees crack and my shoulder bones snap occasionally. What causes this? Should I take cod liver oil or use a sun lamp?

REPLY.

Both sunlight and cod liver oil will be helpful. The chances are that the secretion of synovial fluid [lubricating fluid] in the joints is somewhat deficient. Arthritis or earlier rheumatism may be responsible.

20 Years Ago Today

MARCH 9, 1917.

WASHINGTON.—The senate adopted a cloture rule by a vote of 76 to 3 after one of the most acrimonious debates in its history. Senator Sherman of Illinois, who voted against cloture, excoriated President Wilson for his statement assailing congress in which, Sherman said, "a portion of the truth was deliberately omitted to arouse greater resentment against the few senators who stood against the armed neutrality bill."

NEW YORK.—A special federal grand jury was reported to have been given evidence designed to show that a German chemist and a Hindu physician received more than $60,000 from Wolf von Igel, a member of the staf of Count von Bernstorff, former German ambassador in the United States, with which to foment a rebellion in India.

WASHINGTON.—The form of cloture expressly approved by the President having been established by the senate, Mr. Wilson will now seek advice from house members regarding the call of an extra session of congress to pass his armed neutrality measure.

CHICAGO. — Detective Sergeants James J. Kane and Edward A. McCormick were suspended from the police force on charges of attempting to blackmail W. W. Fowler, railway supply broker, on alleged Mann act evidence. Matters were brought to a climax by a raid by federal agents on a north side apartment.

YONKERS, N. Y. — Numbering among its membership several millionaires, the Westchester county committee of public safety has been organized here "to protect homes in case of war, to bring the county to the highest degree of productivity for war purposes, and to supply the army and navy with every available eligible man."

LONDON.—It is now possible to give some particulars of the fate of the British and Indian troops under Gen. Townshend, who were captured at Kut. They have been driven from Mesopotamia to Anatolia, a distance of nearly 1,000 miles, and are in a terrible plight. At a few spots they have come into contact with American consuls and missionaries who helped them to the best of their ability.

PARIS.—Willis Haviland, formerly of Chicago, and Ronald Hoskir, American aviators, flying for France, escaped a trap set by German planes over Roye. The Americans were fighting two enemy ships when three more dropped down on them, forcing them to dive within 5,000 feet of the ground where German anti aircraft guns riddled their machines with shrapnel.

DIVORCE PROCEEDINGS.

Chicago, March 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Could you please tell me just how long a woman has to live in Chicago before she can start separate maintenance or divorce? My husband is in Michigan; my children are in Indiana and I'm working and [2] have lived in Chicago for the past four months.

3. Can a man be made to support his children if one is not separated by law?

F. M. N.

1. One year's previous residence in the state is required, but no length of previous residence in the city is required.
2. You do not tell us how long you have lived in this state.
3. Yes. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

DOWER INTEREST.

Chicago, March 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I want to know [1] if my husband has to sign a deed of property when it is in my name if I want to sell the property.

2. Can I sell without him signing any papers or deed here in Chicago? M. E.

1. No, he does not. He has a dower interest and can name arbitrarily the terms on which he is willing to release that interest.
2. No, in the sense that your conveyance without his signature would be subject to the dower interest. Most purchasers would not be willing to take such a title.

TAXING REAL ESTATE INCOME.

Chicago, March 3.—Mr. Roy West, in his letter concerning real estate taxes, stressed the advisability of appraising real estate on the basis of income rather than on the basis of reproduction costs minus age depreciation.

The idea may be a practical one and is certainly desirable in a county where income from real property is more or less static, and where there are so few buildings that auditing the income could be done easily. But in Cook county, after exhaustive research, Mr. Clark, the county assessor, found it more practical to evaluate buildings on the basis of reproduction costs than on any other basis. Because building income fluctuates, depending on such factors as location, transportation, industrial movements, etc., it is easily seen that it would take a large corps of auditors to check on the income—or lack of it—of buildings.

Reproduction cost, based on labor and material prices, is a factor easily computed and not given to wide fluctuation. Such a constant, though it may work injustice in isolated instances, is most desirable as it works for the greatest good for the greatest number of people. Gold Coast or Goose Island, reproduction costs are the same.

Most property owners value their holdings at a higher price than the valuation as shown by the assessor's office.

The trouble, Mr. West, lies in the tax rate, which, computed with the assessed valuation, determines the ultimate amount of the tax bill. The tax rate is determined by the needs of the various departments in the city, county and state. These needs, and the money to satisfy them, vary from year to year, whereas the assessed valuation remains the same for four years, that is, until another quadrennial appraisal is made.

The efforts of the assessor to lower taxes by lowering the valuations usually are nullified by a boost in the tax rate.

DEFENSE OF WPA.

Berwyn, Ill., March 1.—The statement that "it is all right to make work for the unemployed" is the only redeeming feature of an unkind letter signed C. M. H., which ends by comparing WPA workmen to inmates of Dunning. It is unfortunate that C. M. H. is not more intimately acquainted with facts that are available to any one interested in a rational evaluation of work being done through the WPA. Let him visit Chicago's parks and see the valuable work being done in providing vast communities with constructive leisure time activity, thus minimizing juvenile delinquency and crime; or the sites at which workers are building playgrounds and renovating hazardous streets, demolishing obsolete buildings that are a menace to Chicago's good health, and treating rat infested premises by systematic extermination. Barring isolated instances, WPA employment has definitly increased workers' abilities as prospective private employés. They work hard and are proud of their activity. Let me take you on a tour, C. M. H. J. C. S.

MINORITIES IMPERILED.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 25.—There can be no compromise on the President's judiciary bill in so far as it affects the personnel of the Supreme court. We, the people, must defeat it unreservedly; smash it completely. We much crush this embryonic cancer of dictatorship.

I presume most every one knows the congress has power to fix the number of judges; but I think every one will agree that that power should not be used to satisfy the insidious ambitions of any executive who dotes on class legislation. And who would dare gainsay the possibility of this class legislation developing into a maniacal hatred, as it has in other countries? Let the Catholic, the Jew, the Negro digest that unpleasant thought. All that is necessary for such a thing to come to pass is the right number of justices on the Supreme court who might find such legislation constitutional. Would fifteen? Perhaps. Perhaps not. Then put on a few more. Then there might be a bill against property rights.

Every American citizen must make this a personal issue. Write your senator, your congressman. He wants to know how you stand on this momentous issue. Remember you have no right to vote on it even though it directly touches every one of you. MARTIN M. COHEN.

WORKING CONDITIONS.

Chicago, March 5.—Mayor Kelly recommends a provision in the proposed traction ordinance for a pension for the traction companies' employés. First, I would suggest that we have working conditions which would permit us to arrive at an age where we could receive and enjoy a pension. The traction employés—motormen, conductors, and trainmen—are the only class of employés in the United States that do not have 30 minutes or more for a lunch period.

F. E. L.

HE'S NOT ALARMED.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Why don't you give a really unbiased presentation of the Supreme court issue?

The same old hobgoblins and red herrings [which still smell from last fall] are being dragged out again to save our country.

Don't think also that the public opinion polls mean anything? Remember that last fall's forecasts and predictions were but a straw against the wind. These present polls will also be gone with the wind. NORMAN GLICK.

SHE SEES NO DANGER.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Your editorial, "A Packed Supreme Court," of this morning's issue reminds me of the old maid who sat weeping bitterly, and when asked why she was crying replied, "O I was just thinking; what if I had married and had a little child and it had fallen down a well." I. SHOULDSNIKKER.

NOT A BAD IDEA.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—Mr. Editor, can't you print some pictures of the Dionne quints once in a while? You know the women are dippy about the girls.

...You and your Tiredness

Some of them are taking "the cure" at the Spa—always a wise and beneficial celebration of winter's passing. Some of them are struggling, happily, to attain par on one of the golf courses. Some of them are riding the trails. All of them appear to be happy and content.

Neither of those things seems hard to attain when people are living the luxurious life of THE HOMESTEAD—where a way of life, a pattern for one's days, has been perfected that isn't quite like anything else, anywhere.

BLASTS FRENCH MOVE TO FLOAT U. S. ARMS LOAN

Borah Blocks Scheme as Violation of Law.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 8.—[Special.]—The French government's scheme, aided by the Roosevelt administration, to float the French armament bonds in the United States contrary to the provisions of the Johnson act was blown out of water today by a five minute speech Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho] made in the senate.

The Johnson act prohibits the sale in the United States of the securities of a government that is in default of its obligations to the American government. France is in default in payment of instalments on her war debt to the United States.

Senator Borah merely called public attention to the fact that not only would the scheme violate the Johnson act but its perpetrators would be subject to prosecution for conspiracy to violate a United States law.

Morgenthau Holds Parley.

Being approached by the French government, Secretary of the Treasury Henry A. Morgenthau Jr. replied that he perceived "objections," in view of the Johnson act, to the French plan to designate an American banking house to handle American investment in the loan.

Notwithstanding this action, Mr. Morgenthau went to capitol hill this afternoon and conferred with Democratic leaders on the French request. The purpose of the conference was to determine whether it would be possible to let down the bars against American investment in the loan.

The conference was arranged this morning. Then came Borah's speech soon after the senate met at noon. The speech startled administration officials and convinced all hands that the jig was up. So all the conference did was to approve Mr. Morgenthau's cablegram to the French government.

Robinson Gives Statement.

As spokesman for the conference Senator Robinson made this statement:

"The only question submitted to any branch of our government by the French authorities was the following:

"'Would the United States authorities have any objection if the French government named some bank or firm in New York, such as J. P. Morgan & Co., to act as the agent in the United States for the purpose of paying coupons of the proposed loan in cases where payment is requested in dollars?'

"That question was sent from Paris at 8 p. m., March 5. At 3:45 p. m. Saturday, March 6, the secretary of the treasury delivered to the French ambassador for transmission the following reply:

"'While the treasury cannot, of course, explain either its approval or disapproval of the proposal of the French government to issue a loan payable in either francs, pounds, or dollars at the option of the holder, nevertheless, in response to your specific inquiry and in view of American legislation, it does envisage objections to the appointment of an agent in New York for the purpose of making such payments in dollars.

"'Secretary Morgenthau appreciates the coöperative attitude of Minister Auriol in informing him of the financial program of the French government and hopes that the new loan will be a great success.'"

Borah Reads Johnson Act.

Senator Borah prefaced his remarks in the senate by reading the Johnson act.

"I will avail myself of the opportunity to comment on a matter which I regard as of importance," the senator said. "According to a Paris press dispatch, of which I was informed, France is to float what she calls a defense loan of $1,000,000,000 on Wednesday, and the problem is to avoid the Johnson act.

"It is proposed, according to the press dispatch, that they will accept purchases from American citizens payable in United States currency, with the agreement to repay in the same currency, and it is thought, it seems, by certain bankers in the United States and in France, that the Johnson act can be avoided by having the transaction take place in the country where the bonds are floated.

Warns of Violation.

"I desire to say that they are taking some risk in that kind of conspiracy. Of course, France comes within the purview of the statute; she is in default, not only as to principal but as to the interest upon her obligations to the United States.

"The plan seems to be, so far as can be gathered from the meager facts which we have, to evade the statute by having the purchases take place and the transaction consummated in France, but I call attention to the fact that in addition to the statute which I have read we have a statute making punishable the offense of conspiring to violate the law of the United States and also a statute punishing accessories before the fact and accessories after the fact in violation of the United States law; and I think it is a rather dangerous road that these bankers are pointing out to the investors of the United States in trying to purchase this so-called defense loan, which is a war loan and nothing else."

JAPANESE SEEK BRITISH AID IN EXPLOITING CHINA

New Foreign Chief Bares Nation's Policy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, March 8.—Japan intends to coöperate with Great Britain in China and stands ready to deal with the Nanking government on a basis of equality.

This policy was announced today in the lower house of the diet [parliament] by Foreign Minister Naotake Sato, former ambassador to France, in his inaugural address. Sato sought to relieve the anxiety of other world powers, particularly Britain, over Japanese developments in North China.

Seeks Economic Expansion.

"Japan has no territorial ambitions in China," the foreign minister said. "It is wrong for one nation to possess a sense of superiority over another. China's wish for equality should be duly considered. I wish to forget all past differences and proceed with mutual good will. Japan respects Chinese interests and wishes to shake hands with them economically. That is the only way Japan can expand there.

"Recently Japan has clashed with British economic and trade interests in China. I do not believe it is good policy to cause countries possessing interests in China to entertain anxiety. It will be better to coöperate with them and follow a peaceful policy."

Sato announced he hopes to improve relations with soviet Russia.

"What makes diplomatic relations with the soviet union so difficult is the existence of the communist internationale," he said. "The soviet government states it has no relations with the comintern, and if this is true soviet relations not only with Japan but with other nations ought to become brighter and better."

Record Budget Approved.

Earlier Japan's all time record budget of 2,813,930,000 yen [about $802,000,000] was approved by the lower house. The budget went to the upper house where debate starts tomorrow morning. Passage by the upper house within two weeks is regarded as a foregone conclusion.

Before giving approval, speakers in the lower house attacked government policy and strongly opposed raising taxes. Minister of Finance Toyotaro Yuki's policy was assailed by a speaker who declared it is aimed at replenishing the munitions industry.

Fears Rise in Prices.

Masanori Katsu, spokesman for the Minseito [majority] party, expressed strong dissatisfaction with the budget, but said he approves it in view of the existing situation. He voiced a fear there will be a sudden rise of commodity prices and pleaded that the government not do anything to peril the people through increased tax burdens.

Yoshiharu Yoshiya of the Tohokai party insisted that the livelihood of the people must be given as much consideration as replenishment of munitions, warships and airplanes and other weapons of war. He charged the cabinet lacks a definite policy in this direction and cried, "We cannot forgive the government for the mistakes it made."

Jacobson, New WPA Chief Deputy, Takes Over His Job

Lawrence H. Jacobson, newly appointed chief deputy Works Progress administrator for Illinois, assumed his new duties yesterday in the WPA offices in the Merchandise Mart building. The appointment was announced last Saturday by Charles E. Miner, state WPA administrator. Mr. Jacobson lives at 606 Lake street, Evanston. Until yesterday he was WPA regional engineer for Illinois, Missouri, and Indiana.

BOY GETS AROUND ON BICYCLE; ROBS 3 PLACES IN DAY

Robert Kenneth Grantham, 14 years old, left his home at 6556 Lawrence avenue, at 1 o'clock Sunday morning, riding toward the northern suburbs on his bicycle. At 1 a.m. yesterday Chief of Police Eugene Spaid of Lake Bluff arrested Robert on suspicion.

In the boy's pockets, Chief Spaid found $250, six watches, seven necklaces, one gold ring, several bank books, ten 25 ride bus tickets, and 40 round trip tickets from Lake Forest to Chicago on the Milwaukee railroad.

In the 24 hours since leaving home, Robert admitted looting a farm house west of Glencoe, a Lake Forest lunchroom, and the Milwaukee railroad depot at Lake Forest. Robert said he stole the bicycle two years ago in Milwaukee, but that a friend kept it for him until he was released from the Wauwatosa, Wis., school for boys three months ago.

CISTERN VICTIM'S HUSBAND AGREES TO TAKE LIE TEST

Louis Cody, whose wife was found drowned Saturday in a cistern on her father's farm northwest of Peotone, last night voluntarily agreed to submit to a lie detector test. James E. Burke, state's attorney of Will county explained, however, that no suspicion attached to the husband and the test would be merely an experiment. The prosecutor said he expected to arrange the test for this evening in Dr. Leonarde Keeler's Northwestern university laboratories of scientific crime detection. Cody's wife, Louella, 25 years old, had been worrying over ill health. The inquest is set for 10:30 a .m. today in the town hall of Green Gardens, northwest of Peotone.

JAPAN DEMANDS A WORLD OUTLET FOR POPULATION

Also Asks Nations to End Export Barriers.

GENEVA, March 8.—(AP)—Japan demanded tonight the right to send her excess population to all undeveloped territories of the earth.

Addressing the league of nations conference, which is studying the problem of more equitable distribution of raw materials to all nations, Delegate Yuko Shudo complained foreign nations were closed to emigrants from crowded Japan.

An essential question for Japan, he said, is that of industrial raw materials because his nation possesses only raw silk in that category. Further, he asserted, export restrictions have hampered a continued supply of materials for industry.

German Theory Challenged.

"Countries like Japan, being apprehensive, seek to save themselves by self-sufficiency, although we realize such attempts disturb world economy," he said.

He urged abolishment of all restrictions on export of raw materials and contended that immigration from all countries and by all races into undeveloped countries must be permitted.

Great Britain, through Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, its chief economic adviser, sought to demolish the German theory that possession of colonies solves the problem of raw materials.

In certain cases, Sir Frederick said, Britain has paid more for colonial supplies than the price obtaining in the world market.

Calls Food More Vital.

He argued that food supplies were more vital to a nation than industrial recources, and announced that Britain was ready to encourage production within its colonial dependencies of raw materials desired by consumers throughout the world.

"But it would be difficult for my government to go further," he cautioned, in what some regarded as an allusion to the question of returning war-lost colonies to Germany.

The question of raw materials cannot be settled by any transfers of territory, the British delegate averred, "even if it were decided to transfer whole continents."

Those in favor of installing the voting machine system cast 288 votes, with 22 opposed. Three hundred and eight members approved a water filtration system for the city, while six voted "no."

SMALLER BRIDGE IN OUTER DRIVE PROJECT TESTED

The Ogden slip bridge, one of the two spans under construction on the outer drive improvement at the mouth of the Chicago river, was lowered for the first time yesterday as an operation test. Two electric motors used 40 horse power of their 150 horse power capacity output in lowering and raising the 1,000 ton leaf that crosses 70 feet of water.

This span, the smaller of the two under construction, will be floored with concrete in the next 30 days. Frank A. Randall, consulting bridge engineer for the Chicago park district, said it will be completed before Labor Day. The companion bridge over the Chicago river will be ready for trafic in September or November.

Seagram's FINE WHISKIES SINCE 1857

FOLLOW THESE SIMPLE RULES AND . . .

THE MIDDLE YEARS will be kind to you

MENTAL FUNCTIONING UNAFFECTED BY CROWNS

Records for John F. Rolph show that his mental functioning and muscular control were not noticeably affected on days after normal drinking of Crown Whiskies the preceding evening. Mr. Rolph, Harvard graduate, civil engineer, took part in the Seagram-sponsored Adirondack Research at Neodak Lodge, Inlet, N. Y.

Sleep 8 hours. Eat less than you want. Take short rests through the day. Relax before meals . . . If you drink, choose the form of whiskey that is best for you. Use it moderately.

How can you tell which form of whiskey is "best for you"? We offer these facts as a guide: A group of average men recently drank normal amounts of Crown Whiskies under hour-by-hour observation. Next-morning records showed no appreciable after-effects upon mental and muscular reactions, sleep or appetite.

These records of the kindness of fine blended whiskey—5740 of them—are in our files. They represent 41 days, 984 straight hours, of intensive work by a world-famous psychologist.

We invite you to try rich-tasting Crowns, and see how well their moderate use fits in with normal, modern life. Choose them at the bar . . . serve them at home . . . for kindness and taste.

HITLER DICKERS WITH CATHOLICS IN SCHOOL ROW

Compromise Expected by Church Leaders.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 8.—Negotiations among German bishops and the ministry of culture for a compromise in relations between the Roman Catholic church and Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's government have become more active than ever before, it was disclosed today. Influential church circles assert that a compromise on the question of the education of German youths is "in the offing."

The Nazi government has suggested that the Catholic church withdraw its claim to the right of education in cities where 80 per cent of the parents vote in favor of state schools in preference to denominational schools. The Catholics demand they be allowed to keep open a few schools in every city to take care of the children of parents who want them educated under religious guidance.

Paper Criticizes Catholics.

The National Zeitung of Essen, which is considered the mouthpiece of Col. Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, minister of aviation and Hitler's right hand man, published an editorial against "misleading church propaganda." The newspaper insisted that Catholic priests "who publicly present concordat problems to the church community" are violating the concordat the same as Catholics accuse the Nazis of doing.

The editorial concluded with the statement that "the Nazi state will proceed on its way unswervingly until unity of state laws and the party program has been achieved."

"Christ is not the son of God in the biblical sense, and God made Himself manifest to us in Christ in the same way He made Himself manifest in Reichsfuehrer Hitler," former National Vicar Engelke has declared, according to the newspaper Junge Kirche.

Sermon Is Quoted.

The newspaper quoted the Evangelical church bulletin's account of Engelke's sermon, which he delivered in the course of lectures to Nazi German Christians in opening their campaign for the forthcoming Protestant church elections.

"We must give up the Old Testament," the paper quoted Engelke as saying. "Paul and John must also recede into the background. We must reject everything in order that God may create everything anew."

FIGHT U. S. TAX ON KUPPENHEIMER WIDOW'S ESTATE

A petition was filed in Washington yesterday asking the United States board of tax appeals to set aside the entire federal tax of $262,380 imposed on the $1,181,313 estate of the late Mrs. Belle W. Kuppenheimer.

Mrs. Kuppenheimer, who lived in Lake Forest, died Dec. 31, 1935, at Santa Barbara, Cal. She was the widow of Jonas Kuppenheimer, head of the House of Kuppenheimer.

Her son-in-law, Bertram J. Cahn, 257 East Delaware place, filed the petition as an appeal from a finding of the internal revenue department that Mrs. Kuppenheimer's transfer of her property in trust to two daughters, Mrs. Irma B. Cahn and Mrs. Louise K. Stein, was made in anticipation of death and was therefore subject to the federal estate tax. In denying that the transfer was made in view of death, the petition said Mrs. Kuppenheimer had not consulted a physician for 35 years before she died.

MOTHER, UNBORN CHILD PERISH AS PHYSICIAN DIES

Washington, Ind., March 8.—(AP)—Death claimed an 18 year old wife, her unborn child, and her attending physician just as she was about to give birth to the child in a farm home near Shoals today.

Dr. E. E. Long of Shoals, called to assist Dr. Charles F. Hope in the delivery of Mrs. Roy Boyd's first baby, said Dr. Hope and Mrs. Boyd died of heart attacks at about the same time.

"The child could not be born without the aid of forceps," Dr. Long said, "and we were attempting to change the position of the baby when Dr. Hope fell to the floor. I immediately ran around the bed to him. He was dead. I returned to the patient only to find that she, too, had died, and with her the unborn infant."

BUST THAT COLD WIDE OPEN

Don't Merely Check It With Half-Way Measures!

Deal with a cold in earnest. Deal with it in seriousness.

A cold is too fraught with danger to be taken lightly. Many a case of flu and pneumonia has started with nothing more than a "common cold".

Treat a cold with a preparation made for colds and not a "cure-all".

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is your answer to a cold.

It is a cold tablet, made expressly for the treatment of colds and not for all kinds of ailments.

It is internal in effect and it does four important things.

First, it opens the bowels, an important step in overcoming a cold.

Second, it checks the infection in the system, a vital step.

Third, it relieves the headache and fever.

These are the four effects a cold calls for and in Bromo Quinine you get them all in the form of a single tablet.

Bromo Quinine tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain. The sugar-coated are exactly the same as the regular, except that the tablets are coated with sugar for palatability.

Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is safe to take. It has been proven by more than 40 years of use.

When you feel a cold coming on—don't wait—don't procrastinate—but go right to your druggist and get a package of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine.

SQUATTER STAYS PUT AS DEPUTIES TAKE BELONGINGS

For 14 years William J. Slisher, 39 years old, has been a squatter at 130th street and the Calumet river. Yesterday when deputies appeared with a court order to evict him, he refused to move from his hut.

While the deputies removed his belongings from the shack Slisher, who is suffering from heart disease, remained huddled on a cot, covered with two old coats and a blanket. He refused transportation to the county hospital.

The Pullman Land association was granted clear title to the land last September and Judge Joseph Burke of the Superior court signed an eviction order on Oct. 6. Slisher, through his attorneys, N. J. Mackovic and Francis D. McGuire, has an appeal pending in the Supreme court. The land has been condemned by the federal government for the Calumet harbor project.

FASCIST TACTICS MUZZLE BRITISH HOUSE, IS CHARGE

Attack on Baldwin Stirs Storm in Commons.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 8.—Charges that Fascist methods are being injected by the government into parliamentary procedure brought on a small storm in the house of commons tonight when Laborite and Liberal opposition groups accused the government of trying to jam through a bill concerning relief to distressed areas without permitting amendment proposals.

The storm arose over a financial resolution attached to the bill which was up for committee discussion during the day under what is known as "standing order 69." This order can be evoked to get legislative matters through parliament without detailed discussion.

Complains Against Baldwin.

Maj. Clement R. Attlee, Laborite, moved suspension of the order, declaring that all important matters were in the financial resolution or rider and not in the main bill. He complained that Prime Minister Stanley Balwin was "taking away from the house its control over legislation."

Opposition members and even some Conservatives wanted to get a chance to extend the scope of the bill to aid distressed areas, but found that it had been drafted in such a way that their amendments could not be made to the financial resolution because the words "king's recommendation" in it precluded any possible alteration.

Maj. Attlee said to Prime Minister Baldwin: "Our legislation is being framed in detail by civil servants and experts. The only check on the burocratic mind is the minister. This matter is not a party issue but is a vital one for the life of our democratic institutions."

Baldwin replied that he couldn't do anything about it.

Motion Beaten After Clash.

Attlee's motion to suspend "order 69" later was defeated by a vote of 208 to 136, but only after an attack by the veteran statesman, David Lloyd George, and an apparently growing uneasiness in Conservative ranks had wrung a concession from the government.

Lloyd George, assailing the government's "dictatorial attitude," added: "I appeal to the prime minister to give parliament a chance to show it is capable of dealing with this question. The financial resolution was drafted with demoniacal ingenuity to prevent the house from raising a vital issue."

Debate became bitter, but on the strength of a promise by the attorney general that an inquiry would be made the government weathered the storm.

MEXICO EXPECTS BULLFIGHTING TO LURE TOURISTS

MEXICO CITY, March 8.—[Special.]—Mexico's efforts to lure United States tourists to this country, inaugurated with the construction of a highway from the Rio Grande, are to be redoubled during the spring months, and one of the principal attractions will be bull fighting. Travel agents declare Mexico is now the center of that sport, the Spanish arenas having been closed because of the civil war.

Even before the civil war began Spanish matadors were meeting severe competition from Mexican fighters appearing in Spain. The Mexicans were more in demand than the native sons in Madrid, it is claimed.

American tourists and others who have never seen a bull fight usually try to attend one performance, hoping to discover for themselves just why the sport attracts Latins. On this curiosity officials of the Toreo bull ring here are building their plans for a program for the coming season.

"Not another survey?"
"Exactly... and well worth it"

We owe it to all advertisers to keep them fully informed about whatever changes may occur in the Detroit area. Obsolete facts may ruin any advertising campaign—may waste important appropriations. Fresh facts should be vitally important.

AND SO WE HAVE MADE ANOTHER SURVEY. 12,000 homes were visited by Ross Federal, to learn from impartial sources where The Detroit News stands TODAY.

This survey brings forth surprising information upon Detroit—its people and its activities.

Ross Federal proves once more the unshakable position of The Detroit News as leader in this Fourth Market of America. It establishes Detroit as the third city in home ownership and shows The News to have 63½% of Detroit home coverage! And, like previous surveys, it shows conclusively that the circulation of The News is highest where incomes are highest, lowest where incomes are low.

Actor-Writer Gets Surprise in Own Movie

Gregory Ratoff Suspects Tampering with Story.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 8.—[Special.]—Gregory Ratoff, who wrote "Café Metropole," is playing a rôle in it, for he makes his salary by writing, acting, and directing. He looks and talks like a stupid immigrant, but he isn't stupid.

During the making of a scene of "Café Metropole" Ratoff came banging into a set in which Tyronne Power Jr. and Loretta Young, as the young lovers, were at a dining table. Ratoff literally fell in, tripping and tumbling against Helen Westley, whom he knocked flying.

The accident occurred because a prop man had stretched a cable in front of Ratoff—a cable that the actor didn't know was to be there. He picked himself up, noticed that the cameras had been grinding, and glared at everybody.

"That was not in my story," he roared. "Who dared to change my story and make me fall?"

The director, Edward H. Griffith, came up and soothed him. It was only after he assured the Russian that the fall was not intended that Ratoff was appeased.

The hunter who finally gets the cougar that got away from Clark Gable in Kaibab forest, Utah, is going to be surprised. Gable and his hunting companion caught two mountain lions. They tethered them on chains while packing to return to Los Angeles, but a horse scared one of them, whose jump snapped the chain, and the lion sprang to safety in the brush. The next hunter that gets this cougar will find him wearing a dog collar with Clark Gable's name on it.

When Marlene Dietrich applied for her American naturalization papers the story of how she obtained her name was revealed. Born Maria Magdalene von Losch, in Germany, the actress shortened her two given names to one—Marlene. She added on the Dietrich because her father was not keen about an actress in the family.

Terry Walker, former dance band singer, is cast in her biggest movie rôle to date, as the romantic lead with John Howard, in "Mountain Music," which is starring Bob Burns and Martha Raye.

Metro Studio plans a new picture framed around the personality of Tilly Losch, exotic dancer. It will be expanded from a musical number, "The Beggars' Waltz," which was part of the show "The Band Wagon," produced some years ago in New York by Arthur Schwartz and Howard Dietz. Tilly will be featured as a sinuous slum girl from a European city.

Arthur Treacher, who specializes on butler parts, treasures a fan letter whose feminine writer assured him he had more sex appeal than Clark Gable.

Grand National studio has bought screen rights to the magazine character, Wallaby Jim, square shooting, two fisted skipper of a South Sea trading schooner, but the actor to play this envied rôle hasn't been chosen yet. The character was created by Novelist Albert Wetjens.

Dorothy Lamour's mother, Mrs. Carmen Lamour of Chicago, is recuperating from a major operation here. Miss Lamour is the lively brunette who was an elevator girl in a loop department store in Chicago in 1931.

Boris Morros, head of Paramount's music department, has added Igor Stravinsky to the parade of big time composers and conductors he has enticed into movies. After Stravinsky produces the ballet "Petrouchka" here this month, the Russian will stay on to do a screen score for a Paramount picture. Morros previously introduced Leopold Stokowski, Werner Janssen, George Antheil and Frederick Hollander into the movies.

Billy and Bob Mauch, 13 years old, twin actors of "Prince and the Pauper" and other recent films, go into court this week to have their $200 a week contracts with Warner studio legalized. If the contracts run for the seven years named the lads will be drawing $1,250 a week when 20 years old.

When Oscar Straus, composer of "The Chocolate Soldier," arrived to handle music for a coming Bobby Breen picture titled "Make a Wish," he was asked how he figured on adapting the melodious Vienna music for which he is famed to make it fit the New Hampshire story. Straus seemed mildly surprised, and said he hadn't known that the geographical setting of his screen assignment had been changed, but added, "I shall probably surprise the movie people before I am through."

Loretta Young's main confidante is Lucille De Antoine, a French girl who has been her hairdresser for several years. Miss Young takes Miss De Antoine with her to the studio every day, and always asks the latter's reaction to a scene that has been rehersed.

Simone Simon carries a small silver dagger thrust through a green suede belt as a dress accessory. When she pulls the handle of the dagger out it comes with a lipstick on the other end.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

When an opponent doubles partner's opening suit bid of one, he may show a hand as strong or stronger than the opening bid, a fact which must affect the responder's choice of responses.

With strong hands, two or more honor tricks, redouble with distributed strength, and make a jump forcing take-out with a freak.

With moderate hands, one to one and one-half honor tricks, take out in no trump or in a five card suit, depending on the type of hand.

With hands weak in honors but strong distributionally, make a shut-out raise or shut-out bid in a strong rebiddable suit. A double raise in this position shows about five winners and is not a forcing bid.

TODAY'S HAND.

The hand shown below has been causing considerable excitement in New York bridge circles, attaining the status of a "How old is Ann" puzzle. Robert Neville, in his excellent bridge column in a New York newspaper, used the hand as an example of shrewd defensive play. Personally, I feel that the point involved is too obscure to be demonstrably correct except in a double-dummy problem, and therefore recommend that it be treated merely as a bridge curiosity.

It first was brought to my attention by an expert who posed me this question: "Which would you rather be, the declarer in the South position at a three no trump contract, or a defender against that contract?"

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opens the seven of spades, and now imagine that you have wagered that you could choose the position of advantage, namely, declarer or defender. Which would you choose? Cover up what I am about to say before you make your decision.

If you decided that three no trump could not be defeated, you would lose. It can be, but only by a remarkable and, I am afraid, double-dummy defense.

The spade queen goes up on the first trick, and South must let this hold, otherwise East, when he gets on lead with the heart ace, will lead a spade through to West's established suit. Declarer therefore plays the three of spades. Now East continues with the five, and West wins with the ace and returns the ten of spades. At this point East, with clairvoyant shrewdness, discards his ace of hearts! And there you have it!

Declarer never can make three no trump without setting up his fourth heart, and when attempts to do so West takes the lead with the heart jack, and rattles off his spade tricks. If East fails to discard his heart ace, declarer can, of course, set up three heart tricks without giving West, the dangerous hand, the lead.

The thing for you to do, dear reader, is to get hold of some unsuspecting victim who has not read this column, and offer him a wager that he can't choose the right horse!

TODAY'S QUESTION

Question: My partner was declarer at four spades, and I, the dummy, had 100 honors in spades. Do we get credit for the honors?

Answer: Yes.

Nail Biting May Have Emotional Origin in Child

Unhappiness and Fear Are Possible Causes.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS
[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

It fascinates a water lover to walk along a shore after a storm, whether it's been a squall on the lake, or a gale at sea. Such odd things have been washed upon the shore.

Small mental disturbances and great emotional turmoils in children sometimes leave strange things in their wake—I mean they sometimes are accompanied by what seem like the most unrelated behaviors. Biting the finger nails is one of these.

Yesterday we talked about this habit when it is slight and probably not the result of any latent nervousness—and how to cure it. Today we will look at the habit of nail biting from another angle. And this other nail biting is apt to be constant and at least temporarily disfiguring to the hands.

As an instance of the first—a slight disturbance—let me tell you about a small girl whose entire family tried in vain to get her to stop the habit of biting her finger nails. They finally appealed to teacher, who happened to be a friend of the family. She asked them if they would promise to leave it to her. They agreed.

First, she induced them to let the child go to her own kindergarten to get her away from her adoring relatives. There she did not work on the habit itself for a long time. But she made the little girl's family see that she was too much the center of their attention, that she had little self-activity because they tried to entertain her all the time, and that she had not the playthings that would provide her hands with something to do. The little girl was cured of the habit.

A young boy had been a nail biter for years. Painting his nails with bitter medicines and other devices, besides constant reminders, did no good. Without any one ever sensing it, he had been for years deeply unhappy over the constant friction between his father and mother and the occasional departures of his father when things would reach a climax. While this marital trouble never straightened itself out, the family later moved to the country close to relatives of whom it was especially fond; the boy was outdoors a great deal and enjoyed a happy social life among those his own age; and his father came home only at long intervals, so there were fewer quarrels. Everything worked together to stop his brooding and the nail biting ceased.

Other emotional and psychological factors may create conflict, slight or serious, in a child's life. Many symptoms indicate this, nail biting among them. The first thing is to remove the cause.

Aid Church Lecture Series

Mrs. Henry Adams Mosher (standing) and Mrs. Frank H. Woods Jr. are among those in charge of this year's Wednesday evening literary series sponsored by the New England Congregational church. The next lecture of the series will be given tomorrow night at the Fortnightly club, 120 Bellevue place, by the noted Chinese author and lecturer, Dr. Lin Yu Tang. Dr. Lin's subject will be "The Chinese Way of Life."

China Friends Told to Avoid Being Smart

Americans and Chinese both are strongly individualistic and opposed to governmental dictatorship, Dr. Lin Yutang told the American Friends of China at a dinner last evening at the Arts club. Taking "The Chinese Temperament" as his topic, Dr. Lin included American psychology in an amusing series of comparisons, finding individualism to be the chief resemblance between the two peoples.

"The Chinese have a proverb like your saying that a government governs best which governs least," Dr. Lin said. "That is as much our viewpoint as yours, and that is why China will never be a totalitarian state."

For the rest the author of "My Country and My People" finds Americans great hustlers, Chinese great loafers, Americans always in search of perfection, Chinese wedded to the philosophy of "good enough." Americans pay for their efficiency with high blood pressure, and the Chinese with national weakness for their leisureliness, although the leisurely spirit is passing now.

Among those who heard Dr. Lin's advice to live life for its own sake, and above all, not to be too smart, were Mrs. William B. Hale, president of the Friends of China, charming in a black net gown embroidered with tiny bouquets of flowers; Col. George T. Langhorne, the Clifton Utleys, and Robert Kah, Chinese consul general, who sat at the speakers' table.

Maiden Aunts Often Leeches in Family Life

They May Try to Assume Rights of Mother.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Recently, in this department, we considered the subject of maiden aunts who fastened their affection too tenaciously upon nieces and nephews. We spoke of aunts who gave money, presents, and educational lifts to the young relatives, but who felt that this entitled them to the "say" in managing the children's present and future.

At the time, we thought cases such as the one reported were exceptional ones, but from the pile of mail following the case presented we believe the interfering aunties exceed in large numbers the "exceptionals."

One picture is presented by a correspondent and confessed victim of "doting aunts," which carries its own lesson, we believe.

"I married a bachelor, the only one of his family to marry. He has three maiden sisters. For some peculiar reason, they never considered marriage, although one of them, at least, had opportunities. When my family began to appear, one by one, the aunts virtually adopted them, deluging them with gifts, coming to take them out daily to parade them, even keeping them in their home for days at a time. Of course, this was done as a request. But it wasn't long before I saw the spoiling the youngsters were getting, in consequence. Nothing was denied them by the aunts and discipline never was thought of.

"Pretty soon, I began to understand that, as a mother who knew how to raise children, I might be an excellent washwoman in their esteem. I certainly knew nothing about nutrition, about the vitamins the children should have, the way they should be dressed, etc. When they reached school age, a private school for them was the intention of the aunts. Well, I have my own ideas about where my youngsters should go to school, and there was a scene over this. They would pay their way, if I couldn't.

I held fast to my own convictions, and I became stubborn, a woman with no concern about her children's playmates, etc., etc. It's all pretty hard to take from women who have borne no children of their own and feel that from a few books on dietetics and lecture attendance on child raising [which one of the sisters went in for explaining that, of course, I couldn't spare the time], they are better authorities than the parent whose only ambition in life is to give her children the best and the wisest.

"Of course, hard feelings eventually ensued, which leave me now with my brood under my own and their dad's direction. I wish it might have been otherwise. I hate family unpleasantness, but what can a mother do under such circumstances? SANA J."

Studio of George Brush Burns; Loss Is $200,000

Dublin, N. H., March 8.—[Special.]—The studio of George de Forest Brush, painter, was destroyed by fire here today. It contained paintings and drawings and other objects having a total estimated value of about $200,000, not covered by insurance. A fire traveling across dry hay fields set the building ablaze. Only a change in the wind saved Mr. Brush's residence, situated about fifty feet from the studio. Mr. Brush, who is 81, is one of the most widely known of contemporary American artists, being represented in leading museums of this country.

"Camay really helped me to have A Bride Complexion"
SAYS THIS BEAUTIFUL LOUISIANA BRIDE

NEW ORLEANS, LA.
I was proud of my "bride complexion" on my wedding day. And I count on Camay to care for that complexion always. It is my favorite aid to beauty.
Sincerely,
(Signed) CONSUELO M. PECK
(Mrs. Herbert R. Peck, Jr.)
February 4, 1937

OLD New Orleans—famous for lovely women—is the home of this enchanting bride. Blue-eyed, dark-haired, with a skin like rose-petals—her beauty is romantic as her birthplace. She has lived much abroad, studying music in Paris and Berlin. "And wherever I go," she writes, "Camay goes with me. I count on it for complexion care."

A wise as well as a charming lady! Why not let your complexion, too, benefit by Camay's tender care? For Camay's fragrant lather is kind to the most sensitive type of skin. Gently, thoroughly, those millions of tiny Camay bubbles reach down to the dirt-laden pores—to leave your skin cleansed, soothed, refreshed. You can see your skin grow clearer, finer-textured. You can feel the new softness and smoothness that Camay brings you.

No miracle, this—unless it's Camay's extra mildness. For that is one important part of Camay's beauty "magic." Camay has been shown by scientific tests to be definitely, provably milder than all other leading toilet soaps. And how important that fact is in complexion care!

Prove it for yourself. Order half a dozen cakes from your dealer today. The Camay way to beauty is so simple—the price so low. Follow this lovely bride's advice, and do justice to your own complexion.

Bermuda Trips Prove Popular at Eastertide

Chicagoans Enjoy Spring Vacations There.

BY JUDITH CASS.

ALTHOUGH Bermuda is one of those enviable isles which possess a charming year around climate, there is no lovelier time for a visit there than at Easter. The John R. Winterbothams were there for Easter last year and had such a delightful time that they are leaving today for another early spring sojourn on the island. They will stay at Inverurie, across the harbor from Hamilton in Paget, until after April 1.

Next week-end Ralph H. Poole and his daughter, Mrs. James M. Washburn Jr., are sailing to join them, taking with them young John Winterbotham, who will be vacationing from the Berkshire school, and Richard Poole, who will have his vacation from Hotchkiss. The Pooles' younger daughter, Miss Nancy Poole, and her brother, Ralph Poole Jr., are leaving for Florida the 19th. They will spend a fortnight near St. Augustine.

While the Winterbothams are away, Mrs. Ernest H. Poole is coming from New York to be with her mother, the senior Mrs. John R. Winterbotham. She will stay at the junior Winterbothams' house in North State street.

The Roy L. Flannerys [Ann Elizabeth Walsh] also are vacationing in Bermuda. They sailed Saturday to spend ten days there. Her brother, John Paxton Walsh, who is a freshman at Yale, will not be able to join them, for his spring vacation does not begin until the 20th, and so he is planning to visit friends in Washington and Virginia.

Bermuda Popular for Spring College Vacations.

Bermuda is always one of the most popular choices for a spring vacation for eastern college students, and Miss Marjorie Moore, who is at Connecticut college, was planning to go down there with several school friends, but her cousin, Miss Julia Patterson, returned home Saturday after a visit in Pasadena with her grandmother, and she has persuaded Miss Moore to come here for her vacation instead.

Jere Patterson, who has just been elected to Phi Beta Kappa in his junior year at Princeton, is going to Bermuda with a party of eastern friends.

Mrs. William S. Elliott will spend Easter in Jamaica. Mr. Elliott has just returned after a sojourn there with her. The Sterling Mortons are at the same ranch in Jamaica, and so is Mrs. Justin Dart.

In the south on an early spring vacation is Mrs. Charles Deere Wiman, who left last week for Miami Beach. Mr. Wiman is in California on business, but will join Mrs. Wiman later. They will return soon after April 1.

Mrs. Fred W. Fairman Jr. is joining her mother, Mrs. Jay Morse Ely, at her plantation near Thomasville, Ga., this week, but will be returning north in a fortnight for young Jay Morse Ely's wedding to Miss Louise Stanley on April 3 in Evansville, Ind.

Most of the festivities preceding the wedding will take place in Evansville, but Mr. Ely's ushers are planning a party for him here, probably on the Thursday before the wedding. Meanwhile Mr. Ely is staying with I. Newton Perry and Brewster Perry in their apartment at 900 North Michigan avenue. Mrs. Perry is in Manila with her son in law and daughter, the Harold Kneedlers.

Manierre Wedding May Be Held in April.

Mayor and Mrs. Francis E. Manierre of Lake Forest probably will go south next month for the marriage of their son, Francis Jr., to Miss Rebecca James Hays, daughter of Mrs. Marie Marston Hays of Springhill, Ala.

The engagement was announced last week, and although no date for the wedding has been set, it probably will take place some time in April.

It will be a quiet wedding, for the young bridegroom-to-be cannot be away from his business in Bement, Ill., very long. He met Miss Hays last winter when he was working in Mobile.

The busiest household in Lake Forest on Sunday was that of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Meyers, whose brand new baby, adopted Saturday from The Cradle, was being welcomed by relatives and friends, who filled the house all day. The baby has been named Peter.

Countess Ruggero Visconti and her baby son arrived Saturday to visit her parents, the Warren C. Fairbankses. Mrs. Fairbanks saw them in New York, where she has been for several weeks, and is coming home in a few days. Count Visconti is engaged in miltary service just

Front Views and Profiles

SIGNS of a too early spring or any other freakish weather conditions remind residents of Iroquois county, Ill., of the 20th day of December, 1836.

Weather—Tale—Slanguage—Stars.

"Snow that morning was a foot deep, but by noon the air had warmed until men were going about in shirt sleeves," writes an Iroquois county resident. "The snow melted like the proverbial June snowball, the creeks overflowed, and everything was covered with water. About 4 in the afternoon the south wind veered into the west with terrifying suddenness, an icy blast swept over the country, and in five minutes [actual recorded time] everything was a solid sheet of ice. It was asserted that 'the wind threw the water into waves which froze as they formed.'"

Well, I don't know who can prove it wasn't so.

IF we can believe that—and a Milford, Ill., woman writes it as truth—we might believe Dale Fisher's story of a West Virginia flood sufferer.

"In 1912 he started a lumber business in a West Virginia city on the Ohio river," said Mr. Fisher. "His office was a shack built of warped and knotty boards.

"The flood of 1913 cleaned him out. However, although his shack was swept away, the whimsical waters deposited a neat bungalow in its place.

"He constructed a foundation, hoisted the bungalow into position, and started all over again.

"The ravages of the recent flood were even worse.

"Away went the bungalow office.

"When the waters receded he found a seven room house perched perilously on the old foundation. He has added a few necessary bricks here and there and is now going full swing in what amounts to palatial quarters.

Child 'Boss' Over Man and Own Mother

will drive me crazy have disappointed me badly so I have chicago, Ill

Here is a triangle worth plenty of consideration. If you are not involved in such a triangle right now, you may be later.

The first is the handwriting of a charming, cultured woman who is being "driven crazy" by the writer of the next few lines. The second writer, a man, says "One cause for our trouble is her 13 year old daughter. Both have disappointed me badly so I have finally dropped my friend, who is frantic."

The man in the case is calm, cool, and collected as you can see from his light writing, which completely lacks slant either to the left or to the right. He is an extremely cultured person with much creative talent. The letter d that he makes is called the "poetic d" and is seldom found. Notice the little loop at the very top.

The capital I made in this handwriting is also rare. It is an indication of sophistication of the highest type.

Consider this delightful woman and this interesting, clever man and then scan the last writing. It is that of the child he mentions.

Everything about the child's handwriting is normal for one of her age, yet one thing assures me that she is the cause of all the trouble. The pressure of her handwriting is much heavier than that of her two elders. Without doubt she is the unacknowledged "boss" where they are concerned.

Watch your own handwriting and that of your child. Whenever a child becomes master through sheer force of will everybody suffers, including the child. This little girl, although mentally immature, is making two really superior adults unhappy.

English Vaudeville Actors Seek Limit on Foreign Talent

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 8.—Vaudeville artists in England called on the government today to protect their jobs by limiting the number of foreign artists who may perform in this country. They urged passage of a bill along the lines of a measure now pending in the United States congress.

A special conference of members of the Variety Artists' federation passed a resolution expressing the view that the number of foreign artists admitted to England last year, said to have totaled 2,047, is more than should be permitted to enter. The resolution complained of "hardships on British performers for whose services there is no corresponding outlet abroad."

The conference instructed its executive committee to call a meeting of representatives of the labor ministry, artists, agents, and managers of music halls, with the object of agreeing on a definite quota of foreign artists to be allowed to enter the country.

Solves Mystery of Gait.

Tom was deliberate; so deliberate, in fact, that he neglected to get out of the way of his mule, who planted one hind foot on the seat of Tom's pants. Tom was badly lacerated and was stitched together at the hospital. After his convalescence it was noted that his left leg was as deliberate as usual and slowly advanced the customary fifteen inches, while his right leaped forward sixteen feet, giving him a very uneven gait.

The surgeon who attended him discovered the cause. He found the right hind foot of a jack rabbit, which Tom carried in his hip pocket for luck, firmly embedded in the flesh of the hip. F. M. B., Clinton, Ia.

Good Morning!

A popular trio of leads—Crawford, Powell, and Montgomery—and an A-1 supporting cast, headed by Frank Morgan, do all in their power to make "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney" "box office."

This adaptation of the Lonsdale play, played on Broadway by Ina Claire, Roland Young, and A. E. Matthews in 1925, is a Metro remake of their own dialog film presented in 1929 with Norma Shearer as star. It in a post-mortem release of Director Richard Boleslawski.

The story details the adventures of an American lady thief de luxe who slithers her way into English social circles for the purpose of acquiring the famous pearls of a certain duchess, and who, while engaged on the job, loses her heart, and her inclination for living without the law.

Aboard a liner bound for England Mrs. Cheyney cleverly contrives a meeting with gentlemen of the British creme de la creme. She—"by mistake" takes possession of Lord Kelton's stateroom and bowls his lordship and two of his lordship's male friends over by her beauty and charm.

It is love at first sight between Mrs. Cheyney and the dark and debonair Lord Arthur. . . .

These three infatuated men provide the open sesame for Lady Raffles' future activities.

Miss Crawford performs with sincerity and you like her immensely. But she was not too flatteringly treated by photographers and outfitters. In several of her opening scenes she wears the weirdest hat I've seen in many a moon. Sort of a Bowery number that adds a touch of caricature to her ensemble.

Mr. Powell, master mind of the enterprise, poses as a butler and cracks the whip over a group of assistant crooks who act the parts of Mrs. Cheyney's servants. He gives a characteristically smooth performance, and your heart quite goes out to him in his unrequited affection for his fair partner in crime, who is able only to entertain for him the feeling of a friend.

Mr. Montgomery exudes charm. Frank Morgan bumbles effectively about in the Morgan fashion, and Jessie Ralph is tops as the shrewd, common-clayish duchess.

The film is handsomely mounted, and has its moments of brilliance and interest. Trouble is—these moments are all too few.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

There's a new cream mask in the beauty market that makes the skin whiter, brighter and smoother. It's a good pick up when you're tired — but even better when used consistently to keep the skin perfectly toned.

No one can dispute the beautifying powers of sleep. But when you can top sleep with a preparation that does kind things to your skin you're really enjoying a double beauty blessing.

We're always skeptical of preparations that are supposed to work improvements that are almost in the miracle class. We checked up on a new mask in a completely "We're from Missouri" mood. But it's really startlingly good.

It's an ideal beauty cocktail. In twenty minutes after it's applied it's dry, but not uncomfortably stiff. Remove it with cold water and you're noticeably fresher looking. It chases away the fatigue faults that every woman who knows her own face well is familiar with. Sometimes it's hard to say exactly what it is in a face that makes you certain its owner is tired. Structurally it hasn't changed. There aren't deep wrinkles that hadn't been there before. It's just a general droopiness of the skin that's hard to describe, but easy to identify. This cream mask is a great boon to maids and matrons when they want to look their best after a hard day.

But it really fulfills its purpose when it's used at night. It can be worn overnight—and if it's used frequently it's really a corrective treatment. It clarifies the skin—makes it whiter, smoother and brighter—and it does tone it. If you're afraid that the wrinkles are coming this cream mask is a fine thing on which to pin your faith.

And it's a find for rough, darkened elbows—the horror of the woman who wears evening dress. One application of this mask solves the dingy elbow problem. And if it does that, just think what it will do for your face.

Square Facial Contours Need Special Care

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

There is a squarish type of face fairly common in our racial mixtures. We can best describe it as wide at cheek bones with an almost straight line down from the outer cheek bone to chin and jawline. There's nothing oval about this face. Sometimes you see it with a foreshortened chin, giving a still more squarish effect. There's nothing wrong with this type of face, understand! Indeed, a couple of noted beauties have that facial shape and contour. But the trick is not to make it more square, to soften the lines on the sides and to try for a little ovalizing.

All of the old rules about having to conform to types, shapes, or colorings have been dumped overboard, the better to fit into our modernized beauty platform.

A certain charming young miss of my acquaintance has this type of square face. The one thing that owners of said faces should not do is to wear the hair following a straight line down the sides. I don't mean that the hair is straight. My young friend's is kept waved, but the effect of bringing the hair forward all the way down the sides in a fairly straight line simply emphasizes the squareness of face and "squats" it, if you know what I mean. Especially if the neck is short, one has to study and experiment with hair for a line that will change the square-jawed contour.

In our young miss a remarkable change ensued with a different coiffure alone. Her hair was combed back from the temples, back from in front of the ears and the end hair on the sides cut and shaped and fitted into a line back of the ears. It made an enormous difference in the girl. Also, she learned not to wear rouge out at the hair line. The eye is attracted by rouge, you know, and that part is featured. By bringing the rouge in nearer to the nose [but not close to it, naturally] you accomplish a better contour.

Some one said the other day that a thousand brains go into the making of a screen beauty. Exaggerated, of course, but the makeup paces the stars are put through to give a lovely facial contour do express the brains of the makeup master.

You can do a good deal for yourself in this respect. Or, you can splurge on one good salon lesson, which you get when you watch the professional molding your face into shapelier lines.

BrightNegligee Can Double as Daytime Dress

Night Garments of Printed Satin Are Beauties.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Good shopping tips for those with little money to spend!

We found some fetching new midseason negligees that just about rate our very best adjectives. The price marks absolutely stun one, for these knock out new arrivals can be yours for a sum considerably less than $10. But wait till you hear about the material. It's that soft peasant challis in printed effects with small flowers spattered over red, black, or white backgrounds. The short sleeves are shirred down the middle to the elbow. There are two models from which to choose, a peasant style with a full skirt shirred into a tie sash waistline, the other a nice slim slinky affair, with a colored zipper racing from neckline to hem.

A bright person can easily imagine either of them cut off short and doubling for a brand new daytime dress. There's no law against it and they can easily be transformed into stunning daytime dresses.

In the same shop ask to see the printed satin nightgowns and pajamas—grand buys, for less than $4. There are two styles of tailored, excellently fitted nightgowns, and the two piece pajamas have a short-sleeved-shirt-like top, with trousers not too full and flatly tailored into a band belt.

Remember the long princess line wool house coat last season with the white braid and ball buttons down the front? They've copied it for spring in stunning Shantung-like cotton in a printed scroll pattern in colors against a lemon yellow, a blue, and a black background. The fringe braid is white and the ball buttons are the same size as the ones on the clever wool robes. These are priced at less than $15 and are ideal finds for spring, when you're weary of your well worn winter robes.

SYNOPSIS.

Adrian Somervell and Diana Lake become engaged when the young scientist learns he is heir to the fortune of his late stepmother, Rose Somervell, ex-star of the theater, who was Diana's godmother. Until shortly before her death Adrian and she had been estranged. Adrian had lunched with her shortly before her death with Nicholas Blundell, wealthy bachelor solicitor, who lived in the London flat below Rose. Blundell's neurotic secretary, Elsie Dilworth, was madly in love with Adrian, who'd repulsed her. She'd called during the luncheon on business. Blundell is Diana's godfather. She'd always disliked him. An autopsy reveals Rose was poisoned. Then Diana's actress mother, Margaret Fairlamb, is murdered. Robbery is thought to be the motive. Adrian is arrested. Remnants of the poison which killed Rose are found in his pocket. Blundell persuades Diana to move to Rose's flat. Diana, suspicious of Elsie, hires a private agent, Mortimer Bream. Watching Elsie's lodgings he sees an East Indian trying to break into the girl's room. Inspector Headcorn, investigating Diana's mother's murder, believes there is a link between the two murders. He discovers a secret stairs between Diana's flat and Blundell's. The East Indian is found dead, apparently a suicide. Then Elsie commits suicide. Lord Limpsfield and Sir Norbury Penge, who Blundell stated were at his home the night Margaret Fairlamb was murdered, are questioned and confirm Blundell's alibi. Adrian is tried and sentenced to death. Diana and Dr. Colin Ladbroke, a friend of Adrian's, search Rose's flat for further clews and find an old will made by Rose in Blundell's favor. Diana grows queerly ill after smoking cigarets. Unknown to her Colin takes some to have analyzed. When Colin leaves, Diana sees Blundell return with Lord Limpsfield and Sir Norbury, and creeps down the secret stairs to listen. Blundell discovers her. The two men leave Blundell to deal with her. Not able to reach Diana by phone Colin calls at her flat. Blundell admits him. He finds Diana near death from gas.

INSTALMENT L.
DEMONIAC TURMOIL.

Bream reached Queen's Close to find lights blazing, but no one in sight till he entered the upper flat.

"Not quite," the house surgeon answered his frightened question. "I told him she was gone, and so she was, practically speaking. You've fetched the strychnine?"

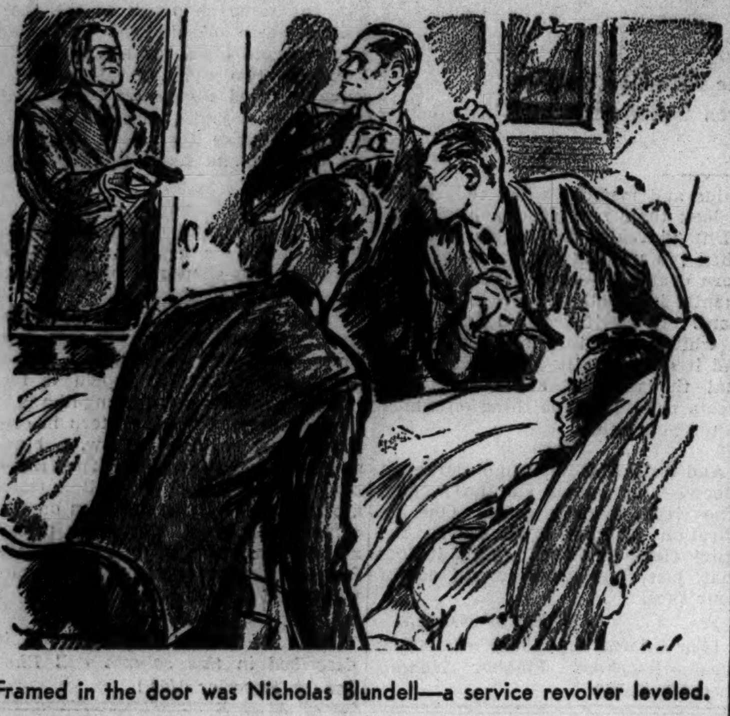
Bream produced a parcel and in a whisper asked where Blundell was now. Engrossed with the injection, Colin shook an indifferent head.

"I sent him to boil water while I rang you. He was so long I had to go for it myself—and he was slumped in a chair as though he'd had a stroke. I left him there."

"What's the answer?" inquired the agent significantly.

"Not suicide," was the stern reply. "But if she does die, I don't dream of proving it. God, if I'd had help! He's been given ample opportunity to get rid of certain articles, also to change out of his dress shirt, but I saw it, he hadn't been to bed. Look to the coffee on the stove. I'll be wanting it—with any luck."

The kitchen was empty, the coffee unpercolated, for the simple reason that the electric current was not on. Grimly Bream set it going, then inspected the maid's room, which still stank noisomely of gas but of nothing else. Practice makes perfect, he reflected, as he locked the door and pocketed the key.



Framed in the door was Nicholas Blundell—a service revolver leveled.

He found the doctor tensely awaiting the result of the strychnine. Informed about the coffee, Colin nodded.

"It's things like that which clinch matters—for you and me. I'll show you another," and pulling Bream into the drawing room he displayed an empty cigaret box. "You see? I left it with twenty of my own in it. Thinking they were the doped ones, he took 'em off—and hearing my ring he dumped the lot into his especial box. I know, because he offered me one—and, by the grace of God, I noticed this."

He produced from his pocket a half smoked cigaret with a V-shaped snag at the unlit end.

"I did that," he explained, "with my nail, tearing open the packet. Take charge of it, will you?"

"Sharp work! He hoped, I take it, to get you mildly fuddled so he could detain you longer than you realized?"

"Exactly. The gas must be given time to finish her. He nearly managed it. It's more than likely she won't recover."

In silence they regained the bedside. If life still lingered in the unconscious girl, Bream could detect no sign of it. Answering his unspoken thought, Colin muttered jerkily:

"If she dies, it'll be all up with Somervell. O, we can start a hue and cry, but you know, as I do, it will come to nothing. Just one more human sacrifice to cover up—what?"

Bream slipped softly back to the drawing room and put through a call to Scotland Yard.

Diana did not die. Six hours later she opened her eyes, half recognized Colin, and had to be firmly restrained from attempting to speak. Her weakness was so great she drifted off immediately, to wake at midday. This time memory began to revive, and with a terrible fear in her eyes she tried to sit up.

"It's all right," Colin soothed her, "plenty of time, you know. Yes, I mean that," he added, for he realized what thought was in her mind. "Today's only Thursday."

"Has he been caught?" she whispered, her voice a rough croak.

A great surge of joy swept through Colin's fatigued body.

"Then he—Blundell—can be arrested?" he asked tensely.

"I—don't know," faltered the hoarse voice. "How did I get here? I was down below—in his library."

He saw that she had no knowledge whatever of the gas which had so nearly caused her death. Stroking her hand, he leant over her, his tired eyes burning into hers.

"Tell me only this: Was it chloroform?" he demanded.

"Yes. But how——?"

"I smelt it. Quiet, now, or you'll be sick. I want you to sleep some more. Later on we'll have it all out."

Colin, holding the fort alone, had agreed with Bream on a policy. He now waited till his charge had fallen into a doze, then shut the bedroom door quietly and made a telephone call from the drawing room.

"Get in here as inconspicuously as you can," he was saying, when a slight sound in the passage made him alter his tone, and without perceptible break continued, "oxygen—yes, and as quick as you can; though it's hardly any use. She'll just go out. They seldom rally in these cases."

He replaced the receiver, stepped briskly into the hall and saw Blundell making quietly for Diana's door. Firmly he placed his hand on the thickset arm.

"Don't go in, sir. I've asked a colleague to come round. You'd like to see her?"—and he opened the door.

Blundell peered in at the motionless quilt above which a deathly white cheek could be seen. His lips moved uncertainly, he bowed his big head and, with a gesture of clumsy dignity, thanked Colin and withdrew.

At 9 that evening Diana was given tea. Her pulse was approaching its normal beat, and she now insisted on being heard. Colin called to Bream and Inspector Headcorn, who were in the drawing room; they entered quietly, notebooks in hand, and took seats.

"This must be short and sweet, you know," Colin warned them in an undertone. "Just the bare facts, understand?" To Bream he whispered: "Both those entrances fastened?"

Bream assured him that the two doors had been seen to.

Diana lay with her head propped against two lace edged pillows. Ill though she looked and was, she was steady and collected. Her sunken gray eyes held what had long been absent from them—positive hope. Colin felt her pulse again and spoke to her gently.

"Suppose," he said, "you begin with going to bed last night. Tell us why you got up."

She drew a quivering breath.

"I heard a car outside. His voice—and two others. It was about 1 o'clock. I looked down from that window and just below it saw . . . O, my God!"

She gasped and stiffened, staring straight ahead past the broad shoulders of the inspector. The three men faced round. Framed in the dressing room door Nicholas Blundell faced the company, a service revolver leveled at the speaker's forehead. Amidst a torrent of oaths two shots thundered, the top of Diana's head seemed to burst, and for her it was as though a black curtain blotted out demoniac turmoil.

Mexican Type of Chocolate a Mellow Drink

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Mexican food suggests to the average person chile con carne, tamales, or some other spicy food of similar nature. These dishes seem truly Mexican because of the dominating "hotness" of the chili powder with which they are seasoned.

Highly seasoned foods are characteristic of Mexico, but all Mexican food is not so violent in flavor. Mexican chocolate, for instance, which even now is served in the same way in which Montezuma served it to the Spaniards who first invaded the country, is mild, bland, and delicious.

The foam is all important in serving Mexican chocolate. The Mexican holds a wooden beater between his two hands and beats steadily during the time the chocolate is heating. He adds a bit of spice and several egg whites to his brew. The egg whites help to produce the foam which he considers so desirable. Prepared Mexican chocolate contains spices, sugar, and dried egg white and needs only the addition of hot milk.

When genuine Mexican chocolate is available we can prepare this beverage in authentic style, using a cup of hot milk to a square of chocolate. When it is not available we can make Mexican chocolate when we wish by this genuine Aztec recipe. It's quite simple:

Mexican Chocolate.
[Twelve Cups.]

12 tablespoons cocoa
1 teaspoon cinnamon
3 unbeaten egg whites
12 teaspoons sugar, or 4 tablespoons
12 cups milk

Make a thin paste of egg whites, cocoa, cinnamon, and sugar, using a cup of cold milk. Slowly add boiling milk to the paste over a low fire, beating constantly [with Dover beater]. When thoroughly hot and very foamy serve at once.

The Mexican likes his "ensalada," too. Many of his salads are made with the avocado pear, which is gaining popularity in the United States. This is the way he likes his tomato and avocado salad:

Ensalada de Jitomate y Aguacates.
[Salad of Tomatoes and Avocados.]

1 pound ripe tomatoes
½ pound avocado
3 small onions
1 tablespoon vinegar
3 tablespoons oil
Salt, pepper

Arrange slices of avocado and tomato on lettuce. Slice the onions over the top. Mix oil, vinegar, salt, and pepper and pour over the salad. Chill until time to serve.

A bachelor reader of this column contributes the following recipe for the popular chile con carne which, he says, is truly Mexican except that it is less "hot" and less greasy to cater to American preference. Having tried "all the chiles" during a residence of several years in the southwest, he claims that this recipe is the "granddaddy of them all":

Chile Con Carne.
[Serves Four.]

1 pound round steak
2 tablespoons vegetable shortening
1 finely minced clove garlic
1 tablespoon flour
2 tablespoons chili powder
2 cups boiling water
Salt
1 can kidney or frijole beans, drained

Cut the round steak in half inch cubes and brown in fat with garlic. When well browned add flour. Make paste of chili powder with cold water and add to meat with boiling water. Cover and simmer for 1½ hours. Add beans, if desired, and salt to taste fifteen minutes before serving.

Return from Trip; Push Benefit Plans.

Clark, Mrs. Edward B. Woolf, Mrs. Harold O. Barnes, Miss Virginia Haskell, and Mrs. Everett Cook.

Mrs. Clark is just back from a two weeks' cruise to the West Indies; Mrs. Woolf was in Nassau for a fortnight; Mrs. Barnes and her husband motored for three weeks in Arizona and California; Miss Haskell spent three weeks with her parents, the Clinton Haskells, in California, and Mrs. Cook is just back from a visit at the Inn-by-the-Sea at Pass Christian, Miss.

The matches will be played at the Naval Reserve armory.

Mrs. Arthur A. Small and Mrs. Charles H. Thuis will pour following a meeting and French class of Le Cercle Français this afternoon in the Fine Arts building.

Men to Try Selling Tickets for Benefit.

Selling tickets for benefits hitherto has been pretty largely a feminine obligation, but those public-spirited young business men who are "big brothers" to the city's underprivileged boys, now are trying their hand at it. The Big Brothers' association has taken over the sale of boxes for the opening performance of the Ballet Russe's return engagement at the Auditorium Easter Sunday night, March 28.

On this visit the Russian dancers are to give only five evening performances, from the 28th through April 1, and a single matinée March 31, a fact that should make the busy association members' task an easy one, considering the number of balletomanes who always rush to see their favorites perform.

Proceeds of the box sales will be used, of course, to help finance the association's work among underprivileged boys. Whenever such a boy and his problems are brought to the association's attention, a representative young business man is delegated to be his big brother and to take all the interest in him that the relationship implies.

Robert Tieken heads the executive committee of the association, and he and his committee will direct the sale of boxes. John M. Trainer Jr., George H. Schulz, and Ronald J. Chinnock are among those serving on the committee.

March 19 and 20 have been set as the dates for the annual South Shore Country club Follies which this year will be called "Rollin' Rhythm." Mr. and Mrs. Karle Meyer are co-chairmen of the committee in charge, and working with them are Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Flagg, the Morrison C. Woods, the Bradford W. Alcorns, the Walter W. Paces, the Herbert Beidlers, the Ralph J. Woods, and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hempel.

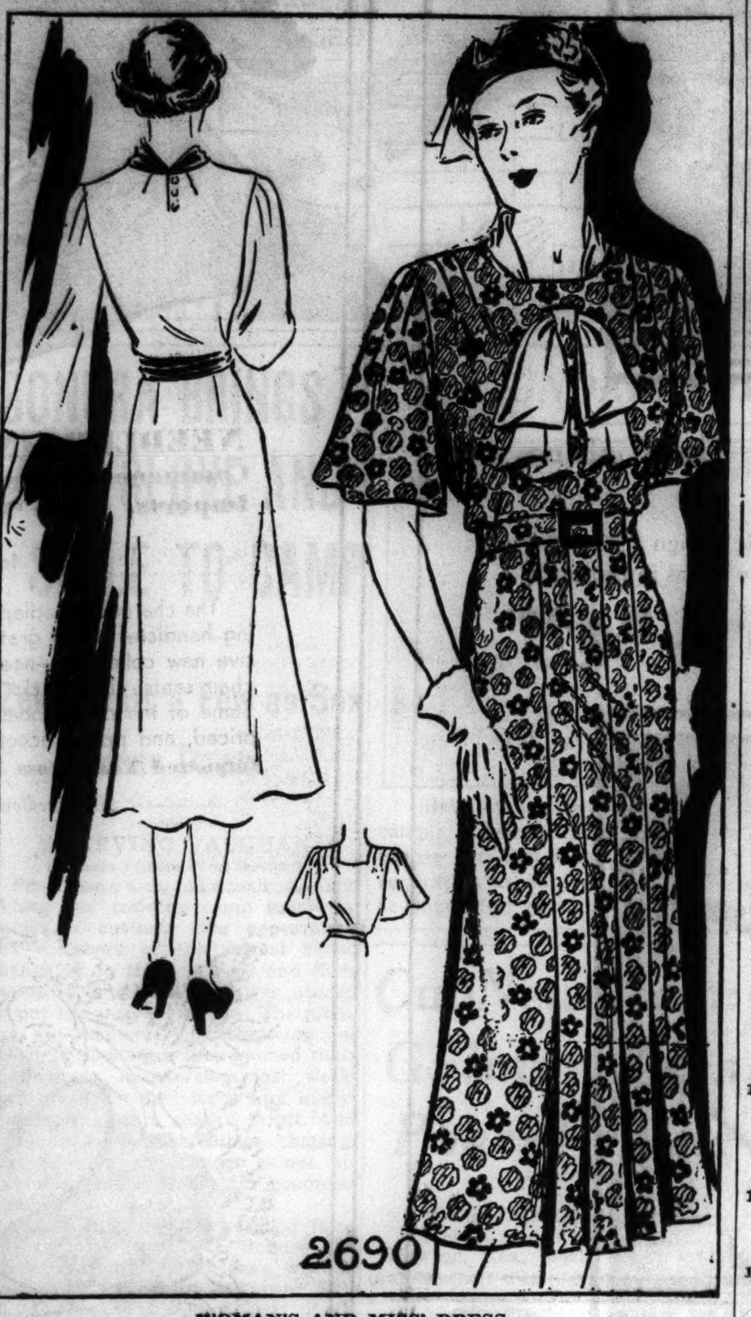
Ideal for Heavier Figures



WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

This pattern is particularly suitable for mature figures, because the styling is created to minimize overweight and to lend an illusion of height. The neckline is especially becoming, being styled in the scarf manner. Because tight sleeves invariably accentuate the size of plump arms, this frock avoids the problem by possessing full ones, which come to just above the elbow. If you wish, they may be long and full, ending in wrist bands. The paneling of the skirt is magical. It assures a perfect fit through the hips while achieving desired fullness below the knees. The original of this model is created in a gay, although small, print, and the scarf at the neckline is in a harmonizing shade of crêpe. This frock also will be pretty in a sheer. In blue, rose or gold the model will be especially attractive for afternoon wear. If you are looking ahead to summer, remember that any type of cotton or linen print, as well as the cool and delightful sheers in cotton, will make up well in this frock.

Style No. 2690 is designed for sizes 16, 18 and 20 years, and 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Appeal for Clothing.

R. W. is a former railroad engineer. He is in his sixties and has had no steady employment since 1929. He is not on relief, and has been supporting himself by such occasional work as he is able to find on construction projects or any other employment obtainable to a man of his age. He manages to earn a meager living, but cannot purchase clothing, and is badly in need of a suit, size 40, and a pair of shoes, size 8D or 8E.

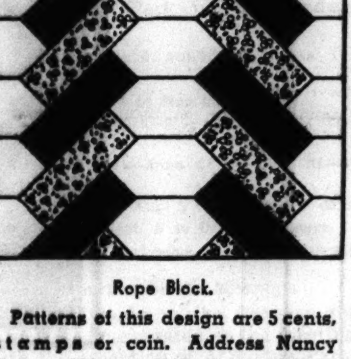
Effectiveness of Quilt Bars Use of Plain Blocks



Rope Block.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Here is a block which would lose its attractiveness were it set together with plain blocks. It is a pieced design which must be used in a quilt as an all-over pattern. The original coverlet was made of heavy silk patches of purple figured material, combined with dark red silk. It was most effective and decidedly rich looking. Present day preference for ginghams has made the "Rope Block" one of the favorite pieced patterns, using dainty printed material and a solid color combined with white. The rope may be set on the quilt horizontally or vertically, depending upon the taste of the individual. The finished block measures 15 inches square, and only 42 pieced blocks are required for a quilt which measures 80 by 105 inches when completed.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

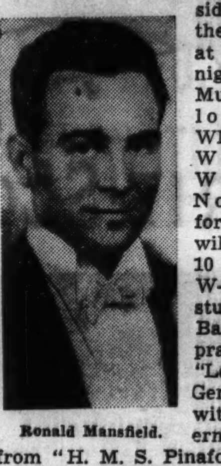
Readjustment of the schedule for the fourth annual Woman congress, sponsored by THE TRIBUNE, will make possible an additional and important broadcast—the discussion of the Supreme court issue by James M. Landis, chairman of the Securities and Exchange commission, and Senator Burton K. Wheeler. Landis favors President Roosevelt's plans; Senator Wheeler opposes them. This feature is to be aired over W-G-N-Mutual from 10 to 10:45 o'clock tomorrow evening. Many other headliners are to be on the air from the congress. These were announced Sunday and will appear again in the program schedules for tomorrow and Thursday.

Notes from the scratch pad: It's a pleasure to report that the Metropolitan Opera broadcasts are to be continued in April when the company goes on tour from Boston and Cleveland. . . . Olga Albani's addition to Rex Chandler's Universal Rhythm has improved this program about 50 per cent. . . . Hope Marlene Dietrich may be restrained from trying to sing when she makes an appearance next Monday in "Desire" in the CBS Radio theater. . . . Show Boat has been improved vastly since the continued story idea was dropped several months ago. It could do with even less "boat" and more "show." . . . Jack Oakie's collegiate broadcasts are anything but oakie-doakie. The material is poor, presentation too haphazard. On top of that Charlie Butterworth and Fred Astaire are on a competing network at the same hour.

Clyde Lucas' silken strings and sprightly and Guateralan specialities on the marimba, on the air nightly over W-G-N from the Drake hotel, are well worth a listen. . . . An almost ideal combination: Richard Crooks, Margaret Speaks, and Alfred Wallenstein's orchestra. There has been altogether too little said about Miss Speaks' vocal magic. Try it some Monday evening at 7:30 over WMAQ.

Today's Features

President Roosevelt will discuss "The State of the Nation" in a fireside talk from the White House at 9:30 o'clock tonight over W-G-N-Mutual. Other local stations: WMAQ, WENR, WBBM, and WCFL. The Northerners, for tonight only, will be heard at 10 p. m. from W-G-N's main studio. Nancy Baskerville, soprano, will sing "Lo, Hear the Gentle Lark" and with the Northerners' selections from "H. M. S. Pinafore."



Ronald Mansfield.

Ronald Mansfield, young Chicago singer, will be guest soloist on the W-G-N-Mutual "Listen to This" show at 7:30 o'clock with Kay St. Germaine, Jack Brooks, and Lou Diamond's orchestra.

Other features:

9:15 a. m.—Bachelor's Children. [MBS.]

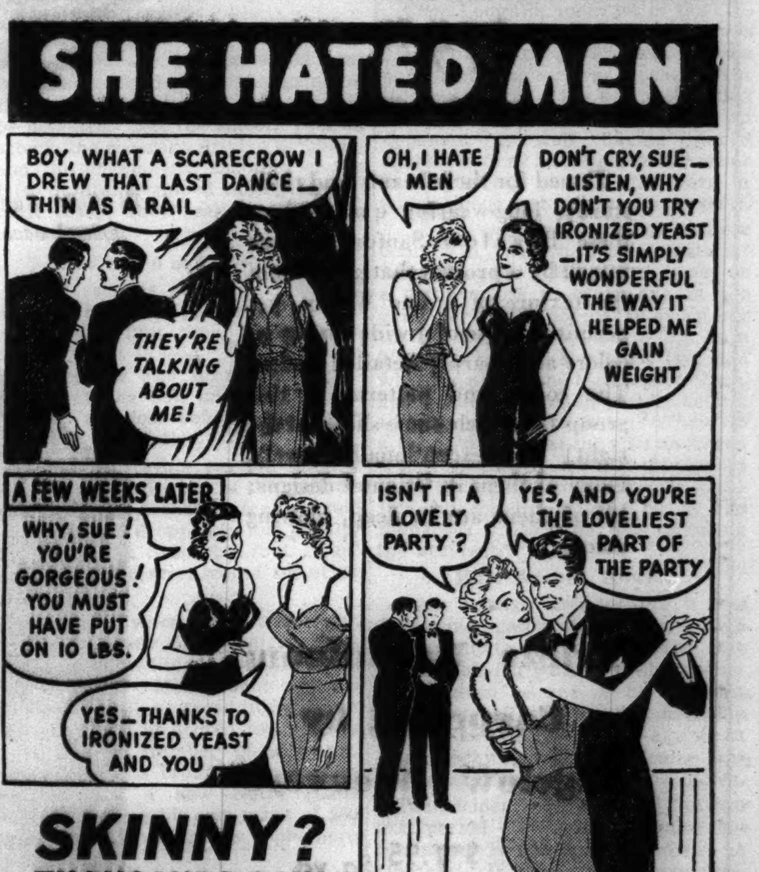
SHE HATED MEN



BOY, WHAT A SCARECROW I DREW THAT LAST DANCE—THIN AS A RAIL
THEY'RE TALKING ABOUT ME!
OH, I HATE MEN
A FEW WEEKS LATER
WHY, SUE! YOU'RE GORGEOUS! YOU MUST HAVE PUT ON 10 LBS.
YES—THANKS TO IRONIZED YEAST AND YOU
ISN'T IT A LOVELY PARTY?

SKINNY? THOUSANDS GAIN 10 TO 20 POUNDS THIS QUICK WAY

SKINNY girls who say they "hate men" really mean men don't care for THEM. Men have never favored unattractive bones, beanpole figures.

Yet physicians say there's no excuse today for thousands remaining skinny, scrawny and friendless. Because a new discovery is giving thousands of people who never could gain before 10 to 20 pounds of solid, naturally attractive flesh—in just a few weeks! Furthermore it has cleared their skin to natural beauty and lovely color, given them new health and pep, and so brought loads of new friends and new joy in life.

Why it builds so quick

Scientists recently discovered that thousands of people are thin and rundown for the single reason that they do not get enough Vitamin B and iron in their food. Without these vital elements you may lack appetite and not get the most body-building good out of what you eat.

Now one of the richest known sources of Vitamin B is cultured ale yeast. By a new process the finest imported cultured ale yeast is now concentrated 7 times, making it 7 times more powerful. Then it is combined with 3 kinds of iron, pasteurized whole yeast and other valuable ingredients in pleasant little tablets known as Ironized Yeast tablets.

If you, too, need these vital elements to aid in building you up, get these new "7-power" Ironized Yeast tablets from your druggist today. Note how quickly they increase your appetite and help you get more benefit from the body-building foods that are so essential. Then watch flat chest develop, skinny limbs round out to natural attractiveness, skin clear to normal beauty, new pep come.

Money-back guarantee

No matter how skinny and rundown you may be from lack of sufficient Vitamin B and iron, try these new Ironized Yeast tablets just a short time and note the marvelous change. See if they don't aid in building you up in just a few weeks, as they have helped thousands. If not delighted with the benefits of the very first package, money back instantly.

Only be sure you get genuine Ironized Yeast. Don't let anyone sell you some perhaps cheaper yeast and iron tablet that is not the original Ironized Yeast that has been so successful. Look for the letters "IY" stamped on each tablet.

Special FREE offer!

To start thousands building up their health right away, we make this FREE offer. Purchase a package of Ironized Yeast tablets at once, cut out seal on box and mail it to us with a clipping of this offer. We will send you a fascinating new book on health, "New Facts About Your Body." Remember, results with the very first package—or money refunded. At all druggists. Ironized Yeast Co., Inc., Dept. A-47, Atlanta, Ga.

PICK NEW YORK GOLDEN GLOVES INTERCITY TEAM

18,496 See Finals at Madison Square.

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 8.—New York will send to Chicago the strongest team that ever has represented Manhattan for the tenth annual intercity Golden Gloves bouts at Chicago Stadium on March 24.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

This became a certainty at Madison Square Garden tonight when the 1937 New York champions were crowned before a capacity gathering of 18,496 cash customers.

The boys who came through successfully were the survivors of a tournament that attracted 7,453 entrants from 14 states ranging from Maine to Florida. This was the first year that the New York meet, conducted by the Daily News A. A., was expanded to include territory outside the metropolitan area.

Out of Town Boys Win.

Out of town competitors stole the show. They won six of the eight championship bouts. Philadelphia placed two in the title ranks, Buffalo two, Boston one, and Binghamton, N. Y., one.

The New York squad will move into training quarters tomorrow morning and will leave for Chicago a week from Thursday.

As usual, Golden Gloves attracted another cosmopolitan gathering. Probably no other event in New York's sport calendar appeals so heavily to the masses as does Golden Gloves. Celebrities from the stage, screen and radio mingled with famous bankers, lawyers, publishers and business leaders in the front rows. Debutantes from Park avenue rubbed elbows with floozies from Hell's Kitchen. Everybody who was anybody, from the Bronx to the Bowery, were there.

Bartolo Is Hit of Show.

The hit of the show was Salvatore Bartolo, representing the Boston Globe, who polished off James Morro from New York's Catholic Youth organization for the bantamweight championship. Bartolo, who has had nearly 200 amateur fights, punched sharply and with remarkable accuracy. He seemed satisfied to pile up points, whereas Morro relied on a knockout wallop which never landed for victory. Both boys gave a more finished performance than their Chicago rivals, Frank Kainrath of the C. Y. O. and Al Scarlata of St. Norbert's college, did in their battle for the Chicago title.

Jackie Donovan Wins.

Another brilliant victory was recorded by Jackie Donovan, a high school boy from Buffalo, who danced around Sammy Ventimiglia of New York for the featherweight honors. Chicago fans will get an idea of Donovan's class when they learn that Ventimiglia is the boy who whipped the fellow who put Georgie Coyle out of the New York tournament. Coyle was an intercity winner last year, defeating Chicago's Johnny Brown.

As a group the New York boys do not seem to pack as hard a wallop as Chicago's fighting men, but they are swifter afoot and more accurate

BONURA BRINGS NEW GLOVE AND SMILE TO CAMP

Zeke Busts a Few as Sox Bear Down.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 8.—The White Sox training camp today assumed a business like appearance. Six members of the second squad turned up in time to work and their appearance was all that was needed to put life into the party. The pitchers did some serious throwing for the first time since they started their toughening up exercises last week. Bats were brought forth and everybody was given a chance to hit. And along with it was fungo chasing, base running and pepper games, all conducted under honest to goodness sunshine.

Among the six who reached here this morning was Zeke Bonura, all the way from New Orleans with a new glove for which he spent $12. That's convincing proof that Zeke really loves his baseball, his habit of holding out, notwithstanding. He didn't break his neck in his initial training effort despite hounding by Manager Jim Dykes. The muscular Italian was able to dodge considerable work by making lengthy explanations to the scribes about his contract troubles ironed out last week.

Zeke Mum on Salary.

What Zeke finally got in the way of salary, he wouldn't reveal. He said he was satisfied and the suspicion is that he took $10,500 which is an increase of $2,000 over last season.

Zeke really is in pretty good shape, at least shape that can be termed good for an athlete whose muscles bulge like those of a broken down trapeze performer. Henry, which is the name Boss Dykes uses when addressing the overstuffed first baseman, says he is merely two pounds beyond his playing weight, but that still leaves him with about 210 pounds.

Dykes Gives Up.

When Zeke came on the field he headed straight for the batting screen, hoping to enjoy himself with some hitting practice. Dykes spotted him and ordered him to the outfield to chase fungoes hit by Coach Jim Austin. Zeke obeyed, but it wasn't any time at all before he was on first base taking throws, a form of labor far less strenuous than racing across the outfield for fly balls that a Mercury couldn't reach.

No story of the first day in training camp would be complete without inclusion of a statement covering the cases of balls hit over the outfield wall. It happened today and the principals were Zeke and Steve Mesner, the kid who will be the third baseman if he can deliver. Mesner dispatched a couple over the hedge, one toward left field and the other toward center. Bonura did it four times, not to mention a series of his line drives that infielders couldn't reach.

Even Old Ted Works.

The half dozen newcomers who worked today included besides Bonura, Left Fielder Rip Radcliff, Outfielder Mike Kreevich, Utility Infielder Tony Piet, Rookie First Baseman Frank Houska, and Frank Hackney, a freshman second baseman. Tom Stevens also reported and he has something on the other boys. His pay starts immediately, although he is not on the official roster. He is the batting practice pitcher the Sox have been carrying around with them for a couple of years.

Seven men now are missing but, with the exception of Holdout Sugar Cain, are expected to obey orders by reaching here tomorrow morning. Luke Appling, Jack Hayes, Larry Rosenthal, and Fred Dixie Walker are among the absentees.

Even Ted Lyons who has been with the Sox since 1923 pitched to batters today. He was the last of the dozen pitchers to appear and it was at his own request. Usually the veterans stall off until they feel secure, but today men like Whitehead, Kennedy, Lee, Stratton, Brown, Dietrich, Wilshere, and others were fighting to have their fling. That's a positive sign that they benefited by the leisurely fashion in which Dykes permitted them to conduct their preliminary conditioning last week.

AN UNDERSTUDY AND A STAR

Babe Dahlgren covers first base during a workout at the Yankee camp. Babe was brought in from Syracuse to be groomed as a substitute for Lou Gehrig, who is still a holdout. Judging from Lou's reputation as an iron man, there will be mighty little substituting to be done after that contract is signed. [Associated Press Wirephotos.]

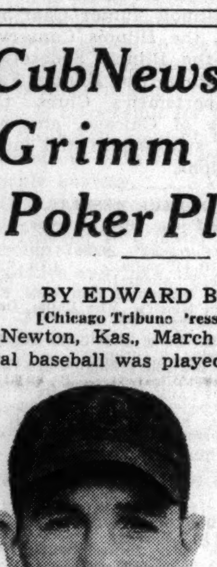
CubNewsItem: Grimm Bars Poker Playing

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Newton, Kas., March 8.—A lot of oral baseball was played on the Cub special today, but there was no poker playing. The item about the poker playing is news.



Clausson Vines.

Two years ago Manager Grimm in midseason barred poker after one of his young men had become very irate. It seems the young man had a full house, of which he was inordinately proud. But when the call came, after most spirited wagering, one of the other boys announced: "Four beautiful ladies," which is slang for a hand including all the queens and another card of no consequence. The player with the full house ripped the cards to pieces, throwing same all over the place. Then came the poker ban and the climb to a pennant.

Mr. Vines Is Somewhat Confident.

Last spring, however, the boys sat down in the game room the first night on Catalina and poker was back in a great big way. There was a lefty rookie named Clausson Vines who knew more about poker than any one the Cubs ever saw. The first day of training Clausson removed several small bills from an enormous wallet, handed the poke to Andy Lotshaw saying. "Please lock this in the valuables trunk. I don't think I'll be needing it."

It is reported that Mr. Vines averaged well over $100 a night at poker during the spring training season. It got so that when Manager Grimm would ask him to pitch he would say, "I hate to take your mind off cards, but I'd like to have you work three innings in today's exhibition." When Charley finally let Vines go in Birmingham at the close of the exhibition season, Vines said: "Mr. Grimm, can't I stay with the team one more night? I understand one of the fellows just got a shipment of fresh money."

Vines went away, but the lambs concentrated all last season on poker, each trying to get back the equivalent of the wool of which he had been shorn—a sort of lamb shearing lamb feud which caused much weariness as the nights wore on.

No Poker This Time.

There are those, apparently Manager Grimm among them, who believe that Pitcher Clausson Vines, who never got to Chicago, had much to do with the Cubs' failure to win the pennant. At any rate Manager Grimm's first official ukase of the 1937 season, made early this morning, was that there will be no poker, at Catalina Island, on trains or in rooms during the regular season.

After impressing upon all of the 19 ball players on the train that this time he's not fooling about poker, Grimm quieted down to baseball barbering.

Nothing, he says, has caused him to regret the deal which brought Rip Collins and Leroy Parmelee to the Cubs for Lon Warneke. Charley points out that if Lon is as good as his former best the St. Louis Cards will have only two pitchers, Lon and Dizzy Dean. He does not worry about Paul Dean's comeback probabilities, confiding that he has received reports that Paul's physical well-being is highly speculative.

Charlie Likes Rip.

"We simply had to fill the first base position and we did it the only way it could be done," said the Cub skipper. "During the last two or three years I have spent most of my time trying to manage first base. I now can spend the time managing the whole team. Collins will round out what I expect to be the best balanced infield in the National league.

"I expect Gabby Hartnett to catch in at least 100 games and in all pitched by Parmelee. Working with Hartnett, Leroy should win 15 or more games for us. Gabby will steady the big fellow and give him a chance to make greater use of his fast ball, which is his best asset. Gabby believes Parmelee has been asked to make too much use of his curve."

The Cubs will spend tomorrow on the great American desert but won't mind. The club car has a really excellent radio.

MRS. CREWS, STAR GOLFER, FILES DIVORCE SUIT

Miami, Fla., March 8.—(AP)—Maureen Orcutt Crews filed suit today for divorce from her husband, John D. Crews, a bond broker, charging mental cruelty.

She blamed failure of their marriage principally upon her husband's conviction on a contempt charge by Circuit Judge Worth W. Trammell—the Miami jurist who had wed them in May, 1935.

Mrs. Crews, one of America's leading women golfers for a decade, told the court she believed her father's death had been hastened by the daughter's humiliation.

Crews, a north Floridian who has made his home here in recent years, now is in Tallahassee seeking reduction by the state pardon board of his sentence of $750 fine and thirty days in jail on the contempt conviction.

Two Teams Tied for Lead in St. Louis 6 Day Bike Race

St. Louis, Mo., March 8.—(AP)—The German team of Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel and the United States riders Freddie Spencer and Frank Keating remained tied for the lead in mileage as St. Louis' six day bike race entered its 48th hour tonight. The German team, however, leads 240 to 90, in sprint points.

ASSIGN 157 DAY RACE MEETING TO CHICAGO TRACKS

Aurora Opens Season on May 1.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Chicago race fans can bring out their binoculars and dust them off this morning for there is a big turf season just ahead.

The schedule for the five tracks here was announced late yesterday by the members of the Illinois racing commission. Track operators met with the commission in what appeared to be a most harmonious session.

The season calls for 157 days of racing. It opens at the Aurora track on Saturday, May 1, and closes at Sportsman's Park on Saturday, Oct. 30.

The complete schedule is as follows:

Aurora—May 1 to May 22—19 days.
Washington Park—May 24 to June 26—30 days.
Arlington Park—June 28 to July 31—30 days.
Lincoln Fields—Aug. 2 to Sept. 4—30 days.
Hawthorne—Sept. 6 to Oct. 2—24 days.
Sportsman's Park—Oct. 4 to Oct. 30—24 days.

Arlington Sends Message.

All the tracks in the Chicago district were represented at the meeting with the exception of Arlington Park. The commission had received word from John Hertz, chairman of the Arlington executive committee, that it was the aim of the Arlington Park Jocky club to offer richer stake and purse prizes this year than any other track in America.

This made it certain that Arlington Park would get its customary July dates including the July 4th holiday period.

Walter Gregory, president of the Washington Park Jocky club, represented that organization. That club, too, will hang up prizes which he believes will attract the best horses in training to Chicago.

He said the American Derby will be renewed and will be made one of the most attractive 3 year old fixtures decided during the spring and early summer months.

All Is Harmony.

The choice holiday dates went to Washington Park, Arlington Park, and Hawthorne. Washington Park drew Memorial day, Arlington, July 4, and Hawthorne, Labor day.

The first big stake race of the Chicago season will be the Illinois Derby to be renewed at Aurora on Saturday, May 22. It carried an added money value of $12,000 last year and it may be worth even more this year, Aurora officials hinted.

There wasn't the customary growling among the track operators when the dates were finally awarded.

Sportsman's Park and Aurora had both applied for the May dates or the right to open the season here. Attorney Tom Nash represented the Sportsman's Park track. He sounded a word of harmony soon after the session started.

They Make Concessions.

He said Sportsman's Park was perfectly willing to take the closing dates of the season in October, provided it was granted more racing days than last year.

Charley Bidwill, now in control of the Hawthorne track, was on his feet immediately. He said his track would give Sportsman's Park six of the days Hawthorne had applied for, provided Hawthorne was permitted to race on Labor day.

Col. Matt J. Winn, head of the Lincoln Fields Jocky club, which had originally applied for Labor day, told the members of the commission he would sacrifice the holiday assignment and its prospective big business if his track was awarded the August racing dates.

Rival Quintet Defeats Chefs in Overtime, 36-33

Rival Dog Foods quintet defeated Magic Chefs, 36 to 33 in a three period overtime game to advance to the finals of the Windy City league at St. Phillip gymnasium last night. Rival will meet Lucania for the championship Friday night.

Al Smith, Fight Announcer, Is Dead at 59

Albert J. Smith.

The former Evanston alderman, popularly known as Al, was announcer at the Gene Tunney-Jack Dempsey fight at Soldiers' field in 1927. He died Sunday at his home, 1024 Brummel street, Evanston, after being ill several months. Funeral services will be held at St. Nicholas church tomorrow morning, with burial at All Saints' cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary B. Smith, and three sons, Robert S., James N., and Albert J. Jr.

Smith was the announcer at various sports events for thirty-five years, but he gained recognition as one of the best in the country by his work at major boxing bouts in Chicago and surrounding towns, notably East Chicago and Aurora.

He made his last public appearance at the Joe Louis-King Levinsky show in Comiskey park in 1935.

In 1925 Smith was alderman in Evanston and held the post for ten years. He was a member of the Chicago Board of Trade for forty years. Three weeks ago he had the membership transferred to his son, Albert J. Jr.

Paddy Driscoll Signs as Coach at Marquette

Milwaukee, Wis., March 8.—(AP)—John L. [Paddy] Driscoll, former Northwestern university star and for years one of the leading professional football players, signed today to coach Marquette university's football team.

Terms of the contract were not announced, but it was reported it is for two years at a yearly salary of $6,000.

Opens Drill Monday.

Driscoll, who in 13 years at St. Mel High school, Chicago, turned out five championship teams, four of them in the last five years, will report for duty Monday, when he announced he would begin spring practice. The squad will work out in the gymnasium until warmer weather arrives.

"I have been a close follower of Marquette athletics for many years and am fairly well acquainted with the organization here," Driscoll said.

Old Assistants Stay.

"I know the coaches, the members of the board, and Athletic Director Con Jennings, from all of whom, I'm sure, I'm going to get full coöperation. Marquette has a fine type of boy, and a good plant. I am mighty happy to join the staf."

Jennings announced that John L. [Tarzan] Taylor, line coach, and Joseph A. [Red] Dunn, back field coach, would continue as assistants. Both played professional ball with Driscoll.

NEVERS GIVEN MORE TIME TO PONDER IOWA BID

Iowa City, Ia., March 8.—[Special.]—Iowa athletic officials said today that Ernie Nevers, Lafayette college coach, has been given a few more days in which to consider an offer to become assistant football coach here.

Head Coach Irl Tubbs visited Nevers at Easton, Pa., last week. Tubbs said Nevers has two or three offers under consideration, including one to remain at Lafayette another year.

Tubbs announced today the appointment of William Frey of Miami, Fla., as assistant athletic trainer. Frey, a former football and basketball trainer at Wisconsin, was athletic trainer for Tubbs at Miami university for the last two seasons.

Frey will report April 1 as assistant to Dr. W. W. Hayne, who continues as head athletic trainer.

MINNESOTA IS WHIPPED, 44-18, BY NOTRE DAME

Moir Leads Irish Quintet with 19 Points.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., March 8.—Notre Dame's greatest basketball team—this is the opinion of Notre Dame's coach, George Keogan—whipped Minnesota's quintet, co-champions of the Western conference, here tonight, 44 to 18, in the final home game of the local season. Six thousand jammed the fieldhouse to establish an all time record of seven capacity crowds at home games.

By their victory over the Gophers, who Saturday night clinched a tie for Big Ten honors with Illinois, the Notre Dame boys asserted their claim to fame as the outstanding quintet of the eastern half of the nation. That Notre Dame cannot claim greater fame probably is due only to its schedule, which had no place on it for the ambitious university teams of the far west.

It's 12th in Row.

Tonight's overwhelming triumph was the nineteenth for Notre Dame in its 22 game schedule, which ends on Saturday night at Detroit. It was the sixteenth victory in the last 17 games and the twelfth consecutive victory.

Northwestern, Illinois and Pittsburgh defeated Notre Dame this winter. All were beaten in return battles. Notre Dame also swept through the east without defeat as well as adding Purdue to the list of triumphs in home territory.

The size of the score was the surprise, for many had conceded that Minnesota, tired from the grind of the concluding Big Ten games, would be defeated. But the smooth passing attack, the accurate, driving dribbling and the phenomenal shooting of the Irish quintet swamped the visitors almost before they realized the game had started.

Lead 8 to 0 in 90 Seconds.

In 90 seconds after Referee Nick Kearns had tossed up the ball at center for the first time, Notre Dame had an 8 to 0 lead. Only once in those seconds was Minnesota in possession of the ball and then it was fumbled and lost before a shot was made for the goal.

In that sparkling assault, Johnny Moir, undoubtedly one of the nation's best forwards, dashed in for two field goals and also dropped in two penalty shots on Dick Seebach's foul. Paul Nowak, Irish center, scored the other goal.

This pair, when they tried, and there were many times tonight when they seemed willing to loaf, dazzled the Gophers. Moir could not be stopped. In all, he raced in for seven field goals and he scored five penalty shots in that number of attempts. Moir's 19 points brought his seasons total to 274, a new Notre Dame record, eclipsing his own mark of 260 made last winter in his sophomore year.

Kundla Scores First.

Johnny Kundla, after missing a penalty shot, took the rebound and shot one handed for Minnesota's first goal. There the Gophers stopped while Moir, with the aid of Earl Brown's long goal, sent the score to 16 to 2. Tom Wukovits, Irish guard, dropped in two long shots and Notre Dame led 20 to 2. Five minutes had elapsed.

The Irish scoring tornado subsided as suddenly as it had started. In the remaining 15 minutes of the half, the Irish were held to six points. The boys had the shots, as many perhaps as in the opening drive, but the ball rolled off the iron hoop and struck the edge. But the outcome had been determined when the teams left the floor for the intermission, with Notre Dame leading 26 to 8.

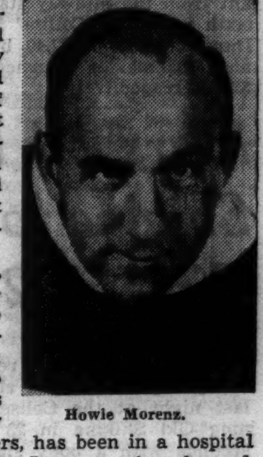
EX-BLACKHAWK FAILS TO RALLY AFTER INJURY

Called Best Center of All Time.

MONTREAL, Que., March 8.—(AP)—Howie Morenz, star of the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hocky league and rated one of the greatest hocky players of all time, died of a heart ailment tonight.



Howie Morenz.

Morenz, who returned to the Canadiens from the Chicago Blackhawks and the New York Rangers, has been in a hospital since late in January when he suffered a broken leg in a game with Chicago. A few days ago he was reported to have suffered a nervous breakdown as a result of having too many visitors in the hospital.

He was only 35 years old, but was rated a veteran of the game. He was in his thirteenth season as a big league hocky player when he was injured.

A FORMER BLACKHAWK

Howarth Morenz, one of hocky's all time greats, who died at Montreal last night, was born 35 years ago in Mitchell, Ont., but soon moved to Stratford, the town which was to give him his nickname, "the Stratford Streak."

Death came to Howie in a season during which he was making one of the most thrilling comebacks in the history of the sport, following a thirteen year career which saw him become the highest paid player in the game, at a salary once reported to be $15,000.

Although he gained his greatest fame as a member of the Montreal Canadiens, popularly known as the Flying Frenchmen, Morenz himself was of German extraction. Nevertheless, the black haired flash, weighed 165 pounds and stoood 5 feet, 9 inches tall, spoke with a definite Scotch burr much of the time.

He is survived by his wife, a son, Howie Jr., who was the Canadiens' mascot, and a daughter.

"Greatest of Centers."

Clem Loughlin, manager of the Chicago Blackhawks, with whom Morenz played during the 1934-'35 season and a portion of last year, was shocked when informed of the star's death early this morning. Loughlin knew him as an opponent as well, having played against Morenz in a Stanley cup series in the spring of 1925, the year in which Howie first came to prominence.

"Howie was to my mind the greatest center in modern hocky history," Loughlin said. "His death comes as a distinct loss to every one in the game, for he was popular in every city in the league. We visited him in a Montreal hospital about ten days ago, when we played the Maroons up there, and he looked to be in perfect health, aside from his broken leg. When we attempted to repeat the visit on March 4, however, we found that all visitors were barred due to a nervous condition, supposedly brought on by the numerous visitors he had following the accident."

Hurt Against Hawks.

By a strange circumstance it was in a game against the Hawks, his old mates, that Morenz suffered the broken left leg which cut short what appeared to be one of his greatest years, one all the more remarkable because he had reached an age when most hocky players, particular forwards, are beginning to slow down.

The accident occurred early in the first period of the Jan. 28 game between the Hawks and Canadiens at Montreal. It was a freak happening, Morenz hurdling Andy Blair of the Hawks while chasing the puck, and his skate catching the boards and Neither are they all grouped behind the footlights.

There in the front row or high up in the gallery—whether by actuality or by proxy because of their diversified modes of living—are some of the most colorful characters you will find anywhere.

RUDIE TRIUMPHS IN INAUGURAL AT TROPICAL PARK

Wins Pan-American Handicap in 1:12 4/5.

Miami, Fla., March 8.—(AP)—W. H. Gallagher's Rudie, which quit after setting the early pace in the Flamingo stakes at Hialeah Park, found six furlongs more to his liking today in accounting for the Pan-American handicap at the opening of Tropical Park's spring meeting.

The track was none too fast as the result of the heavy rain which started an hour before the first race, but Rudie stepped the three-quarters of a mile in the excellent time of 1:12 4-5. The son of Reigh Count made all his own pace and won in a drive by a length and a half. Mrs. Emil Denemark's entry of Sir Quest and Higher Cloud splashed to second and third places, respectively, a half length apart.

Despite the fact he finished ninth in the Flamingo, Rudie was favored to beat his older rivals, paying $5.40 for $2.

Albert Schmidl, second leading apprentice at Hialeah, got away to a good start by piloting three winners. He took the second with L. Handley's Inscona, the fourth with Claimant from the Midway stable and the sixth with I. J. Collins' Bushmaster. Inscona paid only $7.40, but Claimant and Bushmaster returned $15.30 and $25.40, respectively.

Marshall Pins Shikina for 3d Time in 23:19

Everett Marshall retained his heavyweight wrestling championship last night at the Coliseum by pinning Oki Shikina in 23 minutes 19 seconds with a body slam. It was the Colorado wrestler's third victory over Shikina this season and like its predecessors it was dramatic.

Shortly after the 20 minute mark Marshall obtained a double nelson which had Shikina groggy. With an extraordinary display of strength, Shikina broke the hold, tripped Marshall to the canvas and clamped on a Japanese arm lock. Marshall, however, broke the grip to end the match.

The attendance was 6,080 and the gross receipts were $6,170.

Ray Steele, veteran heavyweight from St. Louis, defeated Hans Schnabel when the latter was thrown out of the ring and counted out by Referee Charley Lavine. The time was 20:20. Other results:

"HORSE FIDDLES."

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 8.—Explanation in this department by Helper Abbie of the origin, structure, use of the "horse fiddle" as an instrument for calling horses which had become familiar with its weird sounds from pasture to barn at evening, brought a mass of correspondence from others who remembered it principally as used at charivari, "chivaree," or "shivaree"—whichever way you spell it—the noise was the same. Here are some of the comments:

"The horse fiddle, invented by hoodlums for making the night hideous for newly married couples was used before the civil war. It was made by stretching ropes across the top of a large dry goods box and a scantling or fence rail for a bow with plenty of rosin on it. It could be heard for half a mile. M. W. M.

Pardon if I say I know all about the horse fiddle. I helped steal material for making them and was a member in good standing of the Brooklyn Hoss Fiddle Octet. In them happy days, fifty years ago, piece goods came in big, strong boxes about five feet square. This made the sounding board of the fiddle. A 2 by 12 plank, conveniently "lifted" from the lumber yard, and a few pounds of rosin "donated" by the hardware merchant did the rest.

One side of the box was knocked out and the rosin applied. Then three or four husky yeomen on each end agitated the plank, producing the fearful stridulations that reverberated out over the "delectable lands" of southern Wisconsin. Its chief use was at shivarees, elections, when we beat New Glarus in baseball, and other festal occasions.

C. M. Conradson.

Some there may be who will contend that the bass viol or bull fiddle was also termed a horse fiddle. But an artist who has drawn out the expressions of contumely from a true horse fiddle or played one in a callithumpian parade on the glorious Fourth will never concede the title to any other instrument.

Antiloquist.

Back in the old days there was no escape by the happy bride and groom from the strident tones of the horse fiddle at the chivaree following their wedding. In those days bridal pairs did not escape their friends by honeymoon trips, but went to their new homes. Grooms who had participated in affairs in honor of others often stocked up with cigars and light refreshments, invited the serenaders in and thus escaped a more prolonged celebration, but there always was considerable horse play or, more correctly speaking, horse fiddle play.

Bright Sayings.

Each school day morning the children of Owatonna, Minn., salute the flag, and this is what my grandson, David, 6 years old, says as he does it:

"I pledge allegiance to the flag, the United States of America, and the Republicans for which it stands, one nation indivisible and digestible for all."

Comeback.

PAST.

When your reveries leave you all futile and dry
With the dust of old mem'ries revived from the crash

PRESENT.

When your daily routine is just one constant drudge
In a world filled with evil and ill,
And the man in the street is your personal grudge,
Your trafic light's stuck at Stand Still.

FUTURE.

But when confidence visions new promises sweet
And each day dawns with glamor and pride,

Passes and Taxes.

At the Hialeah race meeting ending last Saturday an unusual number of passes were issued for political or other reasons. There was, however, a tax fee on the Annie Oakleys of $1.50 for clubhouse [face value $4] and of 50 cents for grandstand [face value $1.25]. Taxes for the clubhouse were distributed 32 cents to Uncle Sam, 48 cents to state, and 70 cents "service charge"; to grandstand, 10 cents to Uncle Sam, 15 cents to state, and 25 cents "service charge." Of course the Jocky club received the service charges and therefore a small fee from its gratis visitors.

Time Heals.

As they used to say, a widower is like a new baby. He cries hard at first. At 6 months he begins to sit up and take notice, and it's awfully hard to bring him through the second summer. True, isn't it? Irene.

MISSOURI ADOPTS COMMISSION TO SUPERVISE GAME

Leaves Illinois as One of Few Backward States.

BY BOB BECKER.

Adoption of the commission form of conservation administration by Missouri leaves Illinois one of the few states in the Union which has thus far failed to take game and fish resources from the field of politics, Joseph Duner, president of the Illinois division of the Izaak Walton league, said yesterday.

Mr. Duner, who attended the North American Wildlife congress in St. Louis last week, discussed the subject of conservation administration with Gov. Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri. Gov. Stark explained that Missouri had just amended its constitution to permit the appointment of a nonpartisan commission of four men, who serve without salaries. They employ a director of conservation, and his entire force, in turn, is under civil service.

Reason for Action.

"Gov. Stark told me that Missouri was moved to take this action not only by the success of conservation commissions in other states but also because of the experience of his own state with a nonpartisan highway commission," Mr. Duner said. "The conservation problem was becoming more complex and more difficult under politics and, after considerable investigation, the conservation groups as well as civic organizations backed the movement to remove the department from politics."

The Illinois division of the Izaak Walton league is one of the groups banded together in the Associated Conservation Organizations of Illinois. These associated groups have called upon Gov. Horner to lend his support to a proposed bill calling for the appointment of a conservation commission for Illinois.

Out of Politics.

The bill also would remove the field force of the conservation department from politics by placing it under strict civil service.

Among the groups supporting the movement are the Illinois and Chicago chapters of the Izaak Walton leagues, the Illinois Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Illinois Conservation council, the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, the Illinois Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, the Campfire club of Chicago, and numerous other sportsmen's and farmers' organizations.

BIKE WINNERS

Jean Aerts. Omer Debruycker.

Four international stars will compete in a ten mile motor paced race Monday night, shortly after the six day bicycle race starts in the Stadium. The bike race will start at 9 o'clock and at 10:30 the motorcycle paced event will be held. Riders in the race will be: Gerard Debaets of Belgium, the American motor paced champion; Bobby Thomas, American youngster from Kenosha, Wis.; Ewald Wissel of Germany, and Tino Reboli, Italian-American youth from Newark.

Harry Mendel, manager of the Chicago race, arrived yesterday praising the riding of Jean Aerts and Omer Debruycker, the Belgian team, winners of the recent New York six day grind. They will compete at the Stadium. They won the New York race in a stirring finish. Mendel said, "Thomas and Reboli would have won had not a spill occurred in the last hour, which stopped the jamming and robbed them of a lap which would have spelled victory."

marksmen. They are sure to win several bouts on points.

With the exception of the 118 pound class, New York has no standout representatives. On the other hand, there are no weak spots. One division seems to be as well fortified as another.

William Speary of Philadelphia took the flyweight honors from Allie Stolz of Paterson, N. J., solely on his aggressiveness. Stolz was clever on defense, frequently making Speary miss badly, but the Philadelphia boy never became discouraged. He always kept boring in, blazing away with both hands to the head and body. Philadelphia also came up with a winner in the lightweight division when Joe Kelly whipped George Henry, a New York colored boy. Frequent clinches detracted from their work.

The windup battle between Clarence Hapes, 225 pound football star from the University of Mississippi, and Joe Matisi of Binghamton, N. Y., was a thriller. Matisi won the decision by virtue of two knockdowns he scored in the early rounds.

PAT ROBERTSON WINS DECISION OVER PAUL LEE

Cellura, Walker Draw in Marigold Semi-Windup.

Robertson, weighing 127 pounds, floored his 126 pound opponent twice in the fourth for a six count and again in the sixth for two. Lee also slumped to the canvas in the third claiming foul, but after a short rest agreed to continue.

It's Second Meeting.

The bout was their second meeting. The other, in the same arena three weeks ago, was called a draw.

Johnny Cellura of Detroit held Young Mickey Walker, Sioux City featherweight, to a draw in an action filled five round bout that held the semi windup position on the card.

Promoter Irving Schoenwald and his associate, Jack Begun, lost $40 of the advance sale to two holdup men at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the arena.

Each Carry Gun.

Schoenwald had just arrived to supervise a rearrangement of seats when the holdup men arrived, each carrying a gun and shielding his face with a handkerchief. After relieving the two men of the money they jumped into a waiting car and sped away. Present at the time were Joe Hess, a fight trainer and an unidentified salesman, who lost $45.

The fighters all were paid off, however, from the balance of the $1,34[illegible] net receipts.

Other results:

Mickey Walker and Johnny Cellura drew [5].
Ray Baker beat Johnny Campbell [4].
Emil Campagna stopped Pete Gendra [1].
Billy Gladstone beat Vincent Satkoff [4].

Frankie Hughes, Clinton, Ind., welterweight, was substituted for Puggy Weinert in an eight round bout against Henry Rothier at Rainbo Fronton Friday after Weinert asked to be excused because of a cut eye received in training yesterday afternoon. One of three encounters at four rounds will concern Jack Fargo, Chicago heavyweight, who knocked out Verne Galbreath last week.

A change has been made in Joe Louis' current exhibition tour, the jaunt being revised to end at San Diego, Cal., March 29 instead of Los Angeles April 2. Thousands turn to OLD-TIME Beer packaged WITHOUT ARTIFICIAL GAS

No more "gassy" bite or "heady" shock to the throat. I get full foam and sparkle with natural draft beer carbonation created in the beer itself.

—by RICHARD SEIBOLD, Brewmaster

THERE'S real satisfaction in being proved right. Especially when you've been called stubborn. Many people said the public wouldn't appreciate beer made the old-time slow way. But our sales records prove different. Because MEISTER BRÄU is now the fastest selling bottled beer in this great mid-western area.

I was just as stubborn, just as slow when it came to putting MEISTER BRÄU in cans. We had our beer in cans for eight months before offering it to the public. Hence we're able to guarantee MEISTER BRÄU to be the same in Can or Bottle.

I've been making MEISTER BRÄU since 1906, making it the same way it has been made since 1891.

This old slow method of brewing is the one I use today. We pay above the usual price to get the finest Malt and Hops. We clean them carefully before boiling. This removes the chaff—so we don't have to boil and boil until the life is boiled out of the beer.

I don't try to save time by adding sugars or syrups in the brewing. That may make a beer over-sweet.

I don't need to use Artificial Gas in bottling or canning, because I get a full high foam and sparkle with natural draft beer carbonation created in the beer itself.

I'm sure you'll agree that my methods make a real difference in the beer. Now we are ready with MEISTER BRÄU in cans for those who prefer this container. Also in the new steinie ¼ gallon. If you like an oldtime beer—not "heady" or "gassy," order MEISTER BRÄU.

CARDINAL INFIELD TAKES SHAPE IN DOUBLE WORKOUT

Frisch May Be Forced to Play Second Base.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 8.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals' infield seemed about set after two more stiff practice sessions in sultry weather today. The way affairs shape up now, Johnny Mize will be at first base, Leo Durocher at short, and Don Gutteridge at third.

If Stuart Martin is not in condition when the season opens, Manager Frankie Frisch said he will make every effort to be at second base himself. Jimmy Brown and Al Cuccinello have been working out there, too.

Paul Dean revealed today that Brother Diz telephoned him from Bradenton Sunday night "merely to ask about my arm and general condition."

"He did not say anything about his contract," Paul stated, "but, doggone, I wish Dizzy would come in." Paul said Dizzy indicated he is going to New York in a few days.

RED ROOKIE PROMISING.

Tampa, Fla., March 8.—(AP)—The splendid showing so far of Rookie Pitcher Lee Grissom, the big left hander, probably will win for him the starting assignment in the Cincinnati Reds' first exhibition game against the New York Yankees next week, said Manager Charles Dressen today.

GIANTS SIGN SPENCER.

HAVANA, Cuba, March 8.—(AP)—Roy Spencer, the New York Giants' third string catcher who staged a unique holdout this spring, signed his 1937 contract today.

Spencer had refused to sign unless assured he would remain with the Giants all season. Manager Bill Terry, however, offered him a choice of signing with the Giants as a third stringer or with their Jersey City farm as a regular. Spencer chose the New York post although Terry advised him to accept the minor league job.

YANKEE PITCHER HURT.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 8.—(AP)—Monte Pearson became the first important casualty of the New York Yankees' training season today when he injured his right ankle by stepping on a rolling ball. Trainer Earl Painter estimated the pitcher would be out of action for four or five days.

NEWSOM VISITS SENATORS.

Orlando, Fla., March 8.—(AP)—Louis [Buck] Newsom, Washington pitcher, breezed into town today to discuss his hold-out war with Owner Clark Griffith. He said he was in no mood to surrender to Griffith's proposed contract calling for a $2,000 reduction in his 1936 salary of $11,000. Instead he wants an increase.

DODGERS EXERCISE.

Clearwater, Fla., March 8.—(AP)—Rain failed to halt the Brooklyn Dodgers today. With batting practice washed out several of the players, including Van Mungo and Watson Clark, took exercise by running around the soggy field.

RED SOX SIGN WALBERG.

HORNSBY IS OPTIMISTIC.

San Antonio, Tex., March 8.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns held a four hour practice session today and Manager Rogers Hornsby later declared that he believes he is going to have a squad with both ability and harmony this summer.

TIGERS SHOW PUNCH.

Lakeland, Fla., March 8.—(AP)—Gerald Walker, Detroit Tiger heavy hitter, arrived in the Detroit camp today and smashed three balls over the left field fence in his first batting practice.

PIRATE PITCHERS WORK.

Picard-Revolta Team Leads as Rain Halts Play

Miami, Fla., March 8.—(AP)—Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta birdied their way toward another victory today in the international four-ball golf matches, scoring a nine under par 63 before a tropical rainstorm caught them and the rest of the field at lunch time.

The second rounds of today's scheduled 36 hole quarter final matches were postponed until tomorrow afternoon, with the semi-finals put off until Wednesday and the finals to Thursday.

Picard and Revolta, two mile winners of the annual event, had a 2 up edge over Gene Sarazen and Jimmy Hines, whom they defeated 4 and 2 in last year's final, when play was halted.

Two Others Even.

Two other matches were even—those of Dick Metz and Ky Laffoon against Jimmy Thomson and Harry Cooper, in which the medal scores were 68, and Johnny Farrell and Willie Klein against Lawson Little and Tony Manero.

The downpour drove the fourth match off the 18th green with Willie MacFarlane and Frank Walsh holding a one up lead over Ed Oliver and Sam Snead.

As they stuck in the markers and picked up their balls until tomorrow, Walsh had the best chance to take the par five hole—a 20 foot putt for a birdie four. His partner was off to the side behind a trap, Snead was past the green and Oliver was short.

Win Three Straight Holes.

MacFarlane and Walsh won three holes in a row with birdie threes on the first nine, Walsh's approaches dropping dead on the third and fifth holes and MacFarlane sinking a 15 foot chip shot on the fourth. Snead dropped a 12 foot putt to hold a half on the seventh and Oliver deuced the short eighth with a tee shot just inches from the pin. They were both up for a birdie four on the ninth to cut their deficit to one.

Hawk Rookies Face Boston Six Thursday

Games Tonight

Rangers at Americans.
Maroons at Canadiens.
Detroit at Boston.

Manager Clem Loughlin's Blackhawks skimmed and scrimmaged on the ice of the Stadium yesterday morning and at the same time Coach Emil Iverson's all-Americans did likewise on the Chicago Arena's frozen surface. This morning and tomorrow morning the two units will practice together for a common cause, the defeat of the Boston Bruins, with whom they clash Thursday in the last home game of the season for the Blackhawks.

It will be the first appearance of Maj. McLaughlin's rookies as a unit in a regular National Hocky league contest. As the loss or winning of the game itself can have no bearing on the way the teams now stand in the United States section of the league, the Hawks' bosses deemed it a golden opportunity to toss the all-American quintet against one of the league's most aggressive teams in an effort to discover the shortcomings of their five new youngsters in real rough going.

Working together at all times as a unit throughout the game, the new team will have Ernest Klingbeil and Dutch Schaefer at defense and Bun La Prairie, Milt Brink, and Al Suomi on the forward line. With Mike Karakas in the nets, they will comprise the first United States born sextet the professional game has ever known.

NEW YORK, March 8.—Mike Jacobs, whose Twentieth Century club will promote the Louis-Braddock fight in Chicago June 22, maybe, left the hospital today where he has been confined for a week with a sinus infection, a threatened attack of pneumonia, and a case of nerves. . . . He hopes to be in shape to make a trip to Chicago this weekend. . . . His publicity chief, Walter St. Dennis, will establish headquarters in the loop in a few days. . . . Bill Terry, manager of the Giants, thinks Carl Hubbell has about three more good seasons left in him. . . . Myril Hoag of the Yankees is 28 years old today. . . . Ambrose Schindler, quarter back on the football team, is a high jump candidate on Southern California's track squad. . . . Stewart Merrill, captain and shortstop on Northwestern's baseball club last spring, has signed with Birmingham of the Southern league and will report there Wednesday.

Eighth avenue and Fiftieth street rapidly is becoming cauliflower row. . . . Across the street one way from Madison Square Garden is Mickey Walker's Toy Bulldog restaurant. . . . Across another way is Jack Dempsey's. . . . And a few yards east of Dempsey's, on 50th, is Tony Canzoneri's new bar and grill. . . . At 7 o'clock last night Dempsey's spacious room was filled while the smaller quarters of Walker and Canzoneri were sparsely populated. . . . Scores of admirers were flocking into Tony's for his autograph, but not many remained to eat or drink. . . . Louis Boudreau, Illinois' sophomore basketball star, is said to be a nifty third baseman. . . . Ray Meyer, basketball captain at Notre Dame, was a member of the St. Agatha five when it won the first Chicago C. Y. O. championship in 1931.

The six day bicycle race which ended at the Garden Saturday night was something of a floperino. . . . The decline is attributed to the management's effort to appeal to the better element by eliminating the thieves and night life floozies who for years have been accepted as part of the show in New York and Chicago. . . . This department hopes that Monsieur Harry Mendel, who is responsible for the Chicago race, will recognize that there isn't any of the better element left out there. . . . That section of the population passed out with the Anti-Saloon league. . . . They are very uninteresting people anyway. . . . What six day racing needs is a new slogan such as "Give the game back to the mugs." . . . Or perhaps Harry Moroni, Grand avenue restaurateur, has the solution. . . . He says there are too many foreign fellas riding. . . . "They need a less foreign riders and more Italianos and then she's a race," explains Mr. Moroni.

Mel Ott has given up his quest for the $1,000 prize offered the first player who hits a ball over right field in the Giants' Havana training camp. . . . The fence is 398 feet from home plate. . . . George Hainsworth, old Toronto goalie, estimates that he stopped 25,000 pucks in 25 years of hocky. . . . Babe Risko, former middleweight champion, whose right name is Harry Pylkowsky, mortgaged his home for $9,000 to raise the $25,000 purse he guaranteed champion Freddie Steele in their recent fight. . . . The bout drew $17,802 and Risko lost the decision. . . .

going through them. At the time physicians said that the injury would keep Morenz out of action for five weeks and possibly for the entire season.

Morenz had scored four goals and 15 assists when he suffered his injury, giving him a total of 19 points, two less than he had scored in the entire season last year. During his thirteen years in hocky Howie scored 270 goals and 196 assists for a lifetime aggregate of 466 points.

Morezn was throughout almost his entire career a member of the Bix Six, composed of the game's leading scorers, including such other starts as Bill Cook, Aurel Joliat, and Frank Boucher. He began his major league play as a member of the Canadiens in the 1924-25 season, and continued to be the idol of Montreal's French speaking hocky populace until October of 1934, when he came to the Hawks with Marty Burke and Lorne Chabot in a trade for Lionel Conacher, Roger Jenkins, and Leroy Goldsworthy.

Goes to Rangers.

In midseason last year, he went to the New York Rangers in a trade for Glenn Brydson, and finished the season out with the New Yorkers.

In the off season, however, Cecil Hart returned to the Canadiens as manager. Hart managed the Frenchmen to the only two successive Stanley cups ever won by any team, in the seasons of 1929-30 and 1930-31, and Morenz, with Aurel Joliat and Johnny Gagnon playing the wings opposite him, were the bright stars of those two victories. The combination of manager and stars was reunited this season when Morenz rejoined the Canadiens. He made his last Chicago appearance at the Stadium on Jan. 24, scoring a goal and an assist in the Canadiens' 4 to 1 victory over the Hawks that night.

Morenz twice led the league in scoring, getting 33 goals and 18 assists in 1927-28 and 28 goals and 25 assists in 1931-32. Three seasons—1927-28, 1930-31, David Hart trophy as the league's and 1931-32—he was awarded the Dr. most valuable player.

LEAGUE RADIO RIGHTS ARE SOLD BY ASSOCIATION

Sponsors Believed to Pay More than $50,000.

Columbus, O., March 8.—(AP)—The American association sold its 1937 broadcasting privileges today for enough to pay its umpires, the president's salary, and all administrative costs for the season.

President George M. Trautman, who signed the agreement after receiving approval from the eight club owners, said it was the first time an entire league had contracted for the broadcasting of its games.

Declines to Reveal Price.

Trautman declined to say how much the league received for the radio privilege, but announced that the usual administrative assessment of 4 cents per admission against each club had been canceled for the coming campaign. The radio revenue, he said, would more than offset the league receipts derived from the admission assessment.

The clubs, which in the past had sold their own broadcast rights, will retain the 4 cents usually paid the league on each admission. Trautman said each club would benefit by the change.

Last year the league played to 1,235,000 paid admissions, giving the league approximately $50,000 in administrative funds from the admission assessment. Trautman said the league anticipated an attendance increase this year, indicating the broadcast rights brought more than the $50,000 paid in by the eight clubs during 1936.

Sunday, Holiday Games Off.

Joint sponsors of the broadcasts in all association cities will be a cereal processor and an oil company.

Under the contract all weekday contests would be broadcast, but the Sunday and holiday games would be kept off the air. Night games are on the schedule of broadcasts, but it is probable some of them will not be broadcast because of station commitments, Trautman said.

Although games will be played in only four cities at a time, eight broadcasts are scheduled daily. In each case the broadcast will be relayed from the scene of the game to the home station of the visiting team, in addition to being broadcast from the lumbus, Indianapolis, Louisville, Mil- Clubs in the league are Toledo, Columbus, Indianapolis, Louisville, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, and Kansas City.

SEC CHARGES STOCK 'RUN UP' TO AID FINANCING

Shenandoah Under Fire at Trust Hearing.

Washington, D. C., March 8.—(AP)—Securities and Exchange commission counsel contended today that parent companies in the Harrison Williams mammoth utilities empire of 1929 "ran up" their stocks for the purpose of floating new issues. David Schenker, the counsel, wove the complex narrative around testimony by Sidney J. Weinberg, a witness in the government's examination of investment trust operations.

Questioning centered around formation of the Shenandoah corporation, a link in the Williams chain, which was forged by the combined resources of the Central States Electric corporatoin and the Goldman Sachs Trading corporation. The former was a Williams concern and the latter an investment trust operated by Goldman Sachs & Co., New York bankers.

Put in Own Stocks.

Weinberg, a Goldman Sachs partner, testified that the electric corporation and the trading corporation put their own stocks into Shenandoah, each receiving thereby 2,000,000 shares of Shenandoah common stock and $5,000,000 in cash.

The new corporation, he said, was capitalized at 5,000,000 shares of common and 1,000,000 shares of preferred, of which 1,000,000 common was to be put on the market at $17.20 and 1,000,000 preferred at $50.

In starting the concern, Weinberg testified Goldman Sachs stock was taken into Shenandoah at $105 a share and Central States at $52. The valuations, he conceded under tense questioning by Schenker, represented a premium of about 100 per cent more than the liquidating value of the stocks.

Assets 50 Per Cent of Price.

Assets behind the respective parent securities, he said, amounted to only one half the market price arising from the frenzied public speculation in 1929.

Schenker used the statement in an effort to show "manipulation" by the house of issue. He charged that in the "few months" immediately preceding the debut of Shenandoah, Goldman Sachs Trading corporation purchased 570,000 shares of its own common stock at about $57,500,000.

This was done, he said, to "run up" the price on the New York Curb exchange and create among potential Shenandoah customers a high regard for the soundness of parent stocks backing the new corporation. Weinberg emphatically denied the commission charges.

Harbison-Walker.

Investors' Guide: Please give me full report and rating of Harbison-Walker as an investment. How long has the stock paid dividends?—M. M.

Answer: Rolling along with the recovery movement, particularly that of the steel industry, the business of Harbison-Walker Refractories company is back at 1930 levels.

The company is the leading American manufacturer of refractory materials—fire clay, fire brick, silica brick, magnesite, and chrome brick. These materials are used for the lining of blast furnaces, open harth steel furnaces, coke ovens, boilers, cement kilns, and copper smelters. It has exclusive rights in this country for manufacture of silica brick by a relatively new process which originated in Germany.

An unlimited supply of raw materials is believed assured in ownership of 116,000 acres of fire clay, ganister [silica-clay rock], and silica rock lands.

Thirteen of the company's 27 plants are in Pennsylvania. Others are in Ohio, Alabama, Missouri, Kentucky, and East Chicago, Ind. Sales offices and warehouses are maintained in principal cities of this country.

The high rate of production in the steel industry, principal source of demand, coupled with increased production in the copper, cement, sugar, and locomotive industries, boosted net income to $3,362,000 or $2.41 a share in 1936. This was the best figure reported since that of $3,812,000 or $2.52 in 1930. The company's record net income was $5,256,000 or $3.52 a share in 1929.

Net income slumped to $1,284,000 or 77 cents a share in 1931, and a loss of $610,000 was reported in 1932. The beginnings of recovery were shown in net income of $760,000 or 42 cents a share in 1933. The movement continued with net income of $1,247,000 or 77 cents a share in 1934 and $1,806,000 or $1.20 a share in 1935.

Financial position is strong, current liabilities being only $1,617,000, against current assets of $7,859,000 at the end of 1936. Cash alone was $1,848,000. There is no funded debt.

Capitalization consists of 30,000 shares of 6 per cent $100 par preferred and 1,358,883 shares of no par common stock.

Dividends were paid continuously on the common from 1910 through 1932, were resumed in 1934 with payment of 62½ cents. Payments amounted to $1 in 1935 and $2.25 in 1936. The stock now is on a regular basis of 50 cents quarterly. Preferred dividends, paid regularly for 30 years, were omitted in two quarters during 1933, but arrears were made up the following year.

The common is of fairly good grade. The preferred is high grade.

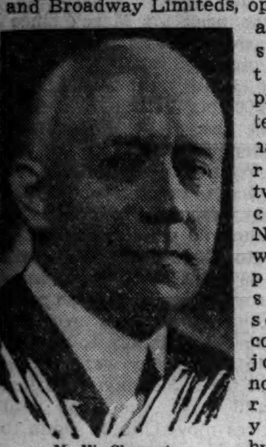
20TH CENTURY, BROADWAY LTD. TO SPEED RUNS

Plan Streamliners for N. Y. Service.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.



M. W. Clement.

Entirely new Twentieth Century and Broadway Limiteds, operating on a faster schedule than the present sixteen and a half hour runs between Chicago and New York, will be placed in service soon, according to a joint announcement released yesterday by the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads. M. W. Clement is president of the Pennsylvania and F. E. Williamson heads the New York Central.

May Cut Schedule 1 Hour.

While plans for the two new trains are still in the engineering stage, it was said they will be streamlined, light weight, and semi-articulated, of the type with which the Pullman company has experimented. The announcement of the two railroads, which have been collaborating for a year in trying to find the type of train best suited to their needs, does not go into details.

Although officials of the two roads declined to comment on proposed reductions in running time, it was reliably reported that consideration was being given to time cuts of half an hour to an hour, which would put the trains on a 16 or a 15½ hour schedule. It was held to be most likely that the running time of the trains on the eastbound trip will receive the larger reduction, as New York has a time advantage because it is on eastern time.

Several months ago it was reported that some eastern railroad officials favored a flat 15 hour schedule in which it would be possible to leave Chicago at 5 p. m. and arrive in New York at 9 a. m., said to be the most desirable hour for most passengers for arrival.

Plan Different Equipment.

"The new equipment will mark a distinct departure from that now in service," it was stated. "While it will preserve the advantages of spaciousness afforded by standard sized Pullman cars, it will embody many novel features of interior design, decoration, and arrangement. It is believed that when these new trains are placed in service they will establish a new high standard in American railway passenger equipment.

"The new equipment, including lounge, sleeping, and observation cars, will be built by the Pullman company in accordance with designs now being worked out in coöperation with the two railroads."

The distance between Chicago and New York via the New York Central is 960 miles, so the Twentieth Century runs at an average speed of 58 miles an hour to make the run in 16½ hours. Via the Pennsylvania the distance is 910 miles and the Broadway's average speed is 55 miles an hour.

Average 65 Miles.

On a run of somewhat comparable distance, that of 1,050 miles between Chicago and Denver, the Denver Zephyr of the Burlington runs at an average speed of about 65 miles an hour. The distance between the two cities via the North Western-Union Pacific is slightly greater, with the result that the city of Denver of these two roads has an average speed of 65½ miles an hour.

Both the New York Central and Pennsylvania have a different problem than the two western roads with their run of comparable distance because of the densely populated regions through which the eastern lines operate. However, as a basis of comparison, at an average speed of 65 miles an hour the Century would be able to make the run in a little under 15 hours, while the Broadway would be able to run the 910 miles in 14 hours.

FEDERAL BARGE LINE RESUMES CHICAGO TRAFIC

St. Louis, Mo., March 8.—(AP)—The Diesel engined towboat Franklin D. Roosevelt pushed six loaded barges up the Illinois river today to Peoria and Chicago, inaugurating the federal barge lines' northward trafic from St. Louis this season. The tow, with 1,673 tons of pay freight, left here yesterday. It will arrive at Peoria tomorrow and at Chicago two days later.

The first towboat of the lines on the Missouri river to Kansas City will leave March 11. Service on the upper Mississippi river to St. Paul and Minneapolis will begin about April 1.

France Begins to Buy Gold; Boosts Price

France initiated her gold buying program yesterday by raising the price for the metal to an equivalent of $35.0009 a fine ounce within that country. This was equivalent to $34.78 in the world market, on the basis of the franc in New York yesterday. The United States government pays $35 an ounce.

The internal gold price, which is subject to change without notice, is at the rate of 24,509,537 francs per kilogram of gold, or 21.8 francs to the dollar [4.58 cents to the franc], and approximately 106.35 francs to the pound sterling.

Before the national financial policy was revised last week the franc quotations were approximately 21.50 francs to the dollar and 105.13 francs to the pound sterling.

Conform to World Price.

The price paid yesterday was based upon the world price of gold and future prices will depend upon fluctuations in the world price.

The Bank of France began buying operations in accordance with the open market policy announced on Friday by Premier Leon Blum, who at the same time said a huge national defense loan would be floated. Offering of the loan was originally scheduled for yesterday but was postponed to allow parliament to pass the necessary guarantees for the loan.

Cables from Paris said that Premier Blum was rushing to completion a series of bills that will authorize the issuance of the national defense loan. With approval of all the measures assured by the government's majority, preparations were being made for placing the loan on the market by Thursday.

Gold Transactions Permitted.

Operations of the Bank of France yesterday were under existing financial statutes and offerings to the bank included ingots and gold coins. The bank, following an agreement with the Blum government, lifted all restrictions upon gold transactions pending approval of an approbation bill by parliament today.

Raising of the gold price was interpreted in financial quarters as designed primarily to stimulate the dehoarding of both coins and foreign currencies within France and, by gradually advancing the world price, to bring about the repatriation of huge balances placed by French people in the United States and Great Britain.

The franc recovered sharply in New York after the purchase price for gold was set, closing at 4.56 5-16 cents, up .03 13-16 cents for the day. Trading was brisk but demand was not unusual, traders said. Pound sterling gained 1-16 cent to $4.88.

Engagement in Japan of $5,678,000 in gold for American account aroused interest in Wall street, where it was recalled that no gold had been shipped from that country to the United States in several years. Traders said, however, that the sum represented part of the $14,000,000 or more that Japan recently announced would be sent abroad to hold the yen at its present level.

STEEL OPERATIONS AGAIN HIT NEW HIGH MARK FOR 7½ YEARS

Steel production this week is estimated at 87.3 per cent of plant capacity, an increase of 1.5 points, or 1.75 per cent over last week, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated yesterday.

The present rate is the highest since October, 1929, when operations were estimated at 87.5 per cent. Output a month ago was at 80.6 per cent. A year ago the indicated rate was 55.8 per cent, while the industry was operating two years ago at a rate of 47.1 per cent of capacity.

Tonnage of open harth and Bessemer steel ingots produced in February was larger than in any previous February in history, the institute reported. A total of 4,424,659 gross tons of ingots was produced, an increase of nearly 50 per cent over the output of 2,964,418 tons in February, 1936. In February, 1929, ingot production totaled 4,328,713 gross tons.

NAT. CAN MERGER APPROVED BY STOCKHOLDERS

Stockholders of National Can company yesterday approved the plan of merger with McKeesport Tin Plate company. McKeesport stockholders will vote on the merger Wednesday.

The new corporation will be known as McKeesport Tin Plate corporation. After an increase in the stock of National Can, present shareholders of National Can and McKeesport Tin Plate will exchange their stock for that of the new corporation on the basis of two shares of new stock for each share now held.

Directors of the two companies in arranging the merger several weeks ago believed many economies in operation will result from the new form of organization. National Can is a subsidiary of McKeesport Tin Plate company.

BORDEN SHOWS LARGEST PROFIT FOR FIVE YEARS

Other Firms Report Better Earnings.

The Borden company, nation-wide distributors of dairy and farm products, yesterday reported net earnings of $7,921,489 for 1936, the largest since 1931. Other companies, including Wheeling Steel corporation and Chicago Pneumatic Tool, reported improved earnings.

Borden's annual report, issued by Arthur W. Milburn, president, showed net earnings for 1936 equal to $1.80 a share on the common stock, against $4,842,348, or $1.10 a share in 1935, and $16,088,829, or $3.66 a share, in 1931.

Sales last year were the largest since 1931, amounting to $238,844,537, an increase of $8,956,448, or 9.4 per cent, over those for 1935. Tonnage increased 4.8 per cent.

Division of Earnings.

Net earnings for 1936 were derived 11 per cent from fluid milk sales, and the other 89 per cent from other products.

"Out of every dollar we received in 1936 from the sale of fluid milk," said Milburn, "we paid 46 cents to the farmer and 30 cents to employés. The balance of 24 cents covered the cost of transportation, pasteurization, refrigeration, etc. What was left for the company of this 24 cents after paying expenses was a trifle less than 1 cent for each dollar of sales."

Taxes of every nature totaled $5,205,458, or $1.18 a share, for 1936, against $4,282,329, or 97 cents a share, in 1935.

Goldblatt Earnings Higher.

Maurice Goldblatt, president of Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., told stockholders at the annual meeting yesterday that net profits for 1936 after taxes were $1,949,464, on the basis of preliminary figures, and sales were $45,600,000. He predicted that sales this year would total about $57,000,000, being 48 per cent above 1936 for the year to date. In 1935 the company had sales of $32,050,000 and net earnings of $1,114,227.

Two new directors were elected, Edward Simon, vice president of the company, and Herman Goldstine, merchandising manager, increasing the board from seven to nine members. Others were reëlected.

Studebaker Nets 2 Million; Sales Show Large Increase

Paul G. Hoffman.

Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker corporation, yesterday reported that the South Bend, Ind., automobile concern had a net profit of $2,187,783 in 1936, compared with a loss of $1,975,622 for the period from March 9, 1935, when the company was reorganized, to Dec. 31, 1935. Last year's profit is equal to $1.01 a share on the 2,171,643 shares of stock outstanding.

Sales totaled $68,928,724 for all of 1936, compared with $33,837,892 in the preceding ten months. Unit sales of passenger cars and trucks for 1936 and preceding years were as follows: 1936, 91,999; 1935, 54,649; 1934, 51,682; 1933, 48,287; 1932, 47,733; 1931, 53,885; 1930, 60,559; 1929, 97,529.

"Published registrations of new passenger cars in the United States show that Studebaker registrations increased 71 per cent over 1935, against 24 per cent for the industry as a whole," Hoffman said.

"More trucks were sold by the corporation during 1936 than during any previous year in its history. Registrations of new Studebaker trucks in the United States increased 56 per cent for 1936 over 1935, compared with an increase for all makes of trucks of 20 per cent."

Hoffman said a substantial part of the credit for improvement in sales volume and in financial results was due to the early introduction of 1937 models, production of which started in August with public announcement in September.

Current assets Dec. 31, 1936, totaled $16,392,828, including cash of $7,129,837, against current liabilities of $5,271,170. This compared with current assets of $13,536,037, cash of $5,160,352, and current liabilities of $6,777,451 at the end of 1935.

SENATORS EXPRESS DOUBT OVER LEGALITY OF CROP INSURANCE

Washington, D. C., March 8.—(AP)—Members of a senate subcommittee told farm leaders today "there is very grave doubt" as to the constitutionality of proposed crop insurance legislation. During testimony by representatives of farm organizations from a dozen states indorsing the Pope crop insurance bill, Senator McGill [D., Kas.] said:

"We should take into consideration whether the Supreme court will declare this bill and all others like it unconstitutional."

McGill, an advocate of crop insurance, added "we're leading the farmers to believe we're going to put all this into effect when as a matter of fact we probably won't."

Senator Pope [D., Idaho], author of the bill under consideration by the committee, commented:

"We must admit there is very grave doubt whether the Supreme court will find this program constitutional." He said this was true despite the exercise of great care in drawing the bill.

RULES ELECTRIC BOND AND SHARE MUST REGISTER

New York, March 8.—(AP)—Federal Judge Julian W. Mack today made permanent a decree requiring the Electric Bond and Share company and 12 subsidiaries and affiliates to register with the Securities and Exchange commission or cease to be holding companies, under pain of halting its interstate service. He issued the injunction to conform with his opinion rendered in January.

The decree forbids the defendants from violating the provisions of the public utility holding company act by directly or indirectly engaging in the transportation, transmission or disposition of natural or manufactured gas or electric energy in interstate commerce, or holding stock in subsidiaries with power to vote, or using the mails or any means of interstate commerce in connection with service, sales or construction work, until and unless registration is accomplished.

BOOKS TO CLOSE ON NEW TREASURY BONDS TOMORROW

Washington, D. C., March 8.—[Special.]—Subscription books for the treasury's offering of 2½ per cent 1949-'53 year bonds, which opened today, will be terminated at the close of business Wednesday, Secretary Morgenthau announced today. Such a quick closing of "the books" on a conversion offer, which involved $502,361,900 of 3 per cent notes which mature April 15 and are called for March 15, indicated that a heavy majority of these securities will be converted into the new bonds—possibly 90 per cent or more.

Morgenthau also announced that $50,055,000 of 98 day treasury bills, dated March 10 and maturing June 16, were sold at an average price of 99.951, equal to a yearly rate of 0.179 per cent on a bank discount basis. A total of $50,010,000 in 273-day bills, dated March 10 and maturing Dec. 8, were sold at an average price of 99.956, equal to 0.454 per cent yearly.

COPPER RAISED AGAIN AS WORLD VIES FOR METAL

Domestic Price Now 16¼ Cents a Pound.

The domestic price of copper yesterday was raised 1¼ cents a pound to 16¼ cents, the highest level since April, 1930, as the world scramble for metals forced another boost in the export price of copper to 16¾ cents, delivered at European ports. Lead and zinc prices also rose sharply.

The new domestic copper price supplanted the 15 cent level which prevailed since late February. Traders saw in the price increase a continued reflection of the heavy demand abroad for metals used in the British rearmament program and other European war preparations. Heavy buying by European speculators also was reported in world copper markets.

Bids for 3,000,000 pounds of copper in varying lots will be opened by the navy department tomorrow.

The new price was nearly 3 cents above the average price of 13.67 cents a pound for the ten year period 1933-'31. The high price of copper in 1930 was 17.87½ cents. In 1929 copper climbed to a high of 23.87 cents. Last year copper was as low as 9.25 cents a pound.

Copper futures were up sharply on the New York Commodity exchange as the price of export copper was boosted several times during the day until it reached the 16.75 level, compared with 16.40 last Saturday. Copper futures closed 35 to 39 points higher [a point equals .01 cent].

The boost in the copper price came on the heels of an increase in lead and zinc prices by leading producers earlier in the day. Zinc was hoisted ½ cent to 7½ cents a pound, East St. Louis. It was the highest price for the metal since February, 1926. Lead was marked up one-quarter of a cent to 7.25 cents a pound, New York, and 7.10 cents, East St. Louis, a new peak since 1929.

Price of Tin Advances.

Tin also joined the rise in metals by advancing to 60⅛ cents, 1⅛ cents over the closing price on Saturday.

Several other commodities also were strong, particularly hides and rubber, which entered new high ground for the season for a time during trading. Prices follow:

CAPITAL SAVED IS CAPITAL GAINED

Permanent impairment of principal, not temporary loss of income, has been the most disastrous experience of scores of investors over the past few years. Never was there a truer saying, "It is easier to make money than to keep it".

As Investment Counsellors, we are primarily concerned with the conservation of our clients' principal. To this end, we are alert to adapt our policies of investment to changing conditions in order to preserve not only dollar value but purchasing power, whenever developments dictate such a course to be prudent.

Having served some of our original clients more than thirteen years, 1924-1937, all around the business cycle from recovery through depression and back to recovery again, we are experienced in defensive tactics which are as essential at some times as an aggressive position is prudent at others.

We invite inquiries from conservative investors with funds of $100,000 or more.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 8.—A heavy wave of selling during the final hour of trading today forced leading steel, rail, and motor stocks to retreat from earlier peaks and most issues closed lower. A break of over 3 points in Chrysler weakened the entire motor group, while steels followed the lead of United States Steel, which slumped 4 points. In contrast to the leaders coppers and oils showed strength, while rubbers and utilities were firm.

In the opinion of observers the late selling drive was set off by the news of a breakdown in the labor negotiations in Chrysler plants and a fresh outbreak in General Motors.

Big Blocks Change Hands.

Opening in large blocks, rails and steels dominated trading, but steady pounding soon put the steels under pressure, while the rails offered resistance and either held unchanged or limited losses to fractions.

New York Central again was the volume leader, with one sale of 30,000 shares, largest opening block for some time. Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, and Union Pacific were among the carriers to reach new highs for the year, but only Missouri Pacific was able to retain its gain.

Farm equipment shares were mixed, with Case and Deere showing losses of 3 and ¼, respectively, while International Harvester rose a fraction and Oliver Farm Equipment 1⅝.

Strong performances among specialties included a 3 point gain in Owens Illinois Glass and 2½ points in Peoples Drug.

New York Bonds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 8.—All issues of United States government securities fell sharply in trading on the New York exchange today. The net declines amounted to 1-32 to 12-32 point and most issues reached the lowest prices for the current year. The volume of trading increased with the decline, amounting to $1,442,600 of government securities, against $871,100 on last Friday.

The fall in government security prices found no ready explanation in bond market circles. It did not seem directly traceable to the announcement of the treasury's March 15 refunding terms, for these were entirely in accordance with the prevailing expectations. Nor was the movement part of a general reaction in bonds. The list of domestic corporation issues was no worse than irregular and displayed numerous strong spots.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks closed lower yesterday in fairly active trade of 89,000 shares. Chicago Yellow Cab declined 1 point to 23½, W. H. Barber dropped the same amount, Borg-Warner 1½, John R. Thompson stock 1 point, and Zenith Radio 1¼. Chicago Corporation common led trading at 11,250 shares, but closed unchanged at 6⅝. Utah Radio dipped ⅛ in active trading.

Bank Stocks.

Several leading Chicago bank stocks declined moderately yesterday. Continental Illinois dipped $2.50 a share to $171 bid, $173 asked. First National sagged $2 at $382 bid, and $1 at $387 asked. National Builders was $3 lower in bids at $112 and off $5 in the asked price of $120.

Commodities

Grain.

Dust storms in Kansas and Nebraska yesterday and uneasiness over the European political situation more than offset the effect of lower wheat prices in Liverpool, and American grain markets advanced rather sharply after an early decline.

Bearish sentiment predominated early in wheat futures due to a decline of nearly two cents a bushel in Liverpool, but the selling movement was short lived. Short covering caused a rally and wheat finished with gains of as much as 1⅝ cents a bushel. The new crop July and September deliveries showed the most strength.

Closing corn prices were more than a half cent higher. Oats were little changed and rye was as much as 1¼ cent a bushel above Saturday's finish.

Winnipeg wheat futures were as much as a cent a bushel higher at the close despite reports indicating a light European demand.

Live Stock.

Sheep and lambs rose sharply yesterday with top wooled stock reaching $12.25, the highest since June, 1936, and the peak for March since 1929. Old ewes at $7.00 were the highest since January, 1930.

Wholesale lamb meat sold from $1.00 to $2.00 per hundred pounds higher than the previous Monday. Supplies were insufficient to satisfy demand. Wholesale quotations for lamb legs, loins, saddles, and hotel racks were increased to $20.00 to $22.00 per hundred pounds, compared with $18.00 to $20.00 early last week.

Gains of 50 cents to $1.00 per hundred pounds were quoted in fresh pork loins, and other cuts moved up about 50 cents. Beef was steady to strong.

Hog receipts yesterday were among the smallest for a Monday since last summer, and both the tope and average prices moved up 10 cents to $10.50 and $10.30, respectively.

Cotton.

Cotton fluctuated erratically yesterday, breaking early on general selling induced by weakness in Liverpool, only to rally later on buying attributed to Wall street houses. It weakened again toward the last in sympathy with stocks. Closing trades on futures in Chicago were at net losses of .14 to .29 cents. Other American markets declined .14 to .20 cents a pound.

Spot cotton closed .10 to .20 cents lower with New Orleans 13.75 cents; New York, 14.05 cents; Houston, 13.65 cents and Galveston at 13.60 cents per pound. Prices follow:

Butter, Eggs.

Butter futures advanced ⅝ to ½c a pound on the Mercantile exchange yesterday. Buying was encouraged by firmness in the spot market and reports of decreased production. Butter for delivery in November sold at 31c a pound, a new high for the season. Sales of futures totaled 99 cars.

Trade in egg futures was somewhat larger at 57 cars with futures advancing ⅜ cents. October closed at 25⅝c a dozen. Potatoes were 1 to 2c higher. Sales were 12 cars.

Sugar.

NEW YORK, March 8.—(AP)—Raw sugar was unchanged today at 3.60c per pound for spot, no sales were reported. Futures moved somewhat irregular, with No. 4 contract, where most of the activity developed, holding steady on further commission house and European buying promoted by firmness in London.

March No. 3 sold up to 2.72, or 7 points net higher on covering but eased and closed at 1 point net advance while later deliveries closed 1 to 4 net lower. In the No. 4 prices advanced 2 to 3½ points early but eased partially and closed ½ to 2 higher. Sales, 25,500 tons.

STEAGALL RAPS PLANS TO CURB FOREIGN FUNDS

Asserts That Inflation Fears Are Unfounded.

Washington, D. C., March 8.—[Special.]—While administration officials today gave up hope of preventing investment of foreign funds in American securities by some system of taxation, Henry D. Steagall [Dem., Ala.], chairman of the house banking committee, urged that nothing be done to restrict the influx of foreign capital.

Rep. Steagall.

Steagall derided fears that foreigners' investing in American securities would result in inflation.

"Let them invest some more," he said. "I welcome anybody in the world who wants to engage in business activity in the United States.

Doesn't Fear Inflation.

"I don't see any danger of inflation. I am worrying about getting the ship up in the air, not about getting it down. As long as we have such large numbers of farmers and city dwellers who are unable to save their homes without government aid, and millions of unemployed, I'm not worrying about inflation.

"Undoubtedly there has been great improvement in business, but conditions are not yet satisfactory.

"I am in favor of continuing every liberal policy that will tend to change these conditions. I think that things will be improved, but I don't want anything done to arrest the trend. There is no doubt that the liberal monetary policies of the government had a big hand in bringing about improvement."

Officials Are in Quandary.

Government fiscal officials admitted most schemes for taxing foreign investments would be difficult to administer and also might precipitate a sudden withdrawal of foreign funds.

Capital inflows tend to raise prices and expand credit artificially, and a large scale withdrawal might dry up credit and hammer prices sharply downward.

Investors in this country pay income and capital gains taxes. Foreigners may purchase securities and profit from American recovery by paying only a 10 per cent levy against their collections of dividends and interest.

COMMISSION MEN INCREASE RATES ON LIVE STOCK

Live stock commission men yesterday announced an increase of approximately 8 per cent in rates they charge farmers for handling shipments of stock to the Chicago market. The new rates will go into effect April 1. Permission to boost commission charges was granted by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

The boost climaxes a struggle waged by commission men for higher rates since Secretary Wallace ordered a 20 per cent cut in commissions in 1934. The live stock handlers took the issue of the cut to court, but the government was upheld in both the lower and the Supreme courts. The government decided after an investigation early this year, however, that a boost was necessary to enable dealers to remain in business.

BOEING AIRPLANE PLANS 5 MILLION NEW STOCK ISSUE

New York, March 8.—[Special.]—The Boeing Airplane company is reported today to be considering raising about $5,000,000 for expansion and working capital purposes through the sale of common stock to present shareholders. The financing is expected soon.

It is believed the company may offer about 173,000 shares to present holders at $35 on the basis of one share of new stock for each three held.

Boeing only a couple of weeks ago received an order from Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., for six giant four-motored transport planes. In addition the company has received many other large orders from various other sources.

Housewives' 1936 Food Bill Above Ten Billions

New York, March 8.—(AP)—The nation's housewives had a food and grocery bill of more than $10,000,000,000 in 1936, or 7.5 per cent over 1935, the annual survey of Progressive Grocer disclosed today. Total retail food and grocery sales were about equal to the 1931 level, but were 16 per cent under the record high of 1929.

Open End Mortgages.

The term "open end mortgage" sometimes occurs in describing the security back of a bond issue.

Under an open end mortgage the company setting up a mortgage to provide security for a bond issue reserves the right under its terms to issue additional bonds upon the posting of additional security. In other words, instead of setting up a mortgage which is fixed as to the amount of bonds that may be issued under it, the company sets up a mortgage which is open as to the amount of bonds that may be put out to provide funds to pay for capital improvements, such as factory buildings, power plants, and the like.

Usually under the terms of such a mortgage the company limits itself to the issuance of new bonds up to 75 per cent of the cost of the capital improvement securing them. This limitation, of course, may vary and sometimes the company imposes no limitation on itself.

The advantage to the company of an "open end mortgage" is that it enables it to issue bonds to provide for the cost of new capital improvements under the terms of a mortgage already in existence. This eliminates the bother and expense of setting up a new mortgage. Such a mortgage is said to be especially helpful to a company that is expanding rapidly—one that must constantly set up new facilities to meet production demands.

In the past there have been abuses of the "open end mortgage," with some companies issuing bonds against improvements in excess of their actual cost. The securities and exchange act, in compelling a company to give a full description of its securities, however, at least enables the investor to find out what the mortgage limitations and provisions are.

GENERAL MOTORS FEBRUARY SALES FALL SHARPLY

Total Lowest Since 1928; Caused by Strikes.

Sales of automobiles by the General Motors corporation to dealers in the United States and abroad during February totaled 74,567 units, compared with 103,668 in January, and 144,874 in February, 1936, the corporation reported yesterday.

The marked reduction, which brought sales to the lowest total for February since 1928, was the result of the strikes in many of the corporation's plants which seriously crippled production.

Dealer Sales Fall.

Sales to dealers within the United States totaled 49,674 cars, compared with 70,901 in January, and 116,762 in February, 1936. Retail sales in this country amounted to 51,600 cars in February, against 92,998 in January, and 96,134 in February, 1936.

Combined sales to consumers in the United States totaled 144,598 units for the first two months of this year, against 198,168 in the first two months of 1936. Sales to dealers aggregated 178,235, compared with 303,446.

Gain Normal for February.

Since 1928, sales in February have exceeded those of January except in 1932 and 1933 when the depression was at its depth.

For the entire year 1936 sales to dealers in the United States totaled 1,682,594 units, compared with 1,370,934 in 1935, 959,494 in 1934, and 729,201 in 1933.

After the peak in sales reached last December it had been predicted 1937 would see a new sales record for the corporation. Whether the decline resulting from the strike will seriously affect the results for the entire year cannot yet be determined.

ASKS ILLINOISIANS BACK PETTENGILL LONG HAUL BILL

The Illinois Manufacturers' association yesterday urged Illinois' members of congress to support the Pettengill long and short haul bill, which would help midwestern industrialists compete with seaboard concerns favored by low water shipping rates.

Low water transportation rates afforded to Atlantic seaboard interests by the Panama canal have been detrimental to midwestern concerns in competition for far western, southeastern, and southern business, the association asserted. Adjustment of rail rates which would follow passage of the Pettengill bill would remove some of the advantages which go to seaboard firms, it was asserted, as railroads would be enabled to handle transcontinenal freight business on equitable basis.

In urging that congressmen support the measure, James L. Donnelly, vice president of the association, estimated that five thousand industries in the Mississippi valley have been seriously affected by Panama canal competition.

Fox Made Permanent Trustee of Lott Hotels

Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday appointed John J. Fox, architect, as permanent trustee for the Lott Hotels, Inc., owners of the Belden-Stratford, Webster, and Parkway hotels. His appointment was made over objections of attorneys for the corporation, who wanted the company placed in charge pending reorganization.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, March 8.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Easier today under renewed liquidation and commission house selling, aided by the irregularity in cotton and lard. There was some European buying against sales of cotton. Final prices were 4 to 8 points net lower. Sales, 237 contracts. Crude oil was steady at 9¾c in the southeast. Bleachable spot nominal.

THE REASON FOR RISING RENTS

As a result of this disparity in supply and demand for dwelling places, rents are rising—and people are turning their thoughts to real estate ownership.

If you are interested in real estate, follow the offers in the Tribune want ad section—Chicago's largest real estate market.

If it can be sold, a TRIBUNE WANT AD will sell it

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Hog Houses Cleaned

March 8, 1937.

SPRING house cleaning started last week at the Tribune's Yorkville Experimental farm, but all the work was confined to the hog houses, getting them ready for the 68 young sows that are expected to start farrowing their first litters of pigs in about 10 days.

Floors and inside walls of the hog houses are being thoroughly scraped and swept and then scoured with boiling water in which lye has been dissolved at the rate of two tablespoonfuls to each gallon of water. After the floors have dried they are sprinkled with hydrated [slaked] lime before being covered with a thick layer of dry oat straw for bedding.

Ready for 35 Sows.

There are two community farrowing houses on the place, each big enough to care for 10 sows. Fifteen individual houses have been installed, making total accommodations for 35 sows. Other sows will be put in empty stalls in the horse barns.

Of the 68 gilts that are to farrow this spring, 43 are from the 1936 spring pig crop and the other 25 were saved from litters farrowed in the fall of 1935. In addition to the gilts, there are five mature sows yet to farrow. The 14 sows that farrowed last month now have a total of 81 pigs. They have been occupying seven of the new individual farrowing houses for the last few weeks, but will be moved out and the houses cleaned and disinfected in time to be used by the gilts.

Hogs Bring $10 a Cwt.

Forty-five head of hogs from last fall's pig crop at the Yorkville farm recently were sold for $10 a hundred pounds. They weighed 9,400 pounds, or an average of 208.8 pounds. The farm's usual transportation and marketing costs were eliminated in this sale, as the hogs were sold directly to a buyer who loaded them into a truck at the feed lot and paid for them on the basis of their weight at the farm. Most of the hogs produced on this place are sold through the central market.

Nearly half the ewes in the breeding flock at the Yorkville place have dropped their lambs. The latest checkup at the sheep barn shows 25 lambs from 21 ewes, indicating that singles may far outnumber sets of twins in the flock this year.

HOW YOU CAN BORROW.

1. If you can make monthly payments you can qualify for a loan.
2. Loans made on Furniture, Autos or Plain Note.
3. No inquiries made of employer or friends.

HOW YOU CAN REPAY.

1. Payments on all loans are small. For example, payments on a $200 loan are $10 per month plus interest charges on a 20 month schedule.
2. Monthly rate is 2% on the balance above $100, 3% on $100 or less. This is substantially less than the lawful maximum—on loans over $100.

Police Killer Condemned to Die

Despite his plea of guilty, Joseph Schuster, parolee who killed Policeman Arthur Sullivan, was sentenced to die by Judge John J. Lupe. Schuster (right) is being led from the courtroom by Chief Deputy Bailif Ed Scholler and others. The judge was moved by the court drama, but Schuster only said "Thank you."

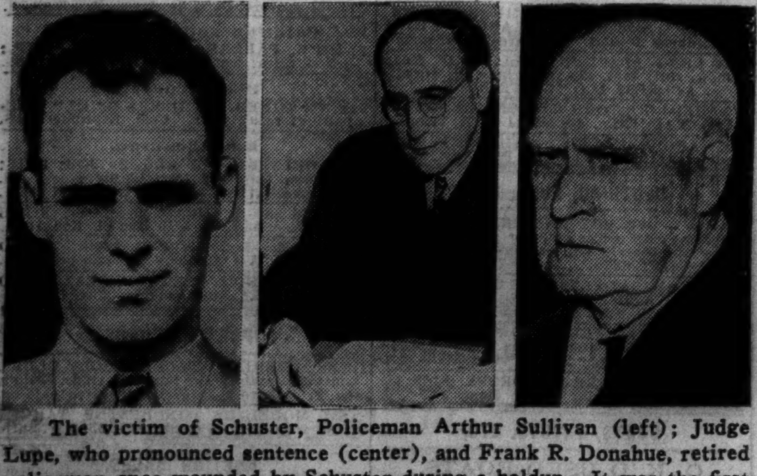
Schuster took the stand and was questioned by Public Defender Benjamin Bachrach before Judge Lupe passed sentence. The killer told his life history and the record of his other brushes with the law. He was questioned about his parole and said he didn't even know his sponsor.

Mrs. Ruth Besserer (left), sister of Schuster, who took the stand in his defense, was in tears after hearing the death penalty pronounced, but Mrs. Sullivan, widow of the victim, sat quietly in her seat. Mrs. Besserer told the court how another sister had accused Schuster of stealing from her home.



The victim of Schuster, Policeman Arthur Sullivan (left); Judge Lupe, who pronounced sentence (center), and Frank R. Donahue, retired policeman once wounded by Schuster during a holdup. It was the first time Judge Lupe ever pronounced the death penalty and he was visibly moved as he said: "There is only one penalty to fit the crime."

NO. 1—THIS IS THE SHIP THAT WAS SUNK OFF COAST OF SPAIN—The Spanish munitions carrier Mar Cantabrico, which was bombarded and sunk yesterday in Bay of Biscay by Spanish insurgent cruiser Canarias. The Mar Cantabrico was carrying war materials from the United States and Mexico. Its crew was saved. (Story on page 4.)

NEW BRIDGE OVER OGDEN SLIP IS LOWERED FOR FIRST TIME—View from Tribune Tower yesterday as 70 foot bascule span over Ogden slip was being lowered. WHEN DEATH GETS A CHEER

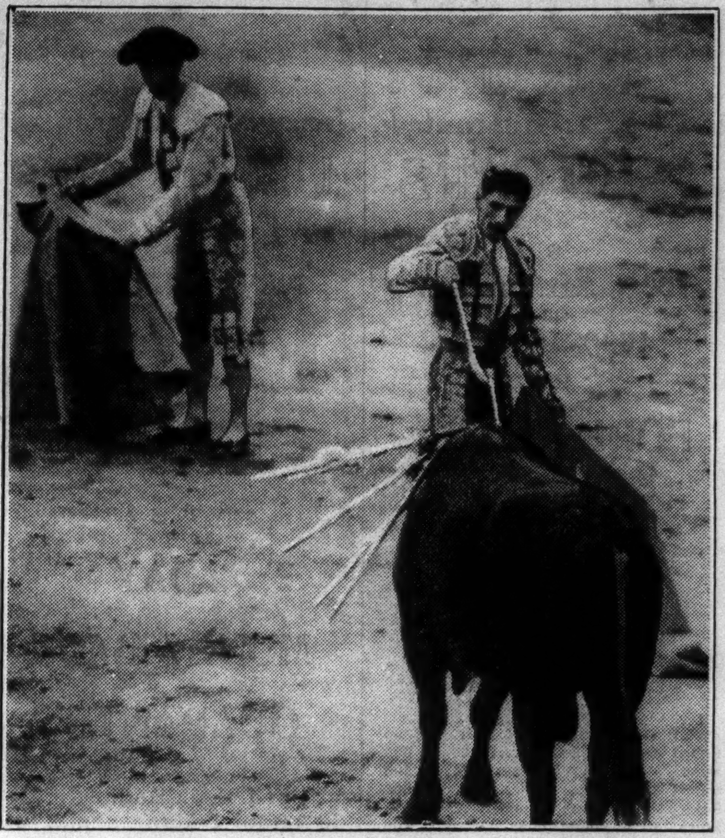
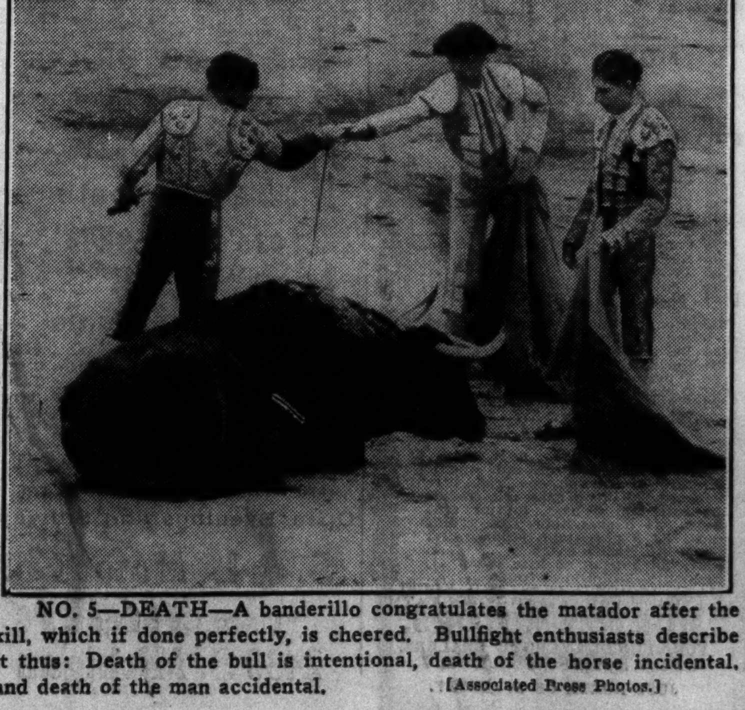
NO. 1—PROLOGUE—Entrance of matadors and entourage at Toreo arena, Mexico City, which is attracting thousands of American tourists who would be unable to view the spectacle in Spain because of the civil war. Thus Mexico's tourist trade benefits.



NO. 2—SECOND ACT—This matador extracts badly placed sword so another may be inserted. The protruding shafts are banderillas, having harpoon shaped steel points. Spain's best bull fighters have gone to Mexican arenas because of the war.

NO. 3—THIRD ACT—The matador plays the bull with muleta or cape after the banderillas have been thrust into withers. Here the matador has a chance to display his skill, grace, and originality. Because of growing interest in the Mexican fights these pictures have a timely value. (Story on page 17.)

NO. 4—THE BULL TIRES—The matador makes a slow graceful pass with the muleta as he artfully eludes bull's rush. The best matadors are those able to come close to the bull in these rushes without being impaled on the horns.



NO. 5—DEATH—A banderillo congratulates the matador after the kill, which if done perfectly, is cheered. Bullfight enthusiasts describe it thus: Death of the bull is intentional, death of the horse incidental, and death of the man accidental. [Associated Press Photos.]
